WITNESS LINKS EARLE, GUFFEY TO PENN GRAFT

Accuses 2 Leaders at Inquiry.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Gov. George H. Earle and Senator Joseph F. Guffey, joint rulers of the so-called "little New Deal" in Pennsylvania, were implicated today in the taking of millions of dollars in graft and political extortion money.

Former Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, who was fired by Earle as the commonwealth's chief law officer last spring when he suggested a grand jury investigation of the charges, made the accusations against the two party chieftains during a hearing before the special legislative committee.

Quotes Governor Himself.

Margiotti swore that he learned from the governor's own lips that the latter was being given a "cut" in the profits on the new four million dollar state finance building. In a talk with Guffey the former attorney general said, the senator admitted personal knowledge of the extortion of $1,300,000 from architects who had participated in the 65 million dollar public works program.

The contract for the state finance building was awarded by the state general authority which the governor heads, to Matthew H. McCloskey, political crony of Earle's. Gov. Earle has admitted that he accepted $26,500 in "loans" from the contractor who later received 10 million dollars' worth of state contracts.

Margiotti related that he learned of Earle's "cut" in the profits at the executive mansion early this year on the evening after the contract was awarded. It was during a chummy three-handed game of hearts among the then attorney general, the governor, and the political contractor that the story came out, said Margiotti.

McCloskey Is Congratulated.

"I congratulated McCloskey on obtaining the contract," said Margiotti, "and said I expected he would make a lot of money. He said no, that he had cut his bid 'way down.

"Then McCloskey said he had made an arrangement with Gov. Earle whereby he [McCloskey] would take all the profits up to $75,000 and the balance would go to George [the governor].

"The governor then turned to me and said, 'Charley, don't you think that's damn nice of Matt?' I just looked at him."

Cohen Questions Margiotti.

Chairman Herbert Cohen of the committee composed of five Democratic and two Republican house members took up the questioning of Margiotti and displayed a surprising knowledge of the conversation that had taken place between the three men.

"Did McCloskey offer to sell you the profits for $100,000?" he inquired.

"There was some talk along that line, I recall now that you've refreshed my memory," was the reply. "But I wasn't interested."

Discussing earlier the blackmailing of architects, Margiotti said that his information was that David L. Lawrence, Democratic state chairman; McCloskey, and others had extorted a third of their commissions, or 2 per cent of the cost of the projects to be constructed. Since the program amounted to 65 million dollars, the architects' fees totaled approximately $3,900,000 and the tribute paid to the Democratic leaders was in the neighborhood of $1,300,000.

Architects' Fees Discussed.

During the campaign last spring, when Margiotti was an independent candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, he said he had met Senator Guffey on April 28 at a hotel in Erie. The subject of the architects' fees came up.

"Senator Guffey said to me, 'Charley, you're absolutely right about those kickback charges, but there was one mistake—it isn't 2 per cent, it's 1 per cent.'"

Senator Guffey, who arrived from Washington tonight, conferred with State Democratic Chairman Lawrence. The senator branded Margiotti as a "liar" and questioned his sanity. "Charles J. Margiotti is an unmitigated liar," read the Guffey statement. "The truth isn't in him. After reading his testimony it is my conviction that what the house investigating committee needs is an alienist to sit in on its hearings."

New York	44
Connecticut	38
New Hampshire	13
New Jersey	3
Vermont	2
Quebec	2
Total	460

New York, Sept. 22.—[Special.]—A sudden increase in reports of deaths in Rhode Island tonight shot the death toll of yesterday's hurricane and tidal wave near the 500 mark. Other hundreds of persons were unaccounted for along the devastated north Atlantic seaboard.

Disaster was piled on disaster as new floods, disease, and food shortage threatened many of the stricken communities. New England areas, still paralyzed from the worst storm in their history, fearfully watched the rise of rampaging streams.

The increase in Rhode Island deaths came with the first reports from areas that had been isolated since the storm. They increased the state's toll to 250 dead.

Police Call for Aid.

Fragmentary messages filtered in by radio from Rhode Island state police and coast guards seeking aid for towns cut off from the outer world for more than 24 hours.

"Eighteen bodies recovered and only scraping the surface," said one message from Island Park, near Portsmouth, R. I. Island Park is on a narrow neck of land between the Sekonnet river and Narragansett bay.

"Shore points in the Watch Hill area wiped out," said another report from Rhode Island state police to coast guard headquarters at Boston.

Sixty-one persons were reported to have died in Providence, R. I., the state capital. The city was said to be flooded, in darkness, and still cut off from the outer world except by radio. Typhus serum was sent to Providence as a precautionary measure. Fifty bodies were recovered in a small community close to Westerly, R. I., Edward J. Kelly, superintendent of state police, reported to Gov. Robert E. Quinn.

Many Towns Silent.

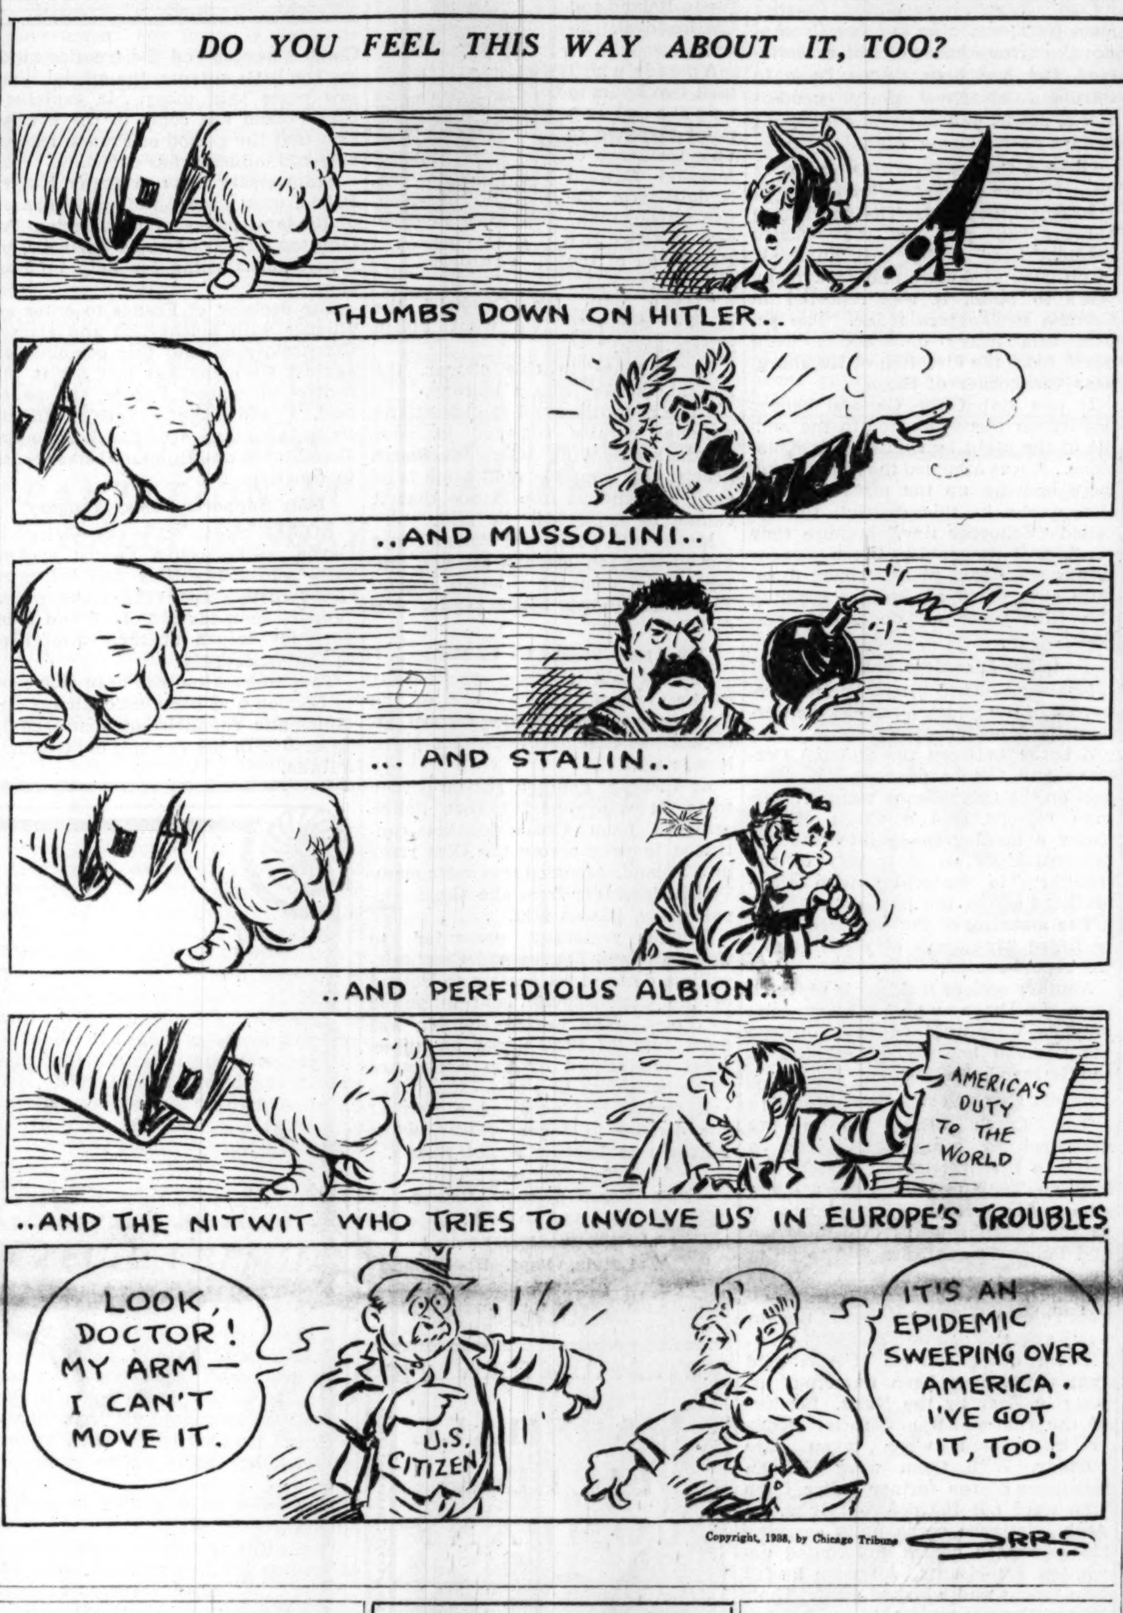
7-Point Peace Plan Put Up to Hitler



Copyright, 1938, by Chicago Tribune

NAZI TROOPS MAY MARCH INTO SUDETEN AREA TODAY

Violence Grows

While Hitler and Chamberlain were locked in conference and Czechoslovakia placed a general friendly to Russia at the helm of its government, violence beset much of Europe.

1. Nazis reported Czech troops fired on Sudeten German celebrators, killing 16 men and women, and that soviet Russian planes reached Czechoslovakia.

2. Thousands of Britons rioted in London, crying "Stop Hitler!" and "Chamberlain must go!" Britain prepared to evacuate its citizens from Prague.

3. One hundred and fifty thousand Poles demonstrated in streets of Warsaw, demanding slice of Czechoslovakia. Polish press declared alliance with France is scrapped.

4. Nazi home rule campaign in Alsace provoked vigorous opposition among majority of Alsatians.

5. French premier averted cabinet crisis.

Chamberlain Talks Over Berlin Coup with Fuehrer.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GODESBERG, Germany, Sept. 22.—A rumor prevailed here tonight that when Czech troops have withdrawn to a line nine miles from the German border German troops will march into Sudetenland. The Czech withdrawal is expected to be completed by tomorrow noon.

Nazi officials denied the rumor. They said: "It would be unwise if the Fuehrer gave orders to march now and before all avenues toward a peaceful agreement with England have been thoroughly explored. The Fuehrer has never been unwise."

Fix New Frontier.

Nazis admitted Hitler has insisted that the committee which will fix Germany's new eastern frontier must complete its work within a week. Thus there is no doubt that German troops will be ready to act against Czechoslovakia if no agreement is reached.

Rumors of an imminent invasion arose after Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain had conferred with Hitler for more than three hours at the Dreesen hotel.

Reliable sources disclosed that Hitler and Chamberlain discussed seven important points:

FIRST—Evacuation of Sudetenland by the Czechs and its occupation by the Sudeten German Legion [volunteer troops] and local Nazi party forces and the extent of this area.

SECOND—The means of exchanging Germans in purely Czech territory with Czechs in Sudetenland. Hitler wants the Czechs removed from his newly won territory just like he compelled German Jews to leave their homeland.

General Demobilization Urged.

THIRD—The nature and makeup of the international commission which is to determine the new frontier between Germany and the rump state of Czechoslovakia as well as concessions which Germany insists must be made to her Polish and Hungarian friends.

FOURTH — General demobilization of troops on the European continent to a normal level.

FIFTH—Guarantees for the territorial integrity of Czechoslovakia. Nazis said that some slight guarantees might be made to "pacify British public opinion, but Hitler naturally will place emphasis on his right to direct or influence actions in Prague." Other Nazis put it much more bluntly. They said Hitler refuses to make guarantees of any kind.

Discuss New Peace Plan.

SIXTH—A new western Europe agreement which will contain clauses about nonaggression and limitation of armaments. The British maintain that the terms of this peace instrument must be very generous in order to make it easier to defend Chamberlain's peace plan before the British public.

SEVENTH—A general appeal for peaceful coöperation among nations which might lead to the creation of a suitable substitute for the dying league of nations.

After the conference broke up it was announced that Hitler and Chamberlain will resume their discussion tomorrow.

Chamberlain issued an appeal "to all parties concerned to insure that the local conditions in Czechoslovakia are such as not in any way to interfere with the progress of the conversations."

A Diplomatic Warning.

The British regarded this sentence as a diplomatic warning to the Germans, the Poles, and the Hungarians not to rush their troops into Czechoslovakia if they are interested in a comparatively bloodless solution of the crises.

Chamberlain in his appeal for restraint failed to add the traditional generalities about "the friendliness of the conversations" which Chamberlain had with Hitler. This alarmed leaders in Hitler's camp. Nevertheless the Germans voiced the conviction that everything would be settled to suit Germany's wishes.

Czechs Ruled by Army After Cabinet Quits

PRAGUE, Sept. 23.—[Friday.]—(AP)—Gen. Jan Syrovy, broad-shouldered inspector general of the Czechoslovakian army, was in command of the Czechoslovak government today. He formed a new cabinet yesterday to cope with the republic's rising indignation over surrender of its Sudeten area to Germany.

Gen. Jan Syrovy.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

The veteran campaigner, who is 50 years old and considered friendly toward soviet Russia, succeeded Premier Milan Hodza. The Hodza cabinet quit yesterday in the face of resentment against the government's surrender, under Anglo-French pressure, to the demands of Adolf Hitler.

Gen. Syrovy, emerging as the republic's strong man in the hour of its greatest crisis, took over the war ministry portfolio in addition to the premiership.

The only holdover from the Hodza cabinet is Foreign Minister Kamil Krofta, who shared with President Edward Benes and Hodza the decision to cede Sudetenland to Germany.

Army to Have More Influence.

That military influence had reached a new high in the new government was seen in the fact that two generals took places around the government council table. Heretofore the army had never received more than one place. President Benes early today called on his army to protect the Czechoslovak people against "unfriendly elements."

"In this day our nation is experiencing a deep sorrow," the president's message told the soldiers. "Unfriendly elements are trying to use this sorrow to arouse a spirit of enmity toward the government, but you must remember that in this difficult time the uneasy people look to the army for security—the army for which every one gave material sacrifices."

In Gen. Syrovy the Czechs have a leader who is a veteran of the world war. He lost an eye while fighting in the Czech legion with the Russian armies against Germany. It was during this service that his warm friendship with the Russians developed.

Before his cabinet was announced, it was said outside government offices that selection of Gen. Syrovy would be offensive to Germany because of his service with the allies.

[In Berlin the newspaper Tageblatt said of Gen. Syrovy's premiership: "This new episode will be a short lived one." It added: "He is a special friend of soviet Russia, where he received his training. The Czech people no longer are led and ruled by the Czechs, but by Stalin's delegates."]

2 Killed, 4 Shot as Police Fight Bookie Bandits

Before nearly 100 terrified patrons of a makeshift handbook on the north side three bandits coolly shot and killed one of the handbook owners at dusk last evening. A moment later the three gunmen were trapped by police. One surrendered meekly. But the two others came out fighting, and when the firing stopped two persons lay dead and four others were wounded.

The dead:

The wounded:

Half Block from Police Station.

The scene of the deadly gun battle was an old garage in the rear of 3633 North Halsted street. The Town Hall police station is only half a block away. The three bandits raided the place shortly before 6 p. m. The betters, many of them women, were waiting for the results of the final races.

The two ex-convict bandits, Gilfoy and Lane, swaggered boldly into the place, followed by a third man. He was William Wright, formerly of 6125 Kenwood avenue. Only a week ago he was seized as a robbery suspect, but freed on a writ. Wright was stationed at the only door of the handbook to prevent any one from escaping. Some one did, however.

"Hands up, everybody," shouted Lane as he and Gilfoy forced their way forward. At first nobody seemed excited. Most of the players looked upon the visitors as raiders from the state's attorney's office. Bazula, in the cashier's cage, even remarked: "Looks like the state's attorney's boys have found us." But he and the others soon realized the men with guns were

Cape May, N. J., Sept. 22. — [Special.]—O. W. Phelps, radio man, second class, U. S. N., had never flown a plane. Today he found himself stranded 7,000 feet aloft when his pilot, Lieut. T. G. Ashcroft, was thrown from their craft by a sudden lurch during dummy bombing practice.

Ashcraft floated safely to earth in his parachute. Phelps called for radio orders from the ground below. His instructions were brief: "Bring your ship in!"

Phelps gritted his teeth. He carefully nosed the plane downward. He hesitated as the field at first seemed too small. Finally he steeled himself and landed with a bump, a skid, and a buckling of the landing gear. Then he collapsed. He was unhurt and the plane was not severely damaged.

THIEVES LEARN GOLDEN ADAGE IS STILL TRUE

Some one must have taken literally the display that H. C. Rhyan placed in his Waukegan theater, he complained to police yesterday.

To advertise a coming picture he had put several canvas money bags and a large jar of "gold nuggets" in the lobby.

Thieves who broke into the theater and stole the display will know by now that the bags contained sand and the nuggets were gilded stones.

It's Cooler, So Townsmen May Move Back Their Hogs

Mount Carmel, Ill., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Police informed Mount Carmel citizens today they might bring their hogs back to town on Nov. 1 for the winter. Hogs were banished last spring when hot weather caused neighbors to complain.

Population of U. S. Placed at 129,818,000 on Jan. 1

Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—(AP)—The census bureau estimates that the population of the continental United States last Jan. 1 was 129,818,000. This is an increase of 941,000 over the Jan. 1, 1937, estimate.

Woman Pistol Expert Proves It to 3 Bandits

Lawrenceville, Ill., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Three bandits attempted to hold up the tavern Showboat at nearby Westport today, unaware that the woman proprietor was a revolver expert. A short time later they were sitting in jail cells, bemoaning their mistake.

The three men entered the tavern holding their hands in their coat pockets as if they held guns.

Woman Draws Revolver.

At the same time she whipped out a revolver of her own. The startled bandits looked down the barrel and quickly raised their hands. They kept them up until a kitchen boy telephoned police at Vincennes, Ind., and officers arrived from across the Wabash river.

A fourth bandit, who had stayed in an automobile, apparently learned that the tables had been turned against his companions. He fled before police arrived.

Guns Prove to Be Wrenches.

The captured bandits gave their names as Eugene Pinkstaff, 29 years old, Patrick De Motte, 39, and Ralph Eley, 22, all of Hammond, Ind.

Mrs. Kendall said she had suspected the men, who had been in the tavern earlier, and had kept her revolver ready. After their arrest it was found that the bandits had been clutching wrenches instead of guns in their coat pockets.

They Like Dial Phones; Average 20 Calls Each

Steward, Ill., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—The seventy-five local subscribers of the De Kalb Ogle Telephone company like the dial type telephones just installed. I. S. Claxton, manager of the Rochelle office of the company, reported today that during the first 24 hours the new instruments were in use 1,500 calls, an average of 20 for each telephone, were made.

Hitler and Chamberlain were closeted together with only one interpreter present from 4 p. m. until 6:20 p. m. From that time until 7:15 p. m. they continued their conversations in the presence of their lieutenants.

Among the officials attending the conference were Von Ribbentrop, Sir Nevile Henderson, British ambassador to Berlin, and Dr. Herbert Von Dircksen, German ambassador to London.

This conference was the second the British prime minister and the German Fuehrer had within a week. Last Thursday Chamberlain flew to Bavaria, where he conversed with Hitler in his castle at Berchtesgaden. Today he flew from London to Cologne, motored to Koenigswinter, across the Rhine from Godesberg, and then ferried across the river to hear what Hitler had to say about the cession of the Sudeten area of Czechoslovakia to Germany.

Extends Nazi Salute.

At Cologne Chamberlain extended the Nazi salute as he reviewed a company of black helmeted Death's Head Hitler guards. The guards presented arms in honor of the British visitor.

Chamberlain then entered an automobile. Von Ribbentrop sat at his side. Henderson, the British ambassador, and Ernst von Weizsaecker, German secretary of state in the foreign office, sat in another car. They were followed by six cars carrying Sir Horace Wilson, personal adviser to Chamberlain, William Strang, chief of the central European department of the British foreign office, and other members of the British party.

The party speeded up the new motor road along the Rhine where workers were still putting up flagpoles and flags half an hour before the British arrived. Chamberlain and his aids were driven to Bonn over the Rhine into the Seven Mountains to the Petersberg hotel, where they were welcomed by Dr. O. L. E. Meissner, Hitler's secretary of the chancellor's office. He is a duel scarred, bespectacled man who has welcomed foreign statesmen in the name of the German chief of state for the last 19 years.

Hitler Shows Signs of Strain.

Hitler had arrived in Godesberg a few hours earlier. He was welcomed with shouts of enthusiasm by Hitler Youth girls and Nazi party members. For the first time in months he showed signs of strain. His shoulders twitched nervously as he quickly reviewed detachments of the air force and his private bodyguard.

After Hitler's arrival the road leading to his hotel was closed. It was patroled by Hitler Guards. Authorities withdrew all passes to enter his hotel. Police airplanes circled overhead while 25 patrol boats plied the Rhine.

16 Die in Czech Riot: Berlin; Sudetens Haul Down Nazi Flag

Reports on happenings in Sudetenland are conflicting. The official German News agency reports bloodshed when Czech troops fired on celebrators. The Tribune's correspondent has a different story. They both are given here:

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

EGER, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 22.—The Sudeten Germans' improvised emergency government in this city and district tonight literally hauled down its flag when Czech police informed them that this still is Czechoslovak territory.

Immediately the committee of five Sudeten Germans which for twenty-four hours had been playing at being bosses in Eger became humble. They even had gone so far as to change the name of the postoffice from the Czech "Cheb" to the German "Eger."

The Nazis issued a proclamation to the population, their second of the day, using the change of government in Prague as the excuse for giving up temporary rule.

Get Notice from Prague.

They said they had received notice from the government in Prague that the Czechoslovak government still is the master and means to maintain control of every inch of its territory until an official surrender is made. "Therefore," said the proclamation, "avoid bloodshed."

The committee said it had decided not to contest the Czechoslovak control and asked Germans to put out of sight all flags and other emblems of Nazi Germany—meaning largely pictures of Reichsfuehrer Hitler which had been displayed prominently in windows.

Only one swastika flag of many which had been flying during the day remained, and that, curiously enough, was over the police station. It appeared that no one in the local police force could figure out how to get at that flag and haul it down.

Admits Fear of Czechs.

The initiative toward ending the short local revolution in Eger was taken by Josef Reif, young mayor of Eger, who said: "I am convinced the Czechoslovaks will make a move to resume full control of law and order at any time."

Last night the Sudeten Germans "persuaded" the local Czechoslovak police to share control of the city with them. When the new orders from Prague arrived, however, the Czechs intimated they were going to resume full control or there would be a bloody battle.

During the afternoon the Nazi Sudeten Legion, now fully organized on the other side of the border in Germany, sent word into Eger that it intended to come into the town. The military commander of this district replied to their representatives that if they tried it his soldiers would shoot.

Quit Barracks Without Leave.

During Wednesday night the Sudeten Germans, who still are conscripts in the Czechoslovak army, wearing Czechoslovak uniforms, absented themselves without leave from their barracks near Eger.

They told THE TRIBUNE correspondent that if anything happened they wanted to be on the right side of the border. Tonight it was reported in Eger that Czechoslovak soldiers on guard at posts between Eger and Asch have been requested by the Sudeten Germans to surrender their weapons "and withdraw into the interior of Czechoslovakia."

Many persons wondered whether, despite agreements between the governments, some Czechoslovak units may not resist the advance of the Germans into Czechoslovakia when it does take place.

Near the village of Gassmitz in this region, Czechoslovak soldiers today blew up a railway bridge saying it was a defense measure.

BERLIN, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Official German News Agency dispatches tonight reported Czechoslovakian troops had fired on celebrating Sudeten Germans of the Eger frontier district, killing sixteen men and women. The outbreak occurred when troops, acting on orders from Prague, reoccupied areas previously evacuated after the government agreed to cede them to Germany, it was said.

The official agency, DNB, said troops reappeared at 4 p. m. The streets of Eger then were crowded with joyous citizens who had beflagged their towns after police withdrew, laying down their arms.

[An official source in Prague admitted there were clashes in Eger, but said there were no casualties. It also said members of the Sudeten "Free Corps" crossed the frontier from Germany, attacked the Czechoslovak customs house and other buildings, but had been driven back to Germany by Czechoslovak gendarmerie, police, and customs employés.]

Report Czechs Wreck Defenses.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 22.—The Czechs are blowing up part of the "Czech Maginot line" which cost hundreds of millions of dollars and took many years to build, it was reported in German newspapers today. The papers said heavy detonations were heard from the direction of Rumburg, near the border of Saxony.

It was stated the German border population was awakened in the middle of the night by tremendous explosions. It was assumed that the Czechs were blowing up the main fortification works in this district, the so-called "Schoeber line," because they consider it untenable. Czech pioneer troops were said to have fixed dynamite charges to all bridges crossing the Elbe river at Bodenbach and Aussig.

Other Disorders Reported.

Meantime other disorders were reported in the Sudeten area as the Germans took over control.

A battle between the Sudeten Germans and Czechs developed at Weipert on the Czech-Saxon frontier. German reports said a Czech official threw a hand grenade into Sudeten demonstrators on their way to the frontier "to fraternize with their brothers across the border."

The moaning of the wounded could be heard "hundreds of yards away," the report stated.

Another serious incident is reported from La-Thaya where Czech communists were said to have crossed the German border and set fire to the German customs house.

Report Czech Forces Breaking Up.

The Czech armed forces are described by some newspapers as being in the process of complete dissolution. The Sudeten German soldiers who so far have not deserted, as well as the Czech soldiers of Hungarian and Polish descent, are said to be in open mutiny. Other papers report the landing today of 39 soviet bombers on Czech air fields. They landed at the airports at Pardubice and Bohdaney.

From other sources it was said that there have been numerous arrests in Eger by the Nazis. Leaders of the communist and social Democratic leaders were taken into custody. With them were German members of the former police force who were not 100 per cent Nazi. In Asch, vigilance corps units carrying rifles invaded homes and routed unwanted inhabitants. All were loaded into trucks and whisked away. Their destinations presumably were concentration camps.

150,000 POLES DEMAND SEIZURE OF CZECH AREAS

Shouting Paraders Jam Warsaw Streets.

WARSAW, Poland, Sept. 22.—(AP)—In one of the greatest street demonstrations ever witnessed in Warsaw, more than 150,000 Poles tonight demanded immediate abolition of the boundary between Poland and Czechoslovak Silesia.

Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz.

A parade which took two hours to pass a given point marched to the residence of Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz, Polish "strong man" and inspector general of the army.

"Down with the Czechs!" the throng shouted, "we want Polish Silesia back!"

In response to this clamor, the marshal spoke from a balcony.

"The patriotism and sentiment and national dignity reflected in your words are moving today all Polish hearts, and complete realization is of such tremendous importance that it cannot be neglected," he said.

150 Army Trucks Go to Border.

Reports said 150 army trucks went to the town of Teschen. Poles on the Czechoslovak side of the district attacked two Czechoslovak police posts, it was said.

At Cieszyn, another Polish border town, it was reported that Polish refugees from Czechoslovakia continued to pour across the Olsa river into Poland. Among them were many Polish deserters from the Czechoslovak army, it was said.

Poland yesterday presented to Great Britain, France and Czechoslovakia a demand for cession to Poland of the Czechoslovak land inhabited by Poles. The present border was fixed July 28, 1920, under an agreement engineered by the conference of ambassadors in Paris. Czechoslovak troops had occupied a part of the district in January, 1919, while Poland was fighting soviet Russia.

Poles Scrap French Alliance.
BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Sept. 22.—Poland's alliance with France has been tossed into the waste paper basket along with the French-Czech and Russian-Czech alliances and the treaties binding the little entente, the official Warsaw press said today. It explained that Poland has come to the conclusion that the period of French leadership and influence has ended.

France, said the newspaper Kurjer Polski, must accept the consequences of its fatal policy of considering Poland too weak as an ally against Germany, and turning for help to Moscow.

The decision of France to enter an alliance with bolshevism and attract Czechoslovakia into this combination against Germany has lost for it the control of central Europe, the paper said. It added that France's little entente [an alliance of Czechoslovakia, Jugo-Slavia, and Rumania] has ceased to function.

Italy Supports Poles, Hungary.

ROME, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Virginio Gayda, authoritative Fascist spokesman, said today Italy had informed Great Britain and France she would support demands of Poland and Hungary for return of their minorities in Czechoslovakia.

This information has been conveyed to London and Paris through regular diplomatic channels, he disclosed in an article in his newspaper, Giornale d'Italia.

FOREIGN VOLUNTEERS TO LEAVE LOYALIST SPANISH ARMY BY '39

BARCELONA, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The American and other foreign volunteers of the Spanish government army are expected to be out of the trenches and on their way home by the first of the new year.

It was estimated today that evacuation of all foreigners, in compliance with Premier Juan Negrin's announcement yesterday that they would be withdrawn, could be completed within three months.

The international brigades were made up of Americans, French, British, anti-Nazi Germans, Jugo-Slavs, and a scattering of anti-Fascist Italians. An estimated 500 to 1,000 Americans are still left in Spain.

There are about 200 to 400 in the front lines, perhaps 100 in hospitals, and about 100 scattered in various units in the Valencia zone. The rest are in transport and administrative posts.

CZECHS GET RULE BY ARMY; CABINET IS FORCED TO QUIT

Gen. Syrovy New "Strong Man" in Prague.

Vavrecka, who has been in charge of the government propaganda department; Peter Zenkl, mayor of Prague, and Dr. Stanislaus Rukakvsky, all ministers without portfolio; Jan Fritz, unification of laws; Stanislaus Mendl, public health; Dr. Emile Reich, agriculture; Joseph Horal, social welfare; Dr. Jan Czerny, former governor of Moravia, interior; Joseph Kalfus, finance; Egbert Shubert, education; Vladimir Fajnor, justice; Gen. Franz Nosal, public works; Heindrich Kamenicky, railways; Dr. Karel Dynovsky, posts; Rudolf Janackek, commerce.

In an address before the new cabinet was anncunced President Benes hinted that new negotiations on a broad scale might give a new aspect to the gloomy prospect presented by clamoring on all sides for separation of the nation's other minorities, as well as the Sudeten Germans.

"Wait patiently," he said. "Our people have always been sensible and realistic.

"Our people understand that sometimes it is necessary to negotiate and sometimes to fight. If we must fight we shall do so to the last breath of life. But if the situation requires it we shall negotiate."

Pleads for Confidence.

Speaking with great emotion, the president pleaded with his people to have confidence and promised that the nation would not depart from its traditional policies of democracy and independence.

"Do not fear for the security of the nation," he said. "Its roots are deep; our loyal Czech people shall not be destroyed. It shall survive all difficulties. In the whole of Europe changes are taking place, not only in your country.

"These changes have different forms in different countries. We must therefore face changes with calm and unity."

Of the government's capitulation to the plan of the British and French governments to hand over Sudetenland to Germany, Benes declared:

"The government has had to act in accordance with present circumstances. I have never feared, and I do not fear for the future of our nation. I have made my plans and cannot be surprised by events. I am ready for any understanding that will be favorable for my country, for the pacification of Europe, and for collaboration with Great Britain, France, and Germany."

Demonstrate in Streets.

Prior to announcement of the new cabinet, thousands of Czechs yesterday filled Prague's streets. They shouted "Resist!" and "We want the army!"

The influence of a short radio speech by Syrovy, asking the population to refrain from demonstrations, was reflected later in orderly but excited crowds.

Leaflets attributed to the communist party were distributed, appealing to all Czechoslovaks to be united and proclaiming: "The Soviet Union will help Czechoslovakia in all circumstances, whatever France may do. The Soviet Union and the Russian army are with us! Let us all wholeheartedly guard the republic!"

Demands of Poland and Hungary in Czechoslovakia

BUDAPEST, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The government has formally demanded treatment for the Hungarian minority in Czechoslovakia equal to that of the Sudeten Germans, but a competent source disclosed today that Hungary is campaigning for return of all Slovakia and Ruthenia.

[These two provinces of Czechoslovakia's four—Bohemia and Moravia-Silesia are the others—are inhabited by 3,607,438 persons. About one-fifth of the 3,000,870 Slovakian population is Maygar, or Hungarian, and in Ruthenia 606,568, or about 17.2 per cent. Czechoslovakia once was a part of the Austro-Hungarian empire. There were 691,923 Hungarians in Czechoslovakia when the 1930 census was taken].

Hungarians say that the Ruthenians have isolated themselves from both Slovaks and Czechs and that their economic interests closely bind them to Hungary. Their two large cities, Ungvar and Munkacs, are predominantly populated by Hungarians.

The principal Hungarian argument was that while Sudetenland's rivers, such as the Elbe, all flow into Germany, the Slovak rivers all flow into the Danube—thus the Carpathian basis, including Ruthenia, is a perfect economic unit which could bring prosperity to Hungarians, Slovaks, Ruthenians and Germans alike.

A foreign office spokesman said the Budapest government had demanded, in a demarche to the Czechoslovak foreign office yesterday, that Hungarian minorities should receive equal consideration and have equal treatment with the Sudeten Germans.

"This means," he said, "that Hungary demanded that those parts of Czechoslovakia must be returned to Hungary in which more than 50 per cent of the population speaks the Hungarian language."

PROTEST CZECH PARTITION AT RALLY SUNDAY

A massmeeting on behalf of Czechoslovakia, about to be partitioned to meet the demands of Reichsfuehrer Hitler, will be held at 3 p. m. Sunday in Chicago Stadium. More than 25,000 persons are expected to attend. The rally is sponsored by the Czechoslovak National Alliance of America.

Voijta Benes, a brother of President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia, may fly to Chicago from New York to attend.

Speakers will include John A. Cervenka, president of the Czechoslovak Alliance of America; Prof. Paul A. Douglas of the University of Chicago, and Prof. J. J. Zmrhal.

The alliance and its committee of Veterans of Allied Expeditionary Forces yesterday cabled appeals to President Albert Lebrun of France and to Ignace Moscicki, president of Poland. Lebrun was asked to reconsider the French stand favoring Hitler. The Polish president was requested to "remain true to the ideals of freedom and human rights" and to postpone claims against Czechoslovakia.

GEN. JAN SYROVY, CZECH PREMIER, IS NATION'S HERO

Gen. Jan Syrovy, who heads the new government of Czechoslovakia, has been a national hero ever since he returned from Russia after the world war. He fought in the Czechoslovak units of the Russian army for the cause of the allies and the independence of his nation.

Born in 1888 in Prebic, in the Moravian province of Czechoslovakia, he went to Warsaw after he had received the usual military training in the old Austro-Hungarian army.

When the Czech legions of the Russian army reached the strength of 80,000 men Gen. Syrovy became their commander. In the battle of Zborov he lost an eye.

After the war Gen. Syrovy returned to Prague, where he first became deputy chief of staf and in 1926 chief of staf of the Czechoslovak army. During the same year he was minister of national defense.

800 GERMAN WAR VETS HONORED ON VISIT TO ENGLAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Eight hundred Germans, veterans of the army beaten in the world war, arrived today in London on a ceremonial visit. They were led by the Anglo-Saxon duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, a member of the British royal family who until the world war held the British title, duke of Albany.

Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

At about the time Prime Minister Chamberlain and Reichsfuehrer Hitler sat down around the council table in Germany, the German visitors were sitting down with British cabinet ministers and army leaders. These included Defense Minister Sir Thomas Inskip, Colonial Secretary Malcolm MacDonald, and Viscount Gort, chief of staf. The occasion was the official welcoming tea in Westminster hall.

Expressions of friendship and hopes for peace were exchanged between the Britons and Germans. The Germans were made honorary members of the British Legion, whose guests they are.

RIOT IN LONDON; MOB SCREAMS 'STOP HITLER!'

10,000 Protest England's "Surrender."

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Public disorders broke out in London tonight. A mob of 10,000 persons, shouting "Stop Hitler!" and "Chamberlain must go!" tried to break through police lines in Whitehall and Downing street. Extra police were called out.

The angry mob raised clenched fists in the communist salute. The demonstrators shouted, "Stand by the Czechs!" time and again. They fought among themselves. Women fainted in the crush and were carried away by first aid attendants.

The demonstration occurred as a delegation from the British section of the international peace campaign organization called at the offices of Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, to protest against the "betrayal of Czechoslovakia" and to demand the recall of parliament.

Refuses to See Group.

Halifax refused to see the delegation and the protest was handed to one of his secretaries. When the delegation left the foreign office the demonstrators formed a procession and marched to Hyde Park, where they dispersed.

Halifax called Prime Minister Chamberlain's second flight to Germany in a week a "courageous mission for peace" and warned the public against premature conclusions.

The disorders were one of the symptoms of uneasiness prevailing in England over whether Chamberlain's meeting with Reichsfuehrer Hitler in Godesberg, Germany, will result in another diplomatic disaster or whether Chamberlain will come back with something in exchange for what the British and French have conceded Hitler.

Ready to Evacuate British.

This uneasiness was intensified when it became known that the British legation in Prague was taking special meaures to evacuate British nationals there on short notice. Such a step seemed to foreshadow that German forces—some twenty-five divisions are assembled at the Czechoslovak frontier—might march in at any time.

The British government's attitude toward Polish and Hungarian claims for a slice of Czechoslovakia was indicated by Earl Winterton, chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster, and a cabinet member. Speaking at a Conservative party meeting at West Grinstead he appealed to the British public to keep cool heads.

"It is, I think, a fact that but for the prime minister's visit to Hitler last week a conflagration would already have started," he said, "but unhappily since then two European countries adjacent to Czechoslovakia and a large portion of the German press put forward proposals which go far beyond and indeed have nothing to do with the Sudeten German question.

"These countries and the newspapers should have no delusion that there is any foundation for the belief that the British government would in any way favor these proposals.

Political speculation was stirred meanwhile by an hour's visit in Buckingham palace between King George VI. and Earl Baldwin, Chamberlain's predecessor as prime minister. Baldwin, who led the nation through the crisis of Edward VIII's abdication, is friendly with former Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

Dismayed Over Loss of Prestige.

Unless Chamberlain gets a new plan for general European peace, which he said he was aiming at when he took off from Heston airdrome for Germany this morning, it is believed there will be an upheaval in England before long. Almost every one appears dismayed at the loss of prestige which the country was said to have suffered.

Apart from the demonstrations in Whitehall and Downing street, there were a number of other protest meetings. Millions of leaflets were distributed against Chamberlain's plan to pacify Hitler.

In contrast to the optimistic excitement incident to Chamberlain's departure last Thursday to see Hitler his departure today was a somber one. A few persons booed when the prime minister left No. 10 Downing street, accompanied by Mrs. Chamberlain, and entered his automobile. Others clapped their hands.

King Returns

BRITAIN SEEKS LEAGUE CHANGES TO PLEASE HITLER

GENEVA, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Great Britain today started what was widely considered to be a campaign to remold the league of nations into a form attractive to Germany and other former members.

It was even reported in diplomatic quarters that a part of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's current Godesberg conversations with Adolf Hitler would be aimed at bringing Germany back into the league fold.

Britain's moves before the league assembly's political committee today were believed in league quarters to be directly connected with her policy in the Czechoslovak crisis.

Jurists Report Favorably.

Richard Austen Butler, British parliamentary undersecretary of foreign affairs, demanded that the question of cutting the league off from the treaty of Versailles be considered immediately. He pointed out that the committee of 10 jurists, appointed by last year's assembly to study the question, reported favorably on separation of the league covenant from the Versailles pact.

If such a step were taken it would remove what German and Italian observers have called the league's "stigma of Versailles." This would also leave little more of the peace treaty that ended the world war than some of its territorial changes.

Butler's next move before the political committee was to strike from the covenant—at least so far as Britain's interpretation of it—the last hint of obligation to apply punitive measures against an aggressive nation.

Sums Up Britain's Attitude.

1. That there were no "unconditional obligations" to apply punitive measures embodied in article 16.

2. That there was, however, general obligation for members to consult in the event of aggression on what, if any, measures they would take.

3. That each member of the league should be judge of the extent to which it would participate in league sanctions, if at all.

4. That the principle that war in any part of the world interested the whole league still was applicable.

PREMIER SAVES FRENCH CABINET; MINISTERS STAY

Agree to Await Result of Hitler Parleys.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 22.—A revolt against the alleged "policy of capitulation" of Georges Bonnet, foreign minister, nearly wrecked Premier Edouard Daladier's cabinet today.

Six ministers, including three members of Daladier's own party, made it clear they disapproved the government's action in connection with the sacrifice of Sudetenland to Germany. Three actually offered Daladier their resignations, but were persuaded to put them back in their pockets pending the outcome of the Godesberg talks.

These three were Georges Mandel, minister of colonies; Paul Reynaud, minister of justice, and Champetier de Ribes, minister of pensions. The others were disaffected radicals, Cesar Campinchi, minister of marine; Henri Queuille, minister of agriculture, and Jean Zay, minister of education.

Cause of Clash.

The ministerial rebels protested particularly about Bonnet's personal policy, alleging, it is understood, that the position taken by him in diplomatic conversations and talks with the press were at variance with the policies decided by the cabinet as a whole. Bonnet's supporters make the same charge against the ministers adhering to the "war party."

The Polish-Hungarian campaign against Czechoslovakia continues to preoccupy the French. Bonnet saw the Polish minister today and is reported to have pleaded with him not to press the Polish claim for the time being, assuring him of French support later. At the same time he dropped the discreet warning to the Poles that they were setting a dangerous precedent which may be used against them before long. Bonnet also discussed the ticklish minorities question with the Jugo-Slav minister.

British Envoy Phones.

Nothing is known officially about the Godesberg talks, but the French consider it is an interesting innovation that the British ambassador called up Bonnet several times to inform him of their progress.

There still is considerable hope here that war will be averted somehow, but informed persons tonight make no effort to conceal their anxiety.

MOST ALSATIANS LOYAL TO FRANCE; FIGHT HITLERITES

Pro-Nazi Autonomists Suffer Setback.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STRASBOURG, France, Sept. 22.—The pro-Nazi autonomist campaign in Alsace, which was spurred by Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's success with the Sudeten Germans in Czechoslovakia, has provoked a vigorous reaction from the majority of Alsatians, who definitly are loyal to France.

As a result of this popular resentment, the outright German provocations are decreasing. In a recent instance, when a group of pro-Nazi autonomists ventured to give the Hitler salute in public they had to go to a hospital before being expelled from the region. The propaganda campaign continues unabated, however, and is even taking on a more and more outspoken character.

Compared to Sudetens.

At an autonomist meeting here last night a speaker openly compared the Alsatians with the Sudeten Germans, declaring: "We, too, are not content with our fate in France." When he added that "we want a solution within France," the autonomist listeners cheered the first part of the sentence, but greeted the final phrase with silence.

At the same meeting the Alsatians for the first time openly were labeled as a minority group by a speaker who demanded: "Why doesn't France give her minority the right of self-determination instead of granting it to the national minority abroad?"

Want Problems Solved.

Still another speaker declared: "To be called German or a Hitler agent is not regarded as an insult by us." He warned that "in connection with the Sudeten question all of our problems also must be definitly solved." The audience was told that the "true French military situation is much more unfavorable than the German."

A curious aspect of the autonomist campaign here is that it was spurred rather than checked by Hitler's Nuremberg declaration that he had resigned the historic reich claim for Alsace and Lorraine.

A prominent autonomist leader in a pro-Nazi newspaper assured his readers recently that "Hitler's resignation of Alsace only has a territorial character. Hitler never will permit the language tradition of German minorities to be suppressed."

Seek to Change Name.

As part of their campaign the autonomist elements are trying to substitute for the historic name of Alsace the name "Westmark," just as Austria's name was changed after the anschluss [union] to "Ostmark," which means eastern province of the reich.

A letter received in Mulhouse, Alsace, which had been sent from Vienna, bore the address: "Mulhouse, Westmark."

The majority of Alsatians who demand that the Paris government take urgent measures to check the autonomist propaganda admit that the pro-Nazi elements now say they want "autonomy within France," but point out that Konrad Henlein's Sudeten German group began with equally modest demands and progressively strengthened them until the drive toward anschluss was inevitable.

400,000 STAND READY TO DEFEND U. S. IN NEXT WAR

5,000,000 Men Could Be in Service in 18 Months.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Four hundred thousand men would be placed in the field immediately by the United States in the event of war. It was learned today that the general staf has perfected plans for the assembling of such an army should an enemy threaten American shores.

The backbone of the initial force would be the regular army, with its 12,760 officers and 165,000 enlisted men. The balance of the 400,000 would come from National Guard forces.

Another 600,000 soldiers would be rushed into uniform within a limited time. These would come primarily from men who had some military training at citizens' military training camps or reserve officers' training corps units.

Draft Would Be Used.

A draft would be put into effect immediately. As draftees were trained, the regular and National Guard units would be thinned out throughout the army. The regular army and National Guard nucleus would tend to bolster up the efficiency and morale of the entire army.

Within the first few months of the war the general staf has plans to turn men into soldiers as fast as industry can turn out war materials. During the world war the war department turned out an army of more than three million men in about eighteen months.

In the same period the general staf feels at least 5,000,000 men could be turned out today.

The country probably could mass an army of three times that strength should the war be prolonged.

U. S. Army Modernized.

Since the world war the general staf of the army has been working to modernize the army and its war plans. The high command is confident that the next war will not be a deadlock in trenches as the last war was, but will consist of a series of rapid thrusts at strategic centers. For this reason the army has concentrated on increasing its mobility and the strength of the blow the troops will strike. The infantry soldier is being equipped with a semi-automatic rifle which will make him the equal of five troops armed with the world war rifle. Artillery and anti-aircraft units are being armed with improved weapons.

Cavalry troops are being transformed into mechanized machine gun units and tank corps. The signal corps and the quartermaster corps are undergoing improvement.

The army division is being cut from the cumbersome 22,000 men units of world war days to more mobile units of 13,000 men. The small divisions are almost entirely motorized. Larger divisions will be retained to some extent because animal transports will be necessary.

In the last year the army has been conducting a series of maneuvers testing its new division and lesser units under war conditions. In the spring a separate maneuver was held for the air corps on the problems of defending the east coast which include blackening out a community against a mock air raid.

Point to Spanish Ships.

The air corps had 1,378 up to the minute planes in service last July 1, ready to take the air the moment war orders were received. These planes are considered superior to anything any foreign power could bring against them.

As proof of this, the army cites the fact that in the first few months of the Spanish conflict cast-off American war models of a design considered obsolete here held their own against the best German and Italian planes until they were outnumbered.

The army has the largest bombers—flying fortresses—and the swiftest scout and pursuit planes. An innovation, developed by the general headquarters force is the headquarters plane from which the air staf will direct air battles from the air. The plane is equipped to carry the air staf with maps and other aids to direct its force in sight of operations and not from the ground.

Plans call for the expansion of the air force to 2,329 planes by the end of 1939 by the acquisition of 535 ships this year and 426 next year.

The army is expanding all the way down the line but is hopelessly behind the other powers in numerical strength and in reserves, which might be assembled immediately for active service.

The army has been lacking in a reserve of munitions and supplies for an emergency. This deficiency is being repaired.

Heavy purchases are being made of power and ammunition for storage at government arsenals. Dies and machinery are being purchased and are being held in reserve against a war.

In the general war tension throughout the world, the last congress gave the war department an appropriation of $459,401,254 to spend during the present fiscal year which will end next June 30.

Map Defense Plans.

Much of this sum is being used to perfect defense plans based on the national defense act of 1922. As the plans now stand, the army is working to:

1. Ring Chicago, New York, Philadelphia, San Francisco, and other industrial centers with high powered anti-aircraft guns. Contracts already have been let for the weapons. The parts will be made in private plants and assembly will take place in government arsenals as a precaution against spies.

2. Continue its mock maneuvers to give the army experience in protecting key areas under simulated war conditions. War games already have been held about the Chicago area.

3. Increasing the strength of the army and increasing its mobility and effectiveness through improved equipment and training.

4. Transfer of the army air force headquarters to Illinois from Virginia. The transfer was made to give the air command a more central position in the interests of efficient operation.

Motorize Infantry Trains.

5. Motorization of all infantry trains. The infantry list includes one regiment of nine tank companies, one regiment of medium tank companies, and eight light tank platoons.

6. Mechanization of cavalry. One mechanized brigade of two regiments and one battalion. Thirteen platoons have been equipped with scout cars and seven armored car troops have been created.

7. The army has procured new tanks; 81 mm mortars are being developed, 50 caliber machine guns and 30 caliber machine guns have been perfected along with the semi-automatic rifle.

8. Coast defense establishments are being modernized.

9. The defenses of Hawaii and Panama are being improved.

The army high command insists that its modernization program has no relation to the European situation. The plans were laid shortly after the war from the lessons taught by unpreparedness in 1917, they insist, and now are being carried out.

[Another story on the defense preparations of the United States will appear soon.]

FLORENCE ST. JOHN.

John Kwiatkowski had sued for divorce. His wife filed suit herself yesterday. And then both came into Judge Robert C. O'Connell's court to battle over temporary alimony. The judge asked the middle aged couple what their trouble was. "Relatives," he was told.

The husband said he sued because his stepdaughter, Florence St. John, 25 years old, fractured his skull with a hammer. Miss St. John wept in court as she blamed his sister for the trouble. When the judge warned all their relatives to stay away from their home at 452 West 28th street, the Kwiatkowskis wandered out of the courtroom arm in arm to try to patch up their romance.

GEN. DRUM ARMY GOES IN PURSUIT OF BLACK FORCES

Problem in "Paper War" Turns from Defense.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fort Knox, Ky., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Drum's Second field army, the Blues, fresh from a twenty-hour rest, plunged with renewed vigor today into the mythical paper war being waged in this territory. Having completely stopped the Black, or invading, army in its northward advance, the problem for the Blues changed from one of defense to pursuit.

This war is being fought with paper—military orders and maps prepared in advance by umpires. The theoretical objective has been the defense of the nation's gold hoard, stored at Fort Knox, and the industrial Ohio valley. The purpose of the maneuvers is to give field training to 500 regular, National Guard, and organized reserve officers of the 5th and 6th corps area.

Umpires Rule on Success.

Field army, corps, and division headquarters are set up as in actual combat. Telephone and telegraph lines are used. Success or failure of operations is shown by umpires' decisions on the effectiveness of combat orders issued by the Blue commanders. The Black forces are imaginary. Division commanders receive from the umpires regular military information, supposed to come from outposts, patrols, and observers.

With the Black invaders in retreat, the principal problem for Gen. Drum was the withdrawal of two divisions from the combat line for use as mobile forces in pursuit. The goal is the annihilation of the Blacks by a flanking attack in an effort to surround them.

Pursuers Cross River.

Toward this end, Maj. Gen. Gilson D. Light's 37th division [Ohio National Guard] crossed the Nolin river three miles west of Millerstown at daybreak. The crossing was made on temporary bridges constructed during the night by Col. C. L. Scott's 2d [U. S. regular] cavalry.

At the same time, the 33d Illinois division [National Guard], under command of Brig. Gen. T. C. Hamilton of Harvey, Ill., crossed the Nolin five miles east of Hodgensville. The forces then advanced in a circular movement southeastward in an attempt to reach the flanks of the retreating Blacks.

In the meantime, the enemy has a strong flank guard at Magnolia and Maxine, on the east, and at Millerstown, on the west, to protect the main body falling back through Upton. Lack of Blue reserves prevented Gen. Drum from launching his entire forces in pursuit.

Other Divisions Follow.

At noon today Col. A. E. Fry's 5th regular army division and Maj. Gen. E. W. Carter's 39th Ohio, Indiana, and West Virginia National Guard division crossed the Nolin river. For the remainder of the day they pounded at the Black line along the heights 1,000 yards south of the river.

FIRE SECRETARY WHO DISCLOSED TVA'S GAG RULE

Inquiry Witness Loses Job with Board.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Charles E. Hoffman, who revealed the gag rule adopted by the Tennessee Valley authority for its employés during the congressional investigation, has been discharged, it was disclosed today. He was assistant secretary to the board of directors.

Charles E. Hoffman.

The order ending Hoffman's duties becomes effective Monday, but he will be given two months' annual leave with pay, which is due him. Neither Hoffman nor the board secretary, James Lawrence Fly, who also is TVA general counsel, would comment on the discharge.

For seventeen years Hoffman had been a friend of the deposed TVA chairman, Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, whose charges of dishonesty and incompetence involving the other two board members precipitated an investigation by a congressional committee.

Fly's Order Disclosed.

Last summer Hoffman startled the congressional committee with his testimony that Fly had ordered all TVA employés to avoid contact of any kind with Dr. Morgan or others. This development caused the committee to authorize TVA employés to talk with any person designated by the committee without reporting to their superiors before or afterward.

On June 2 Hoffman visited Dr. Morgan at Dayton, O. When he returned Fly had him brought directly from the train to his office for search and interrogation. Fly indicated he suspected Hoffman of taking material from TVA files to Dr. Morgan.

Fly's order forbidding employés to have contact with Dr. Morgan soon followed. During the committee hearing Hoffman disclosed voluminous correspondence which ensued between himself and Fly in which Hoffman sought clarification of the order.

Specific Point Raised.

Hoffman wanted to know, for instance, whether Fly's order included old friends of Dr. Morgan, such as a young woman and her mother, then visiting in Tennessee, whom Hoffman wanted to entertain at dinner.

"If you feel there is any ground for making an exception to the rule in your case," replied Fly, "you have my authority to take it up with the board."

At another point in the interchange of memoranda Fly clarified his gag rule with this warning to Hoffman:

"When I say no contacts I mean no contacts."

BIG WPA SEWER PROJECTS LIKELY TO BE SHUT DOWN

Charles E. Miner, state chief of the Works Progress administration, said yesterday that it probably will be necessary to shut down several large WPA sewer projects in Chicago because the city is unable to pay for skilled labor on them. The city's funds for that purpose were exhausted Monday.

Miner said officials were seeking means of shifting WPA laborers to other projects rather than throw them out of work. He mentioned improvements to unpaved streets and construction of small sewers where skilled men will not be needed as probable projects for many of the laborers.

The city is seeking a $3,000,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation to be used on WPA projects.

May Contest Will

MRS. LAURINE DODGE.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 22.—(AP)—A Detroit attorney indicated today that Mrs. Laurine McDonald Dodge may contest the will in which her husband, the late Daniel G. Dodge, heir to an automobile fortune, bequeathed her $250,000 of a $10,000,000 estate.

Paul Oren, the lawyer, said the widow, who is 18 years old, whose husband, 21, died after an explosion while they were on their honeymoon, has retained him as counsel. He filed notice of his appointment yesterday at Pontiac, where the will comes up for hearing in Probate court Oct. 10.

When the will, dated July 25, was filed it was revealed that its provisions were agreed to in a prenuptial settlement. A large portion of the young heir's estate went to his mother, Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, of Rochester, Mich., widow of John F. Dodge, a founder of the motor car fortune.

DIES ON WAY TO OFFICE.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Dr. Otho A. Gorman, 45 years old, a dentist, who was born in Pawnee, Ill., died suddenly today of heart disease while en route to his office here.

WINNETKA GETS U. S. FUNDS FOR SAFE CROSSINGS

Bridges and Underpass to Cost $3,450,909.

A grant of $1,552,909 and a loan of $898,000 toward construction of seven bridges and an underpass to safeguard railroad crossings in Winnetka was approved yesterday by the Public Works administration. The federal funds will cover $2,450,909 of the estimated cost of the project, which is $3,450,909.

This grant and eight others for small projects were the first received by Illinois since Aug. 17. In Winnetka grade crossings will be eliminated by bridges at Scott street, Tower road, Eldorado avenue, Pine, Elm, Oak, and Cherry streets, and by underpass at Winnetka avenue.

28 Lose Lives at Crossings.

In applying for the federal cash Winnetka officials pointed out that accidents causing twenty-eight deaths have occurred in the last twenty-five years at these crossings. They are doubly dangerous because the North Western and North Shore railroad tracks run parallel in the suburb.

Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes lives at 900 Private road in Winnetka. This is half a block north and half a block east of the proposed Tower road bridge. The Eldorado avenue, Pine street, and Elm street bridges also will be within six blocks of his home, giving Mr. Ickes ample access to the Winnetka business district.

The Illinois commerce commission has begun hearings on Winnetka's petition for authority to go ahead with the project. Village residents voted 3 to 1 in favor of the plan in a recent postcard poll.

Dunning Gets $297,000.

Other Illinois grants yesterday were for additions and repairs to the Chicago State hospital at Dunning [$297,000], four other state hospitals, two sewer projects in Decatur, and a school in South Pekin.

In Washington Administrator Ickes said these grants did not mean that the proposal for a Chicago subway is dead. He said his engineers are studying the city's plea for $14,000,000 in PWA funds with which to build the subway.

PRESIDENT PUTS O. K. ON A BRIDGE FOR MARYLAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Smarting under unfavorable reaction to his attempt to deny a political motive in his proffer of two PWA bridges in Maryland before the state's primary election, President Roosevelt today approved a grant for one of the bridges.

At his press conference Tuesday Mr. Roosevelt severely criticized newspapers for connecting his approval of the two bridges with his efforts to defeat Senator Millard E. Tydings.

The President insisted there was no politics in the consideration of the bridges. He said Maryland would not get the bridges, but the fault was not the state's failure to elect his pal, Representative David J. Lewis, but that of bankers who would not advance money for the projects.

Finally the President today approved a $2,167,000 grant, representing 45 per cent of the cost of the Havre De Grace bridge. Ironically enough, the bridge will benefit Senator Tydings' home town. No action was announced on the second bridge.

INJURIES IN FALL FATAL.

Mrs. Anna Wren, 80 years old, 6142 South Kedvale avenue, died yesterday in the Little Company of Mary hospital of injuries suffered in a fall a month ago.

MRS. REYNOLDS WINS MONTHLY AWARD OF $250

New York, Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Helene Fortescue Reynolds, who was charged in Supreme court last week with getting tipsy and bombarding a strange male with kisses, today won $250 a month temporary alimony and $2,000 counsel fees in her separation suit against Julian Louis Reynolds, an heir to the Reynolds tobacco fortune.

The award was made by Supreme Court Justice William T. Collins at the same time he denied Mrs. Reynolds' application for custody of her son, one year old.

The justice set Nov. 7 for trial of Mrs. Reynolds custody suit. He said affidavits presented are so conflicting he will not disturb a ruling by a Virginia court giving custody of the child to the father.

2 SLAIN, 4 SHOT AS POLICE FIGHT BOOKIE BANDITS

Three Trapped in Joint Near Police Station.

Bazula desperately tried to resist Lane—according to witnesses—calmly blazed at him with his shotgun. Bazula fell dead. Women screamed and men nervously backed to the walls.

Meantime, police at Town Hall station were being notified of the holdup by the one unknown person who had slipped through the bandit guard. A warning was flashed over the radio. Capt. Patrick O'Connell and ten men hurried from the station.

They reached the garage as Lane and Gilfoy were preparing to escape. Their accomplice, Wright, was still at the door. He was still at the door when Capt. O'Connell and his men yanked the door open. A police gun was at his back before he knew it. He was dragged into the open and disarmed.

Use Woman as Shield.

Gilfoy and Lane saw what was happening. Gilfoy grabbed Miss Summerfield, a dancing instructress, and shoved her in front of him. Then he moved forward toward the door, firing at the bluecoats barricading the way, and with Miss Summerfield screaming, "Don't shoot, don't shoot!" One of his bullets smashed Policeman List's left shoulder. The police could not fire for fear of hitting the woman, so Policeman Robert Anderson hid behind a door. As Gilfoy passed him he pumped a shot into Gilfoy's back. Gilfoy turned and ran back into the garage. The police let go a blast that brought him down, dead.

While Gilfoy was making his last stand against the police, Lane was making a similar fight. He opened fire wildly. Before he went down from the impact of three bullets in the chest and one in the back he dropped Policeman O'Malley with bullets in the chin and shoulder. Lane was later taken to the Bridewell hospital in a serious condition.

Miss Summerfield had fallen unnoticed during the battle. Whether she was wounded by police bullets or Lane's gun has yet to be determined. She was wounded in the left lung. Surgeons at the American hospital postponed operating on her until she gains strength.

Name Lane as Slayer.

The patrons of the handbook cleared out as soon as the battle was over, but a few returned to give eyewitness accounts. They named Lane as Bazula's slayer. Police said the handbook was opened only two days ago. Wright, the captured bandit, told them he, Lane, and Gilfoy had visited six other handbooks during the day but had found them closed.

Gilfoy, once acquitted of a murder charge and once favored by a grand jury no-bill in a robbery case, was finally sent to prison as a robber in 1924. He was paroled in 1930, returned for violation in 1932, and discharged last year. He was known also as James Duval and Jimmie Miller.

As James McGraw, Lane went to prison in 1931 for larceny, the charge having been reduced from robbery. Four other robbery charges were dropped at the time. He was discharged last March 10.

Two Policewomen Lauded for Capture of Suspect

California officials yesterday congratulated Policewomen Mary Bennett and Dorothy Tedell of the Englewood station for their capture recently of Joseph Lara, 33 years old, a Mexican, wanted for larceny on the west coast. They seized him on Aug. 31 in the act of shoplifting in a south side store. It was learned later he was wanted in Sacramento, Cal.

Crusaders to Hear Jurist Discuss Dictator Trends

Associate Justice George W. Maxey of the Pennsylvania Supreme court is to be the first of the speakers today for the autumn session of the "America, Wake Up!" crusade. He will speak at noon in the Union League club on "The Descent to a Dictatorship."

Sees Bookie Holdup

Frances Boyd, who was in handbook at 3633 North Halsted street yesterday when bandits and police engaged in gun battle.

BULLETS RIDDLE ALD. KONKOWSKI'S OFFICE WINDOWS

Hoodlums early today fired bullets through the front windows of Ald. Frank E. Konkowski's real estate office at 1030 Chicago avenue. The windows were smashed. The shots aroused his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Konkowski Sr., and his two sisters and a brother, who were sleeping upstairs at the rear. They could not give any motive for the gun attack. Ald. Konkowski, who represents the 26th ward both as alderman and Democratic ward committeeman, is in California.

SEIZE KEY INDEX TO HANDBOOKS; LISTS HUNDREDS

228

The cards—hundreds of them—were seized in the bookkeeping department of the Nationwide News Service of Illinois, 343 South Dearborn street. This agency supplies racing results to betting joints.

The seizure was made by a four man police squad from the prosecutor's office under command of Sergt. Joseph Healy, accompanied by Assistant State's Attorneys Richard Devine and John Boyle. It climaxed an otherwise dull day for the state's attorney's ax squads. They found only ten joints to chop up, all of them small and unpretentious, and few betters. The day's raids brought the total, since the drive was started, to 228.

Five big steel cabinets containing the index cards were rushed to Courtney's office in the Criminal Courts building, 26th street and California avenue. There a crew of girls worked for hours copying more than 800 names, addresses, and telephone numbers from the cards. Then the files were returned by squad car to offices of the agency.

Heretofore Courtney, it has been understood, has relied on tips and the resourcefulness of his investigators to uncover the places he has raided and destroyed since he began his campaign against the books. The cards from the Nationwide concern were said to give him a complete list of the betting places and the "sneak joints," as reopened books are called.

Some of the cards contained three or four addresses, indicating apparently that the old locations had been raided forcing the joint to find other quarters.

Locations Shown.

For example, one of the cards selected at random showed three locations, one on North Paulina street and two others close by on Milwaukee avenue. The first two had been crossed out with pencil. The third seemed to be the present address.

Beneath the last address was its telephone number and the notation, "Beg. 9-19-38." This was believed to mean that the service in the new location began on Sept. 19—last Monday.

There was a further notation—"Credit $4." At the bottom of the card was the name of a man, with two telephone numbers opposite it. This, the police presumed, was the proprietor.

Off to one side was the figure "30," which was believed to refer to the amount in cash that particular book was paying each week for the racing service.

Filed on Metal Slabs.

The cards were filed on metal slabs—about sixty on each of sixteen slips. In addition, the raiders, who did not have a warant, took a number of big books which apparently contained the financial records of each betting joint.

The handbooks destroyed yesterday were at 18 East Harrison street, 135 South Wells street, and 177 North Wells, 510 Chicago avenue, 437 and 835 North Clark street, 6340 Dorchester, 5040 Cottage Grove avenue, 6429 North Western avenue, and 832 East 47th street.

STARTS JOB; FATALLY HURT.

Monticello, Ind., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Elmer Johns, 57 years old, a WPA worker, father of ten children, died today. He broke his neck and fractured his skull when he fell down a flight of stairs soon after reporting for work at the city hall.

LAKE CO. GAMING QUIZ PERILED; TOO MANY ON JURIES

Legality of the next three Lake county grand juries was questioned yesterday. Any convictions obtained on indictments they return in the gambling investigation there might be attacked as illegal for that reason, authorities said.

Lake county selects the panels for its October, December and March grand juries at one time. The county supervisors last week by error named twenty-six men on panels for each of the next three juries. This is three more than may legally be summoned for each panel. Normally each township provides one juror, but by mistake two each were named from Zion, Libertyville and West Deerfield townships. The lists were certified before the error was detected.

Officials conferred yesterday to find a way out of the situation. Participating were Judge Ralph J. Dady of the Circuit court; State's Attorney Charles E. Mason, Lyman J. Wilmot, clerk of the Circuit court, and Charles E. Jack, special state's attorney in charge of the gambling inquiry.

CIRCUS OWNER'S WIDOW SLAIN IN WISCONSIN HOME

Her Slashed Body Found on Kitchen Floor.

Baraboo, Wis., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Mrs. Albert Gollmar, widow of Charles Gollmar, circus owner, was found slain today in the kitchen of her home here. She was 62 years old and had lived here nearly all her life.

The murder was discovered by neighbors who came to visit Mrs. Gollmar shortly before noon. The body, fully clothed except for shoes, was lying on the floor near the kitchen door. She had been slashed on the head and upper part of her body. No knife was found.

Robbery Clews Sought.

District Attorney John Rouse ordered a complete search of the small two story house on the possibility Mrs. Gollmar was slain by robbers. An examination was ordered by Coroner Adolph Andro to determine whether Mrs. Gollmar was raped.

District Attorney Rouse also directed that a search be made for a short, stocky stranger who was seen lurking near the Gollmar home late last night. Mrs. Gollmar was last seen alive while shopping yesterday afternoon.

Victim Lived Alone.

Mrs. Gollmar had lived in the house alone since the death of her husband nine years ago. Although it was reported she lost heavily in the stock market, she was said to be fairly well to do.

Her husband and several of his brothers founded the Gollmar Brothers circus in the early 1900's in emulation of the Ringlings, who were their cousins.

CARPENTER DIES OF FALL.

English, Ind., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Harve Enlow, 49 years old, died today from injuries received in a twenty-five foot fall from a state highway bridge under construction near Leavenworth. He had been employed for a month as a carpenter there.

INDICT OFFICER WHO SEIZED 60 SLOT MACHINES

Michigan City, Ind., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—On Sept. 2 Constable John Gondek confiscated 60 slot machines in sweeping raids here. A few hours later he lost all but five to hijackers. Today Gondek was the first of eight persons indicted by the grand jury to be arrested. He was indicted on a charge of perjury.

Gondak's arrest followed disclosures that he had substituted five old junk slot machines for the five new machines he confiscated when he smashed them with a sledge hammer last Friday. Photographs taken immediately after the raids and as Gondek smashed the machines showed a difference between the machines.

Last night Deputy Sherif James Powers raided the Colonial cafe, 316 Franklin street, and seized five slot machines he found in the basement. He arrested the proprietor, Marion Groch, for possession of gambling devices. The machines were identical with those seized by Gondek.

FURNITURE CHOPPER FREED.

Emil Bunde, who chopped up the furniture in his bungalow at 6437 Sangamon street Sept. 6 because he never could get the family car, was freed of a disorderly conduct charge by Judge Joseph H. McGarry yesterday. His wife said he has stopped chopping.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

DOWN TO BED ROCK

By CALEB

HENRY FORD once said that "A cheaply made product is too expensive to be sold cheaply"—a sentiment that plays an important part in the conduct of that part of our business carried on in the basement store.

The master industrialist—firm adherent of the idea that low price must be based on high quality—bases his belief on a sound and practical foundation of experience. One prime requisite in his recipe for high quality and low cost is volume—an element we have long enlisted in our own development of this same thesis.

While this is basic, it forms only the foundation of a structure built to join quality and low price. Back of it all there must be the intention of joining them. It is possible to conduct a limited business otherwise—but Henry Ford described that sort of operation too when he said, "It is not good business unless buyer and seller both profit by it!" One-sided transactions drastically limit a seller's business future—no matter what the temporary profits may appear to be.

Long ago leaders in our business reached the conclusion that its considerable facilities and resources could be well used in developing a retail operation where thrift is the paramount consideration. They reasoned that the wide background and experience of our business would contribute much to such a venture. At the same time it was clear that its peculiar requirements needed a specialized organization, able to devote attention exclusively to the operation of a basement store.

The plan was put in use and that method of approach has survived several decades of actual test in the field. Our basement store has shown steady growth through the years, and has been able consistently to carry out the aim prescribed for it at the outset. Welding of Field skill, experience and tradition to the technique of thrift merchandising has proved a happy step, both for the customers served by the plan and for ourselves.

Field's basement store through the years has come to have a personality as pronounced and distinctive as the upstairs store in its own field. A clear cut purpose, defined and accepted from the outset, has marked them both.

TELLS OF WAVES ENGULFING HOME; 2 LOST, 2 SAVED

Broker and Wife Escape; Servants Caught.

New York, Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Mrs. George W. Burkhardt, wife of a New York broker, today told how she and her husband escaped from their home in Westhampton Beach, N. Y., when waves swept over the house. Her butler, Carl E. Dalin, was drowned. The butler's wife was listed as missing.

"It was late in the afternoon," Mrs. Burkhardt said. "We saw the water swirling over the dunes and around the foundation of our house. It would come in great surges, ebb away, and come again with greater intensity.

"My husband and I soon saw that we would not be safe in our house, and we decided to make a run for the bridge which crosses Moriches bay into Westhampton. Carl and his wife started with us.

Fight Way Over Dunes.

"We fought our way across the dunes, the tide belting us first around the ankles, then coming higher and higher as we ran away from it.

"We thought we were in a pretty solid position. Our two dogs, a cocker spaniel and a peke, were running and swimming along beside us. They were enjoying the whole thing immensely.

"They thought it was some kind of a game. They were chasing sticks that floated by and yipping.

"Just when we thought we were in a safe position an enormous wave struck and everything was topsy-turvy.

Water Breaks Over Heads.

"The water broke over our heads. Both my husband and I could swim, but the Dalins could not. They grasped poles and hung on to them. We swam until the water receded a little. Then we called to the Dalins that they could wade back to where we were. But they wouldn't let go of their poles and try it. Both were elderly.

"As the high waves continued, my husband and I swam toward what seemed to be high ground. Finally, a boat picked us up. We felt sure that the Dalins would be picked up, too. It was too dark and stormy to see anything clearly."

The spaniel made its way to safety, but the Pekingese apparently was lost.

Countess Tells of Escape.

Mme. de Fontnouvelle was at her summer home at Westhampton with the baby, Anne, 23 months old, and two servants when the storm struck.

"I bundled the baby in a blanket and we all started out," she said. "Water swirled about our hips. Planks, branches, and all sorts of débris was flying through the air. We looked around once and saw our big frame house collapse."

EX-POLICEMAN FOUND INSANE IN WOMAN'S KILLING

Peter Hughes, a former policeman awaiting trial for the murder of his housekeeper, was found insane by a jury in Criminal court yesterday. Judge Robert J. Dunne ordered him sent to the Illinois Security hospital at Menard. The murder charge was dismissed, but it can be reinstated if Hughes regains his sanity. Hughes shot and killed his housekeeper, Miss Mary Blake, 65 years old, last Aug. 11 in his home at 1024 Belden avenue after he had fired on his daughter, Margaret, 16 years old, and his son, Jack, 15.

Storm Shifts Path

CRUISE IS OFF; GIFT YACHT IS KINDLING WOOD

New York, Sept. 22.—(AP)—That world yacht cruise is off. A man walked up to William J. Langford, fresh from the Texas plains, the other day and said: "How'd ya like to have a yacht with no strings attached?" He was John S. Nairn, who said he was a San Francisco inventor and proved to be on the square.

Both masts were gone and the engine was missing, but a yacht's a yacht. Nairn said that she cost $75,000 thirty-five years ago, but he didn't want her any longer, and, anyway, he was working on new inventions. Langford was happy with plans for a world cruise. He'd fix up the yacht in Boston and charge $350 a head for the world trip.

Nothing but a hurricane, he thought, is going to stop this trip.

Last night here was the hurricane and today the gift yacht—now kindling wood and junk—lay smashed forever on the beach of Gravesend bay.

ESTIMATE 10,000 NEEDY FAMILIES IN STORM AREA

Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—(AP)—A Red Cross estimate that 10,000 families were in distress spurred government officials tonight in efforts to provide relief, prevent epidemcs, and rehabilitate property in the storm-beaten area.

Norman H. Davis, National Red Cross chairman, authorized chapters of his organization throughout the country to accept contributions for relief activities.

Offers of aid came from the city of Louisville, Ky., itself a flood victim in 1937, and the Red Cross chapter of Miami, Fla., where hurricanes have struck in the past.

Fort Peck Earth Slide Kills One; Eight Missing

Glasgow, Mont., Sept. 22.—(AP)—A man was killed and eight others were reported missing today after a shift of earth in the east abutment of the Fort Peck dam. Army engineers said no damage was done to the dam itself. Millions of yards of dirt were pushed into the lake upstream from the dam by the earth slide, which left a chasm 200 feet deep and about 200 feet wide. The missing men were working at the abutment when the shift occurred.

28 Sailors Drown, 6 Missing in Sudden Black Sea Storm

ANKARA, Turkey, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Twenty-eight sailors were drowned and six others were missing today in a sudden tempest which caught a convoy of motor barges off Turkey's Black sea coast.

AIR LINES JOIN IN GIVING SERVICE TO STORM AREA

New York, Sept. 22.—[Special.]—All the commercial air lines operating at Newark airport today joined in providing airplanes to supply emergency service between New York and Boston. With all rail and motor road transportation at a standstill, the airplanes remained the one means of reaching the stricken Cape Cod area and seats on the planes were at a premium.

More than 1,000 passengers and quantities of emergency medical supplies were being carried on the air lines. Virtually an hourly service was being operated with American Air Lines, United Air Lines, Transcontinental and Western Air, and Eastern Air Lines planes. At 7:30 this morning 75 persons were on hand bidding for seats on the first ship. By 9:30 American Air Lines called for help from the other companies, and all reserve equipment was sent here to aid.

MISSISSIPPI NEAR CREST OF 16 FEET, AT DAVENPORT, IA.

Davenport, Ia., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Signs that the flood waters of the Mississippi river would not be as high as expected were evident here today. The river reached 15.4 feet here and was expeited to reach its crest of between 16 and 16.5 feet tomorrow.

In Dubuque a slight fall in the crest was reported. An all-time high of 20.5 feet was reached Tuesday noon, but this has gradually fallen and a return to normal is expected by Sunday or Monday.

At Galena, Ill., the Galena river was expected to return to normal tomorrow after being swollen with back water from the Mississippi. In Savanna, Ill., however, the Mississippi reached a crest of 19.2 feet this morning, the highest in 17 years.

Sidelights on the Hurricane

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Westhampton Beach, Long Island.—Police Chief Stanley Teller and Police Sergeant Timothy Robinson herded nineteen persons to the top floor of a three story house just before walls of water lifted it from its foundations. All 21 were swept two miles, floating for three hours, before the house came to rest.

New York.—A ringing in the ears of thousands of New Yorkers when the storm struck was puzzling until weather bureau officials explained. It was as if everyone had been whisked up 1,000 feet in elevation as the barometer dropped, the bureau said.

Highland, N. J.—Three trainmen were injured when a New Haven freight, derailed by a fallen tree, tumbled fifteen feet down an embankment onto a frame dwelling. Occupants of the house were not injured.

New York.—Mary Pickford was scheduled to address a national convention of chain drug store officials in Westchester county. On her way there her automobile was struck by a tree blown down by the storm. She wasn't injured, but she didn't get to make her speech.

New York.—Harold R. Medina's 40 foot cabin cruiser took a solo cruise. Ripped loose by the wind and tide, it was lodged 400 yards away on the twelfth green of the Westhampton, Long Island, Country club golf course.

Silvermine, Conn.—Lily Pons was marooned at her home here. So many trees were blown down along roads about her place that the singing star of stage and screen couldn't get out.

Pompton Lakes, N. J.—Forty commuters on the Erie railroad Greenwood Lake division, finding the tracks cluttered with trees, took the railroad's emergency axes and chopped through nineteen trees to clear the way to home and supper.

Bellport, N. Y.—The body of a young man drowned last night was identified by relatives as that of William M. Akin Jr., 19 years old, of Alton, Ill. He was the son of William M. Akin, a vice president of the Laclede Steel company. Paul Bigelow, grandfather of the youth, identified the body. Akin was out in a small cruiser in the Great South bay with Carl Peterson, Bigelow's gardener, when the storm struck. The cruiser overturned. Peterson reached shore safely. Akin's body was washed ashore.

New York.—A salesman called on Louis Klang, a Bronx confectioner, yesterday and tried vainly to sell him several boxes of candles. A few hours later Klang had to go out and buy candles when the storm snuffed lights out. He could have sold scores at a premium if he had had them.

Hillburn, N. Y.—Postmaster James Mulligan came down to the postoffice today to find the door broken down, four holes drilled in the safe, and electrical apparatus used to set off explosives screwed into a light socket. But the safe was intact. Current had gone off last night due to the storm, leaving the cracksmen without means of entering the safe.

DRUGGIST BOUND AND ROBBED.

STABBED BY KIN IN FIGHT, WOMAN DIES OF WOUNDS

Mrs. Mary Kosanovich, 43 years old, died yesterday in St. Margaret's hospital, Hammond, of knife wounds inflicted Wednesday by her brother-in-law, Sam Kosanovich. Police said it was the first slaying in Hammond in six years. Kosanovich surrendered to police after the stabbing. Kosanovitch said he attacked his sister-in-law with a butcher knife during a quarrel in their home at 5944 Birch avenue, Hammond, police said. Kosanovich recently was released from the Michigan state insane asylum at the request of his brother, Nicholas, husband of the dead woman.

HURRICANE TOLL 455; FLOODS HIT STRICKEN AREAS

Devastated Cities Periled by Raging Rivers.

the uninhabited wastes of Canada, the first news from many communities in its path was heard tonight. Scores of other towns still were silent.

With the slow restoration of communications it became evident the destruction was even more widespread than at first indicated.

Property damage was in the tens of millions of dollars. Thousands of homes were demolished. Hundreds of yachts and small craft were swamped or destroyed. Public buildings were damaged. Transportation and communication lines were crippled. Crops and orchards were ruined.

Federal Forces Mobilized.

President Roosevelt mobilized federal forces to join local authorities and volunteers in aiding victims. National Guard troops were on duty in scores of communities to halt looting and to help in rescue work.

Naval reservists, Red Cross workers, American Legionnaires, Boy Scouts, and numerous other organizations were summoned to help the victims of a storm that will take a place among the country's worst disasters.

The area which the hurricane struck is in general the most densely populated in the United States. A factor in the devastation was that the area was unprepared. A tropical storm could strike the section only by swinging off its usual course.

The storm first appeared in the Caribbean. It sped across the Bahamas, threatened Florida, and then veered northward with its fury strangely undiminished. Tonight its center was moving northerly across the uninhabited areas of northern Quebec, Canada, and apparently was blowing itself out.

Seven States Hit.

Of the seven states which the hurricane and accompanying tidal wave laid waste, Rhode Island suffered the largest number of fatalities. Massachusetts was next. The toll also was high in Connecticut, New York, and New Hampshire. New Jersey and Vermont escaped the full horror.

Metropolitan New York suffered a toll of more than 40 dead, many of them victims from beach resorts on Long Island. The exclusive suburb of Westhampton, a playground of the wealthy, virtually was destroyed. Scores of that community's residents were missing.

Tidal waves that in many places rushed inland a quarter of a mile dumped rows of ruined homes in the center of Westhampton.

The waves smashed more than 1,000 houses and cottages in other communities on Fire Island, at Ocean Beach, at Fair Harbor, and at Salt-Aire. Coast guardsmen also reported heavy damage at the Great South Beach.

Cape Cod Cottages Smashed.

Cape Cod, jutting out from Massachusetts into the open sea, reported more than a score of deaths at its base near the mainland. Scores of its communities of summer cottages were reduced to kindling and many pleasure craft were blown high on land or smashed on the shore line.

A house on the Cape Cod canal bank was tossed into the canal and swept away by a swift current. To the east, however, Cape Cod towns along Vineyard and Nantucket sounds gave little indication that the storm had passed.

On Martha's Vineyard, a small island off the elbow of Cape Cod, the fishing village of Menemsha was reported swept away. At Edgartown, county seat of the island, scores were driven from their homes.

Nantucket escaped lightly, but on the island town of Chilmark a dozen houses, three score other buildings and the town wharf were swept away.

Massachusetts was one of the New England states threatened with still more devastation. Alarming food shortages were reported in some villages. Polluted water, lack of fuel for boiling water and for cooking, and a lack of housing facilities confronted some communities.

Gov. Charles Hurley sent the National Guard into twenty-three Massachusetts towns and declared a food and fuel emergency.

Food shortages were reported in Gilbertsville, Barre, and Barre Plains. These isolated Massachusetts towns sent out word they had food enough for only one day and that the only way supplies could be brought to them was by boat.

No Trains Move from Boston.

Not a train moved out of Boston, either to New York or to Montreal. Not a vessel moved out of Boston harbor. Automobiles wound their perilous way through a wilderness of fallen trees on streets and highways.

An 80 mile gale plucked pleasure craft from their moorings along the shore from New Bedford to Wood's Hole and dropped them high above the water line. Four such craft were tossed into the main street of Onset.

Three coast guardsmen were swept to death at Woods Hole while engaged in rescue work in a small boat. At least six other persons perished there.

The entire population of Onset, estimated at 2,000, ran for safety on the town's lone hill when high waves rushing in from two sides made a temporary island of the peninsular community. For hours they stood together in terror only 12 feet above the water.

2,500 Residents Moved.

With the Connecticut rising rapidly at Springfield, authorities evacuated 2,500 residents in the south end and moved 250 prisoners from the Hampden county jail.

Three babies were born by candle and lamp light in hospitals in Somerville, Mass.

A fire that caused $100,000 damage added to difficulties at Worcester, Mass., at the height of the battle to restore communication disrupted by the storm. A Worcester man was blown through a window and killed.

The rampaging Westfield river undermined a hydro electric station at Woronoco, Mass., causing it to collapse, along with a bridge carrying high tension wires and steam and water pipes across the stream.

On the opposite side of the Bay state the industrial cities of Lowell, Lawrence, and Haverhill surveyed their wreckage after a night of darkness. Low lying residential districts of Lowell were inundated by the rising Merrimack river.

Fire added to the hurricane and flood damage in Connecticut. Flames and wind took at least five lives and caused a $4,000,000 loss at New London. The fire started at the water front and burned three blocks inland, destroying nearly two score buildings.

Town Almost Inundated.

Hartford, Conn., where at least half a dozen persons already were dead, also was threatened by a new flood. The rapidly rising Connecticut river threatened the city's water front district. At noon it had climbed above the level of the 1927 flood.

Nearly the entire town of Stonington, Conn., was inundated, forcing every one there to flee to the only two high spots in the town that remained above water. Four hundred children remained in their schools during the night.

Mountain streams in Vermont were turned into raging torrents. The town of Rutland was isolated. Members of 150 families were rescued from their homes there.

High winds and rain did extensive property damage in New Hampshire. A building of the Boston and Maine railroad repair shops was demolished at Concord.

JAPAN LAUNCHES NEW CHINA REGIME UNDER ARMED POLICE GUARD

PEKING, China, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Guarded by squads of Chinese police armed with cocked pistols, the new united council of China—forerunner of a new central government under Japanese sponsorship—was inaugurated today. It met in a section of the former imperial palace grounds.

Elderly representatives of the Peking and Nanking régimes, set up months ago under Japanese supervision, heard a spokesman for the Japanese army headquarters say that the army "rejoices" over formation of the new council.

The council was composed of three members representing the Peking provisional government and three representing the Nanking reformed government. It will supervise affairs common to both régimes.

Japs Capture Loshan.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Japanese shock troops captured the town of Loshan, thirty miles east of the Peking-Hankow railway, today. The victory placed Japanese troops within striking distance of Sinyang, railway station 100 miles north of Hankow, it was said.

MEN WILL WEAR SUITS, HATS, ETC., ABOUT AS USUAL

Experts Say Green Is to Be Popular Color.

Harken, you men who would be well dressed, to the latest dictates of the fashion experts:

Green will be the most popular color in men's suits. There will be no flaps on the side pockets.

Wear a handkerchief in your suitcoat breast pocket. But be sure the handkerchief is tucked in carelessly, not as if it had been arranged meticulously.

Wear cuff buttons on your shirts.

Brown shoes are proper for any shade of suit.

Experts Lay Down Rules.

These wardrobe notes were given yesterday by four men's fashion experts at a meeting in the Palmer house sponsored by the State street council. The occasion was the fall opening on State street. The experts are Robert Surrey, George Benson, H. F. Stevens, and Joe Cotter, all representing State street stores.

Jack Fulton, radio singer, was dressed as a typical business man, the experts agreed. His suit was double breasted, of a diagonal worsted weave. He wore no waistcoat. His coat pockets were properly flapless and his red stripe tie was another favorable item.

A Band Leader's Outfit.

Bernie Cummins, orchestra leader, wore a blue double breasted suit with a chalk stripe. It had a lounge effect and fullness at the top of the sleeves. He wore a soft collar with a tie pin for his cravat.

Frankie Masters, another orchestra leader, wore what is known as a cocktail outfit. His coat and vest were Oxford gray and his trousers were of a lighter striped cheviot, without cuffs. He wore a stiff collar and a tie with a small checked design.

Court Denies Mrs. Cash's Plea to Leave Sanitarium

A petition by Mrs. Helen Calhoun Cash of Flossmoor seeking her release from Resthaven sanitarium in Elgin was denied yesterday by Judge Olney Allen of Kane county. Mrs. Cash, the widow of Dr. Gentry Cash, who was vice president and general manager of the Standard Oil company plant in Whiting, Ind., was committed to Resthaven last May 23. Her petition asserted that the Kane county commission that committed her did not have jurisdiction because her residence is in Cook county. Her attorneys indicated that they will appeal.

PERJURY TRIAL IN BRIDE SLAYING DELAYED AGAIN

Pekin, Ill., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Difficulties in obtaining jurors today delayed the trial of James W. Crabb on charges of perjury allegedly committed while testifying at the inquest into the fatal shooting of his bride, Betty Collison Crabb, 19 years old, last March.

Crabb was indicted on charges of both perjury and manslaughter. The manslaughter charge was tried in June, but the jury disagreed. The perjury trial was called before Judge Henry J. Ingram today, and special venires were drawn. Prosecutors, however, said 300 certified names had been excluded from the lists and the judge ordered a new drawing tomorrow.

The perjury allegedly occurred when Crabb testified that his wife shot herself. At the manslaughter trial prosecutors introduced a statement in which he allegedly admitted she was shot while struggling with him for possession of a revolver. Crabb is the son of Willis Crabb, Delavan, Ill., banker.

GOV. CHANDLER BEFORE JURY IN POISON INQUIRY

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Looking fit and well, Gov. A. B. [Happy] Chandler appeared today before a Jefferson county grand jury investigating the alleged poisoning of the governor last July 21. The governor was accompanied by Assistant Attorney General A. E. Funk.

Awaiting to be heard was State Patrol Lieutenant Jesse Wyatt, who also was taken ill the same night the governor was stricken. The grand jury investigation was ordered by Circuit Judge Loraine Mix, who said the people were entitled to know about the matter.

The governor and his aids were stricken on the night of July 21 shortly after Chandler had made a radio broadcast from a downtown hotel room in behalf of his unsuccessful candidacy for the Democratic senatorial nomination. Several days later Dr. J. W. Bryan stated in an affidavit the three had drunk "poisoned" water.

FIRE ROUTS TWO FAMILIES.

Two colored families were driven to the street early yesterday by fire in a two story frame house at 2416 Warren avenue.

Used Years Ago

The first gifts accepted by the Museum of Science and Industry in 1929, before the Jackson park museum was opened, were finally delivered yesterday. They are an Archer avenue horse car of 1859, a State street grip car of 1882, and a wooden horse of the type common long ago in harness shops. Presentation was made by H. C. Kelly, superintendent of tracks of the Chicago City Railway company, a unit of the Chicago Surface Lines, to R. B. May, curator of transportation. The pieces were the gift of Harvey B. Fleming, president of the railway company. The delay was caused by lack of display space.

U. S. JURY CALLS 30 INDEPENDENT DAIRY OFFICERS

The special federal grand jury which is investigating an alleged milk trust in the Chicago area issued subpenas yesterday for thirty officials and accountants of independent dairies in the city and suburbs. The investigation begun July 18 is expected to be concluded by the end of October. The evidence is being presented by Leo F. Tierney, special assistant attorney general, and United States Attorney Michael L. Igoe.

Woman, 62, Routs Bandit Pair with Tongue Lashing

Mrs. Rose Eisler, 5006 Blackstone avenue, is 62 years old. She likes respect for her age. Thus when two young bandits stopped her and her son, Stanley, 26, in front of their home this morning, shoved a revolver into her face, and barked, "Stick 'em up," she became angry. She pushed the revolver to one side. "You get away, and get away fast," she commanded. They got away. Mrs. Eisler was still angry when she told police about it later.

BOY IS 2D FOOD POISON VICTIM; 8 NEW CASES

Results of an examination of the body of Charles Herman, 14 years old, which were announced yesterday, indicated he was the second person to lose his life in the outbreak of food poisonings that has swept Elmwood Park and adjacent areas in Chicago. The boy, who lived at 6952 Nelson street, died a week ago in St. Anne's hospital.

A pathologist found an infection in Herman's intestines. It was caused by germs of the same group as those found in a post-morten examination of Earl Bennison, first victim of the outbreak. Investigators sent out by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, said the boy ate a chocolate eclair three days before he died. Bennison ate pastry from the same bakery.

Eight new cases were reported yesterday. Officials of the American Association of Retail Bakers protested that it had not been proved that contaminated pastry caused the deaths and illnesses.

Noblesville, Ind., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Justice of the Peace R. P. Rice, 86 years old, died today. Mr. and Mrs. Rice recently observed their 66th wedding anniversary.

HINES SECOND TRIAL FOR POLICY RACKET PLOT SET FOR NOV. 14

New York, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Retrial of Tammany District Leader James J. Hines on policy racket conspiracy charges was set today for Nov. 14 in General Sessions court by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey.

Hines' first trial was declared a mistrial two weeks ago by Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora, who said Dewey had erred by asking an improper question regarding testimony before a 1935 grand jury regarding Hines. Dewey asked Pecora last week to change the retrial from Supreme court to General Sessions and the Supreme court justice granted the request.

The district attorney said the new trial of the man alleged to have been a political front for the Dutch Schultz policy racket by fixing court cases would be before Judge Charles C. Nott Jr. or Judge James G. Wallace.

THREE LIQUOR STORES ROBBED.

Police yesterday sought three robbers who got $561 in three south side liquor stores late Wednesday night. The stores robbed are at 7714 South Halsted street, 1124 West 63d street and 5545 South Ashland avenue.

Seven in Family Stricken; Suspect Food Poisoning

Seven members of a west side family were taken to the County hospital as food poisoning victims last night. They are Edwin H. Heeg, 47 years old, 509 South Leavitt street, a meat cutter; his wife, Mary, 41, and their children, Agnes, 12; Arthur, 6; Patsy, 5; Shirley, 3; and Betty, 1. Police took several cans of milk from the home for examination.

Instead of* AMERICAN FAMILY FLAKES

American Family Flakes wash clothes safely. Contain no harmful alkali or harsh chemicals that can gradually take much of the life and color out of fabrics. American Family Flakes give you rich, thick suds—banish the need of back-breaking rubbing to remove dirt. Remember, American Family Flakes require no boiling or hard rubbing which may wear out your clothes long before their time.

Here's the secret for easy wash-days . . . and long life for your clothes

ARE you being "penny-wise" and "pound-foolish" about the package soap you use? Are you entrusting your wash to cheap soap chips that require boiling, back-breaking rubbing and scrubbing—in order to save a few pennies? Then read the next statement carefully: It is such boiling, scrubbing and rubbing that all too often cause clothes to wear out long before their time. Actually rob you of the long period of service you rightfully deserve.

American Family Flakes work on an altogether different, safe principle. First, these famous flakes are guaranteed not to contain harmful alkali or harsh chemicals. Second, they are especially made for the hard water of this region. Third, laboratory tests have proved that American Family Flakes contain more suds-making material than other package soaps tested.

American Family Flakes dissolve amazingly quick—burst into rich, active suds. Even grimiest spots come out without back-breaking rubbing and the rest of the dirt soaks loose almost like magic. That is why the wash comes out sparkling white and sweet-smelling; why colored fabrics retain their gay brilliance, even after many washings; why even daintiest washable fabrics are really safe in the rich, gentle suds of American Family Flakes.

Get a box of American Family Flakes from your dealer. Your very first wash will prove a revelation as you see your clothes come out gloriously clean with so little work on your part. Then and there you will prove that you will never want to use cheap soap chips again. And after a fair trial, you will know why American Family Flakes is the largest-selling package soap in Chicago—why "It is cheaper to buy good soap than new clothes."

G. O. P. WOMEN'S CONFERENCE TO HEAR HAMILTON

300 Delegates Will Meet This Morning.

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

John Hamilton, chairman of the Republican national committee, will address the first conference of the National Federation of Women's Republican clubs this afternoon and again this evening in the Palmer house.

Mary Berkemeier Quinn.

Three hundred delegates from every section of the United States will attend. Mrs. Bertha Baur, national commiteewoman and president of the federation, announced the two day program yesterday. She said it would be devoted to clarifying the objectives of the clubs, and planning ways to assist precinct and ward leaders in the delegates' local communities.

Miss Marion E. Martin, assistant chairman of the Republican national committee, will preside at the morning meeting. Three sessions have been scheduled for today, with Mrs. Anna Steese Richardson sharing the platform with Mr. Hamilton at a banquet tonight. Tomorrow's meeting will be given over to round table discussions, led by delegates from seven states.

The two day study conference of Cook county Republican women ended last night with a banquet in the La Salle hotel. The conference was sponsored by Mrs. Mabel B. Krutckoff, chairman of the women's division of the Cook county Republican central committee.

Attorney William D. Saltiel, principal speaker at the banquet, declared no challenge in the history of mankind has been as overwhelming as Europe's surrender to totalitarianism.

Teaches Us What to Avoid.

"Europe points the way for America," he said. "Never has she been a better guide in teaching us what to avoid. Tyranny steps in when economy breaks down. The realities of hunger and desperation annihilate reason and liberty.

"If the Republican party is to survive, it must stand where it stood when Lincoln was elected, a party which believes in human freedom. It cannot be labeled with the old guard methods of riding rough shod over human rights. It must recognize the terrifying presence of 13 million unemployed men and women who cannot be forever supported by government dole."

Other speakers at yesterday's two sessions were Mary Berkemeier Quinn, Republican candidate for municipal court judge; Hill Blackett, vice chairman of the Republican state platform committee; Capt. William J. Grace, Miss Kathryn M. Ford, and Wiley B. Garvin, candidate for state superintendent of instruction.

Woman Leaps

Mrs. Muriel Cordes, who plunged from third floor window.

Mrs. Muriel Cordes, 26 years old, was critically injured yesterday when she leaped to the sidewalk from the third floor window of her apartment at the rear of 3616 Pine Grove avenue. Her husband, Henry, told Town Hall police that he and his wife had quarreled during an all night drinking party Wednesday and resumed their quarrel on arrival home yesterday morning. He is employed nights. His wife, who quit her job yesterday morning, worked days.

Mrs. Cordes' physician, Dr. Homer S. Warren, said she has a fifty-fifty chance to recover despite a bad skull fracture. Dr. Warren said her fall apparently was broken when she struck a garage wall before landing on the sidewalk. The couple were married July 8, Cordes said, and had been contemplating a separation. Mrs. Cordes is in American hospital.

LYONS ATTACKS NEW DEAL FARM IMPORT POLICY

State Representative Richard J. Lyons, Republican senatorial nominee, last night criticized the Washington administration for encouraging a destructive agricultural import policy. He spoke to street corner assemblies at Milwaukee and Lawrence avenues and Milwaukee and Kedzie avenues.

From 1932 to 1938, said Lyons, 3,200 different agricultural products were imported from 30 foreign nations. This represented a loss, he said, of $2,324,000,000 in employment value to Americans. Our exports in that period, he added, were largely cotton for munitions and munitions from our armament factories.

Last year, Lyons declared, this country imported 13,200,000 pigs, 600 times more than were imported in 1932. If stretched tail to tail, he said, the mammoth sausage would extend for 13,000 miles.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Unseasonable Antics.

Sept. 22, 1938.

THE black swans living on one of the farm ponds are completely out of step with all the birds, trees, and other indicators of autumn. We couldn't help noticing this point when we were on the Tribune's Du Page county farm this week.

Pheasants darting across the lanes and feeding along the roadsides are almost full grown and showing the mature feathers of autumn. Willow trees growing in the swampy land along the creeks and ponds are turning from summer's green to fall's yellow.

Grapes are ripe on the vine. Wild ducks are flying. The leaves of black cherry and sumac trees are gradually becoming scarlet. The thermometer in the barnyard dropped to 36 degrees one chilly morning. Lazy Muscovy ducks no longer wobble through the barnyard after insects.

But the black swans still think it's spring—they're busily working on nesting sites.

Three Places Built.

When these swans pulled weeds and built one nest mound last week we thought they were just fooling. And when the temperature dropped down to 36 degrees we believed the ambitious swans surely would forget about preparing to raise a family. But the swans fooled everybody by continuing to pull weeds and build nest mounds. When we were there early in the week the swans had started three nesting places. Two of them had been deserted and they were busily working on the third.

After the unusual weather we had this spring it's no wonder the swans are getting mixed up on their dates. In April they built a nest inside the swan house. Then they were moved outside to one of the ponds. They built several nest mounds there, the last of which was covered with snow by the freak April storm. Their spring nesting program was ruined by unusual weather, so the swans may have decided that they would have to raise a family this fall. A day of freezing weather or a slight snowstorm undoubtedly will discourage them again, however.

The Muscovy ducks seem to have given up their summer pastime of chasing and eating insects in the barnyard. When we were there the other morning the ducks, old and young, were merely resting. Usually the duck yard is one of the main centers of activity, with awkward white Muscovys chasing all over the place and craning their necks to grab a fly or other insect. The cold spell early in the week may have destroyed this source of duck food, or perhaps the ducks were just lazy when we went to see them.

A Fawn Escapes.

Susie, the fawn which is the newest addition to the barnyard family, decided to go visiting the other day. The young deer evidently was tired of the ducks, guineas, turkeys, and chickens in the barnyard, so she ran through the yard, jumped over a rail fence, and headed for the woods.

Susie's escape from the barnyard occurred before noon, but by feeding time that night she had seen enough of the world and was ready to return home for her free bottle of milk and fresh hay. Her one expedition evidently was enough to satisfy her curiosity, because she has been a stay at home deer ever since.

LEWIS IN MEXICO.

The loyal citizen when abroad recognizes the responsibility which he owes to his own country. That is an obligation to do nothing that will embarrass his own government's relations with the other country. The duty is particularly binding when, as sometimes happens, there is a controversy with the nation of which one is a guest.

John L. Lewis has recently been in Mexico to attend a labor gathering. The United States, speaking through the secretary of state, has been attempting to persuade Mexico to compensate American citizens for lands and other property appropriated by that country. In the seizure of lands, and more particularly of oil properties, President Cardenas has been pursuing a radical program, urged upon him by Vicente Lombardo Toledano, head of the Mexican labor federation. Toledano is a communist, in close touch with the Third International, and only recently returned from a conference at Moscow.

Being in Mexico City at a time when Cardenas was defying the American government the duty of John Lewis as an American citizen was plain. Instead, he made a speech in which he likened Cardenas to Roosevelt and declared that "Mexico today is going forward in the same way as the United States."

The statement of Lewis was seized upon at once as a more realistic statement of the American government policy than that which came from Secretary Hull. This was inevitable, because Lewis has openly boasted that he and his organization, which contributed a half million dollars to the campaign fund, reëlected Mr. Roosevelt. And since Mr. Lewis uttered the boast, the President, as if to acknowledge its implications, has never failed to consult with Lewis before taking a position on industrial questions.

If any citizen had patted the president of Mexico on the back when he was defying the American government it would have been an unfortunate indiscretion. For Lewis, the avowed President maker, to do it was to compromise the secretary of state and the government itself.

Lewis had an opportunity presented to him to demonstrate his loyalty to his own government, and at the same time to do a good deed for the Mexicans. He knows or is in a position to know that the great productivity of labor in the United States, and the high standard of living here, are due to the abundance of capital. "Why is the United States so rich?" Dr. Carl Snyder, former president of the American Statistical association and for many years with the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, asked in a recent address in Boston. He then went on to give the answer: "Abundant natural resources is not the answer because Mexico, our next door neighbor, has great resources but is not wealthy, and has a wage level about one-tenth that of the United States. The basic explanation is simple: Wealth comes from the supply of capital and will be greatest and will increase most rapidly where there is the most capital."

Mexico needs capital badly if the wages of the poor Mexicans are to be increased. The confiscation of wealth by Cardenas with the encouragement of the communist Toledano and the approval of Lewis condemns the Mexican laborer to a life of continued poverty. Lewis might have helped the poor Mexican by showing that his progress depended on undoing what Cardenas had done and giving encouragement to foreign capital. He chose instead the applause of the communists.

THE PRIGNANO CONFESSIONS.

After an interval of nearly three years the Chicago police have arrested two men and obtained confessions which it appears will solve the murder of State Representative Prignano.

The Prignano murder was set down at the time as a gang killing. The confessions indicate that it was such, and that the robbery of the victim was a subterfuge. That police should be successful in solving a crime of this type is particularly encouraging.

Since repeal gang murders have diminished but not ceased in this city. There was a series of them a few months ago. It is probable that the police, while they have ceased the practice of windy and useless sounding off in such matters, have a good idea who were guilty in a number of these more recent crimes.

The Prignano case illustrates the fact that gang murder is a most difficult crime to prove. It is normally perpetrated without witnesses. Until one of the principals confesses arrests can do more harm than good. The public sometimes fails to understand that, failing apprehension of the criminal on the scene of the crime, his career may continue for months even in the face of intelligent police work.

Luck played a part in solution of the Prignano case. One of the killers talked himself into trouble. Luck played a part in the arrest and subsequent conviction of Robert Nixon, the rapist-killer. A police squad picked him up on suspicion near the scene of his last crime, without any evidence that he was connected with it. The squad at the time did not even know the nature of the murder.

The mark of a good police department is the intelligence and industry with which these breaks in luck are followed. In the Prignano case the police went to work on what they thought was a safeblowing gang and were rewarded with a murder solution. In the Nixon case the squad had the intelligence to hold on to the prisoner until he was implicated. Had Nixon been set free the night he was picked up the police would probably have several more murders to solve by now.

The fact that State's Attorney Courtney announced the Prignano confessions, obtained in his office, is a welcome sign of the coöperation between police and prosecutor which leads to convictions. It is to the credit of both parties that factional political differences have not been permitted to disturb that coöperation.

TONIC FOR THE RAILROADS.

The President has appointed a committee of six, composed of three representatives of railroad management and three of railroad labor, to outline a program of legislation for the revival of their industry.

There is a remedy for the nation's transportation ills, but it remains to be seen if the members of the committee will have the sense and courage to recommend it and, if they do, whether the politicians in the administration will dare adopt it. The remedy lies in freeing the companies from the many restrictions which now hamper them in the making of rates.

All but a few railroads receive by far the greater part of their incomes from freight and they owe their present plight primarily to the enormous decline in freight movements. Trucks, ships, and pipe lines have taken some of the business and much more has simply disappeared. Some of the business might be won back by improved service and much more of it could be regained if railroad managers were not hampered by an inelastic rate structure imposed on them by the burocracy in Washington.

Railroad labor is at present in conflict with railroad management over wages. Whatever the merits of that controversy may be, it is altogether clear that the difficulties of railroad labor, management, and investors have a common origin in the decline in freight movements. It is primarily because of that decline that the number of railroad jobs in recent years has dropped by more than half a million, that a third of the mileage of the country is in receivership, and that many of the principal lines in the country have been earning barely more than their operating costs, if that much.

Freight for the railroads makes employment for railroad workers. The revenues from freight pay railroad wages. The men who work for the railroads have a direct interest, greater even than that of the owners of railroad securities, in bringing about an increase in freight trafic comparable to that achieved by the streamliners in passenger travel.

It is time that railroad labor and railroad management joined in an effort to build the business upon which both are dependent. Management has little political influence in Washington; labor has much. It should be exerted to bring about a change in the commerce act which will permit and encourage railroad companies to bid for customers precisely as other business organizations do. The initiative in rate making should be returned to the railroads, subject to a minimum of interference. Rates so made should be allowed to stand in the absence of proof of real damage resulting from real discrimination.

This solution, though practical, may not appeal to the New Dealers because they believe in more, not less, regulation. Their favorite prescriptions are subsidies and price fixing. Such tried tonics as a reduction in taxation and encouragement to business initiative are not well regarded these days in Washington, yet it is doubtful if any other means of solving the railroad problem can be found.

It may be added that Mr. Roosevelt's appointment of his committee of six is a tardy recognition that something must be done soon or the railroad industry will fall apart. Congress was obliged to waste long months in the fruitless struggle over the court packing and reorganization bills, and during all that period the railroad problem was neglected. Mr. Roosevelt had nothing to offer except a long and somewhat aimless report prepared by interstate commerce commissioners whose recommendations he was all too easily persuaded to put on the shelf. The Republicans in congress declared their willingness to remain in session to attack the transportation problem, but were outvoted.

Mr. Roosevelt's party had no program of relief for the railroads at the time of the adjournment and the appointment of the present committee is evidence that the Democratic leaders have no program now. Perhaps the committee will succeed in providing them with a transportation policy.

AND HOPKINS IS THE GIVER.

Of statements thus far uttered in expounding the political morals of the Roosevelt Spendocrats, one made by Harry L. Hopkins the other day in New Ulm, Minn., is the neatest. Here is the latest Hopkins gem:

"There is nothing wrong in supporting the political group that will give you the most."

This statement by the chief manager of relief in this country should be hung above the President's recent declamation on the immorality of Republicans who vote in Democratic primaries. Hopkins promulgates a broader principle; he doesn't bar Republicans.

Editorial of the Day

FAREWELL TO THE WESTLICHE POST.
[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

The Westliche Post, after chronicling the growth of a nation and a city during the last eighty-one years, has closed its doors, thus marking the end of a St. Louis institution. A German language newspaper, it has been said that it spoke German with a St. Louis accent, since it was so solidly of, by, and for St. Louis. But its constituency thinned as a result of the steady decline of the German speaking population.

The name of the Westliche Post, however, will never be lost in the dusty archives of the historical past. Its genesis is in the revolutionary days of 1848 that drove the liberals out of Germany to a refuge in this country. Among these exiles were Carl Daenzer, the founder of the paper; Emil Preetorius, the Nestor of German-American journalists, and Carl Schurz, who served his adopted country in many high posts. Joseph Pulitzer became a reporter for the Westliche Post in 1868, ten years before he founded the Post-Dispatch. And an innumerable company of young, talented unknowns found their first opportunities in the office of the Westliche Post. Its files will remain as a record of the great rôle that Germans have played in the physical and cultural development of St. Louis.

LOGBOOK OF THE SANDOVAL.

Fulfilling a promise of last week, we will sketch the history of the Sandoval, a trim gunboat which once flew the colors of Spain and is now mudded down in her last berth in Milwaukee. She was a gamecock of the sea, they tell us, and, although she fought on the losing side in one war and served under a new flag in another, she never surrendered.

About fifteen summers ago we saw her, stripped of all metal work that could be unbolted or unscrewed, in the Kalamazoo river near Saugatuck, Mich., tied up to a wooded bank, but apparently deserted. Upon noting her name [after the most knightly member of Cortez's Aztec-killers] and her lines, we said: "Spanish gunboat; probably taken at Manila bay," and went aboard to meditate upon the ironies of history. But our guess was only half right; she had cruised in Cuban and not Philippine waters.

* * *

She sinks at last in inland mire,
Afar from seas and ports exotic;
But she has talked to foes with fire
And known the hearts of crews quixotic.

* * *

There's prairie mud beneath her keel;
But once she cruised the Spanish main
And flew the colors of Castile.

* * *

The Sandoval was built at Clydebank, Scotland, in 1895, for the Spanish navy—a toy man of war, only 110 feet long, but fast, seaworthy, and graceful. During the Cuban rebellion she zipped along the coast, into shallow harbors and up rivers, taking pot shots at the insurrectos and subduing munitions smugglers. She had a leading rôle in one of the first sea skirmishes of the Spanish-American war. The American trans-Atlantic liner St. Louis, armed for naval service, appeared off the harbor of Guantanamo with an auxiliary tug to fish up and cut the cable. The Sandoval sallied out to attack the liner, like a gadfly after a cow, cutting loose with every gun that could be brought to bear. The St. Louis didn't like it for a while, but, having a heavier armament and being aided by quick-firers on the tug, finally drove the Sandoval back to shelter.

* * *

When Guantanamo was taken by the American army the Sandoval withdrew to Caimanera, near by. After the war ended she was found there, scuttled.

She was raised and put into commission in the United States navy. During the world war she belonged to Chicago's own fleet—the vessels that were used to train recruits. Then she was sold to a Milwaukee shipping firm, to make cross-lake cruises in the Michigan fruit trade. She sank at her dock in Milwaukee a few years ago.

She was a spitfire in her day, and it is sad to see the little old lady settling down in the mud.

WORMWOOD OF PEACE.

The world belongs to the warrior—
That truth rings ever and late,
In history's page,
In the words of the sage
And the peace-lover's pitiful fate.

To the hand and heart of the fighter,
To the will that can slaughter or die,
Fall the goods and the gold,
The flocks and the fold,
With dominion of earth and of sky.

Creation shall bow to the killer,
Accepting a suppliant's lot.
The man who will fight,
Be he wrong, be he right,
Shall be ruler of him who will not.

While forever the peace-loving neutral
Fetches the faggots that burn
And, kneeling, disclaims
His friend to the flames—
Patiently waiting his turn!

Indian Summer Glossary.

When Indian summer comes and the famous McCutcheon cartoon is reprinted, you might be interested to know that the French call it "L'été de St. Martin" and the Germans "Altweibersommer." The German name, "Old women's summer," is a folklorish figure of speech based on the spider web filaments and seed fibers that float through the air in autumn, suggesting threads from an old woman's spinning wheel.

Starting an Argument.

"Doc" Monahan, who saw the Henderson extravaganzas as a stagehand in the old Chicago Opera house, says that Russell Thompson is wrong in giving the date of "Aladdin" and May Yohe's debut as 1888. He swears that it was 1887.

PNEUMONIA MAY COME AT ANY TIME.

Most of us regard pneumonia as a winter disease and we associate its occurrence with rainy, sleety days which may bring wet feet. We ordinarily think of the late summer and early autumn as particularly free from this illness, but, strangely enough, a substantial number of pneumonias have been encountered this season. Those in pursuit of recreation at some resort may become overheated, exhausted from too much activity, or be poorly protected should a cool breeze arise.

We may regard inflammation of the lungs, therefore, as a year 'round menace—one which will not afflict the average individual provided he takes pains to maintain resistance; but potentially dangerous if chilling of the body is permitted.

One hundred thousand of our citizens offer up their lives annually as a sacrifice to this malady. As a result there always has been great interest in the methods of fighting the infection and of conserving the patient's strength. The first job of the physician is to relieve pain, to make the sufferer comfortable, and to aid breathing as far as possible. Despite all measures adopted, mortality has been high, ranging from 20 to 40 per cent even under ideal conditions and much greater where good care is not procurable.

For at least twenty-five years attempts have been made to prepare an antitoxin. The older material was not consistently beneficial and its use was well nigh abandoned until recently. It is now safe to say that with purified forms of serum, fatal outcomes can be reduced markedly.

But, you ask, what change has come about? It now is recognized that there are at least thirty-two types of the pneumonia "bug" [the pneumococcus], known as type I., II., III., etc. So far, antitoxin is available against types I., II., V., VII., VIII., and XIV. It is incumbent upon the physician, then, to determine which variety of the germ is present in each instance. Within a short time the laboratory can tell him the type to which the microbes belong. Should it be one of those enumerated, early administration of the antidote is the rule.

Inasmuch as we are introducing into the body a specific neutralizing agent to the poison of the bacteria, time is the essence of cure. The antitoxin is given directly into a vein, therefore, without waiting for absorption from beneath the skin. While its use on the first day of the disease brings a far higher percentage of recoveries, nevertheless it is felt that even later it has real value. Cases have recovered in which as high as 300,000 units or more have been given.

We must recall, however, that the serum is obtained from the blood of horses and it is necessary to test each person for sensitivity before using a large amount. Furthermore, if the patient gives a history of hay fever, asthma, eczema, or hives, it is far wiser to forego the employment of the serum than to risk the onset of shock which sometimes ensues. As is well known, one who has had an injection of horse blood should not take another within three months.

Is there a reaction to this material? Yes, frequently. In fact, it is not unusual for the patient to have a chill with a sizable rise in temperature an hour or two after each dose. If a second "shot" is required, a reduction in the quantity is advised.

We should not forget, however, that good nursing is two-thirds—yes, seven-eighths—of the battle. If the patient can be given enough oxygen so that he will not wear himself out, so that the tissues will be amply supplied with this vital element, we may turn the tide in his favor.

We have no alternative but to regard pneumonia as a serious problem—one which may come with but little warning but which is generally the aftermath of overfatigue or overexposure. The conservation of well being, of a reasonable reserve of health, is the best safeguard we possess.

ASK MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

E. B. writes: I would like to buy a sun lamp [not too expensive] for use in the home during the winter time.

1. What kind should I buy?
2. Can it be used on any part of the body?
3. How long should it be used at one time, either for just a tan or for ailments such as neuritis, rheumatism, etc.?

REPLY.

1. Many so-called sun lamps for home use are without value, because they produce too little ultraviolet. The council on physiotherapy of the American Medical association, Chicago, has evaluated apparatus of this sort. You may write to them.
2. Yes, although the eyes must be fully protected.
3. No fixed dose can be prescribed. It all depends upon the power of the light. With the average equipment, the source of light should be approximately 30 inches from the body and the first exposure not over a half minute.

CAUSES OF CROUP.

V. O. writes:

1. What causes croup?
2. What should be done for it?

REPLY.

1. Among the supposed causes are: "Colds" involving the respiratory passages, too much food and hence indigestion, excitement, and violent emotions. Adenoids and enlarged tonsils may be factors. As a rule, the croupy child is one with a sensitive nervous system. Occasionally vitamins are lacking.
2. The child should receive careful dietetic and hygienic management. The symptom has been banished in many instances through training the child to withstand cold. Light evening meals are advised. A careful medical examination is in order if the condition persists. Adenoids and enlarged tonsils should be removed.

DEPENDS ON CAUSE.

M. writes: Can an ear which has drained on and off for twenty years ever be cured?

REPLY.

It all depends on what is causing the drainage. An ear from which pus is discharging is a serious malady, the care of which should be entrusted only to a skilled ear specialist.

IT DOESN'T MATTER.

B. L. writes: I have been told not to drink milk in the morning after taking orange juice. Is there anything to this idea?

REPLY.

HITLER WOULD COLLECT.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—It might not be a bad idea to have Herr Hitler come over here and run our country for a while.

Can you imagine Britain and France owing Germany an amount such as they owe the United States on the post-war debt, and telling Hitler they could not pay. They might tell him just once, then Hitler would move right in on them.

ROBERT M. CHASE.

UNCLE SAM'S COSTLY OVERSIGHT.

Menasha, Wis., Sept. 18.—I've been interested in an article in the Railway Age concerning the experience of the Chicago Postoffice building in attempting to remove the locomotive smoke and gases. This building, lying at the south approach of the Union station, is 796 feet long by 344 feet wide and extends over fourteen tracks. According to the Railway Age, the federal government agreed to pay and be responsible for the provision and maintenance of an adequate smoke exhaust system above the station tracks. An expensive system was worked out—a plenum chamber with exhaust stacks and mechanical equipment to remove the gases and smoke up through the twelve story building.

After approximately four years of service it was discovered that there had accumulated in the chamber approximately 750 tons of cinders and soot sludge; that there was an unusually severe corrosion of the metal floor hangars. Exposed parts of the mechanical exhaust equipment and much of the concrete fireproofing of the structural members had deteriorated to an alarming degree. When this was discovered in 1936 work was started, which was completed only recently, of removing all of this cinder and soot sludge, replacing 6,670 of the rod floor hangars and replacing of a new multiple pitch water and acid proof floor throughout the smoke chamber. In addition, all of the mechanical ventilating equipment was overhauled. This was all done at the expense of the federal government.

How much the original cost and how much the two years of repair work has cost I do not know. Nor do I know how long the present reconstruction will stand up. It seems to me, however, that if this whole job had been carefully planned and the money, apparently wasted, had been utilized as a partial payment on electrification, the results would have been much better. Possibly the use of Diesel locomotives in the station area would help to remedy the difficulty.

Electrification would make available immediately all of the area above the tracks, both north and south of the station; it would eliminate the smoke nuisance from a large number of inefficient, snorting steam locomotives. If we are looking for projects on which to spend money and to give work to the unemployed, here is one it seems to me would have permanent value.

WHO PASSED THE EXAMS?

Chicago, Sept. 22.—I'm wondering why the students who took the Normal entrance examinations during the summer have not yet been notified whether they passed them successfully? R. B.

MARRIED WOMEN AGAIN.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Did some one say he wanted this so-called recession to come to an end? Why don't the big business men try to coöperate then? I can suggest one sure remedy that would do a great deal for the country today. There should be an absolute stop to married women working, unless they really need it.

I am a single girl and lost my job recently because of a reduction in force. There were four girls in this office that were timekeepers—two single and two married. When the reduction came about they let the single girls go and kept the married women. Both of these women have husbands that are drawing steady incomes. Again I say, why don't the business men coöperate? A. G. P.

IT'S THE EXCESS BAGGAGE.

Anderson, Ind., Sept. 15.—Your correspondents who arise not only to defend the WPA but also its use as a Roosevelt political football would be funny if it was not so pitiful. There's no denying there are lots of honest, hard working men on WPA projects and they deserve all they're getting and more—more because they're really paying for the excess baggage WPA has to carry in the form of useless inspectors, supervisors, straw bosses, incompetent administrative jobholders, and what not, who have picked their political plums from Jim Farley's pet plum orchard. And those are the very things the Republicans and all level headed true Americans who have been purged by the New Dealers are going to rub out—and I mean rub out! "73."

REJECTS OUR SYMPATHY.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Thanks for your sentiments of commiseration accorded to Mexicans in your recent editorial, "Poor Mexico." The truth is, Mexicans are not asking for sympathy from The Tribune.

Mexico and the Mexicans will not only continue existing but will also continue making gigantic strides in their struggle to liberate themselves from the ignominious rule of the capitalistic exploiters. With a clear vision of what they will accomplish in their economic emancipation, Mexicans will be very happy to go to great sacrifices if necessary. And even then Mexicans will not starve, for Mexico is the cornucopia, the horn of plenty for all, not for a few!

C. G. HERNANDEZ.

WHERE SERVICE IS BETTER.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—On a recent visit to Indianapolis, Ind., I was much impressed with the street car service there; no trucks, buses, or autos were allowed to run on street car tracks downtown, with the result that trafic seemed to be orderly, the street cars ran noiselessly and smoothly.

I have been a resident and taxpayer in Chicago for over fifty years, being compelled to use our street cars a great deal.

Surely passengers compelled to patronize our street cars should be given some consideration. TAXPAYER.

CHICAGO FOR CHICAGOANS.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Why are so many employés hired by the city who do not reside in Chicago?

They work in many parts of the city, yet do not live in the city limits. Surely there are enough residents in Chicago capable of doing this work. A law should be passed requiring all employés to be residents of Chicago. TAXPAYER.

MURDER ON THE RADIO.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 22.—I am full of disgusts! They shoot. They stab. They kill. It is getting to the point that my two children of school age cannot eat their dinner for listening to all the bushwaw and gibberish that is continually pouring out of the loud speaker. Kidnapers, murderers, hornets, Hi Ho Silver—bang bang. Police and gangsters constantly struggling to kill each other—so our children can be entertained; so Johnny will want mother to buy a box of hoofen-poofit xles.

It is my firm belief that I am not the only parent that is confronted with this problem. And, now that school has commenced, I am sure that other parents are frantically trying to work out a solution.

We turned off the radio and disconnected the set! Mr. Advertiser—you lost out! A GRAND RAPIDS FATHER.

ESTATE CLAIMS.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Where insurance is payable to the wife [1] can the undertaker demand his bill for services and [2] make her pay for the funeral expenses [3] without notifying the insurance company?

4. My opinion is that the undertaker or any one else who has a claim must file claim.

5. In other words the insurance company must pay the insurance directly to the wife or the person named in the policy.

On money deposited in a bank [6] if the wife is the only one and [7] she has a joint account, [8] must the bank pay the undertaker or [9] is the estate probated and then the undertaker allowed to file claim?

On shares of a loan company where no provision is made by the deceased [husband], [10] is the loan company obliged to pay the undertaker simply on his demand or [11] must the undertaker file his claim when the estate is probated?

P. M.

1. If the wife made the arrangements with him, clearly he should look to her for payment. It is not clear why you ask the question.
2. Yes, see 1.
3. We do not see that the insurance has anything to do with the question on your other facts stated.
4. A party who has a claim only against the deceased, must file it in the probate proceedings but where one of the survivors has entered into a contract after the death of the deceased, we see no reason why the survivor should not be held.
5. Correct.
6 and 7. These statements are inconsistent.
8. It is not clear in what sense you are using the word "must." Technically, the bank cannot be compelled to pay any one without court proceedings.
9. This would be one way to handle it. Your questions appear to be based on misconceptions which are not stated. If you had given us a narrative statement of your facts, we would be in a better position to advise you.
10. In general, any party holding assets standing in the name of a deceased person can insist on probate of the deceased's estate.
11. See foregoing answers.

Test Your Facts

Below each of the following questions are listed three answers. Make your choice, turn to page 33 in the Want Ad section for the correct answers, and mark your score:

1. Where was famous Charter Oak?
[a] Baltimore, Md. [b] Washington, D. C. [a] Hartford, Conn.
2. What is a maharaja?
3. What is the nickname for the bell in the clock tower of Parliament building, London?
4. Who invented the phonograph?

Beg Your Pardon.

Through an error the answer to yesterday's fourth "Test Your Facts" question was omitted. The question was:

What American college introduced the sport of football as we know it?
[a] Yale. [b] Notre Dame. [c] Harvard.

Amateurs Will Do Their Stunts Sunday.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

Airplanes in close formation. Airplanes twisting across the sky in slow rolls, snap rolls, loops, hammerhead turns, and in spins. These sights have been associated with warfare or with aerial meets in which the country's most daring flyers gather to thrill vast audiences.

But Sunday afternoon at the First Amateur Air show to be held at Harlem airport, 87th street and Harlem avenue, the same thrilling gyrations may be seen. Instead of professional chance takers or highly trained military aviators, the pilots will be the men and women of the middle west who make flying their hobby.

Limited to Small Planes.

And instead of high powered special stunting planes they will be flying their own little monoplanes with engines delivering less power than your automobile motor. The show, in fact, is limited to machines with a maximum of 50 horse power.

The air meet was organized by the flyers themselves for sport. It is a nonprofit venture and no admission will be charged. Prizes for winners of the competitive events have been given by Air Associates, the Borden-Wieland Milk company, Andrew Gluck, and the Heileman Brewing company.

Other sponsors are Judge Edward B. Casey of the Municipal court, Maj. Edward M. Brower, the Snyder Air-Craft company, and Ham Kunath of Sky Harbor airport. The prizes will consist of airplane accessories. The Standard Oil company will supply gasoline and oil for all contestants.

All competitive events will be of the safe and sane variety. Flyers of little experience will be graded on a take-off, the execution of several turns over the airport and a landing.

Landing Competitions Planned.

More experienced pilots will compete in landings to a mark with motors throttled and again in landing to a forty foot circle. There will be competitions for commercial flyers in landing over obstructions. The man to put his machine down closest to the obstruction—a wall of balloons—will win.

Then there will be parachute jumping, and paper cutting and balloon bursting in the little airplanes. Several small airplane demonstrators will stunt their machines. There will be several crazy flying events and a take-off and climb competition.

Seventy pilots have entered fifty small planes. The show will begin at 1 p. m. and continue until sundown.

WPA ROAD CREW DEMANDS FREE RIDES TO WORK

Belvidere, Ill., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—A disagreement between Belvidere township officials and district WPA heads concerning transportation for some fifty men assigned to start work on a $126,000 county-wide road improvement project, resulted today in the work being held up. Led by Supervisor John Fair, township officials demanded the men be given transportation to and from work. The WPA office at Rockford insisted that the men furnish their own or go back on straight relief. Another conference is scheduled tomorrow on the question. It was announced at relief headquarters today that the number of families now on the rolls has reached an all-time high in Boone county, with twenty-three more being added so far this month.

DEPORTATION OF BRIDGES WAITS ON HIGH COURT

Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Secretary Perkins reaffirmed today the labor department's intention to delay deportation proceedings against Harry Bridges until after the Supreme court acts on a similar case.

Bridges, a native of Australia and now C. I. O.'s west coast leader, was served with a deportation warant last March by the labor department's immigration service. He was charged in the warant with being a communist, but he denied any such affiliation.

Since the service of the warant the case has been at a standstill. Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.] of the house committee investigating un-American activities has, among others, protested the delay.

Wife of School Official Shot to Death in Hotel

Danville, Ill., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Mrs. Mary Wilson, 35 years old, estranged wife of the superintendent of schools at Potomac, Ill., was found shot to death in a hotel room today. A pistol was found near her body. The police said Mrs. Wilson was separated from her husband, Robert S. Wilson, whom she recently had sued for separate maintenance.

38 Workers Cash Checks, Then Lose Pay to Bandits

Thirty-eight employes of the Payson Manufacturing company, 2916 Jackson boulevard, yesterday lost their week's salaries totaling $700 to three bandits. The robbers held up a group of employes who had pust cashed the checks at a nearby bank.

ACT TO PROHIBIT HIGH BUILDINGS IN AIRPORT DISTRICT

The city council committee on buildings and zoning yesterday recommended the passage of a proposed ordinance to rezone the area around Chicago airport. The measure, first proposed in 1931, would reduce the maximum height of buildings in the vicinity of the field from 132 feet under the present ordinance to sixty-six feet.

Passage of the measure, it was pointed out, will protect the city's investment in the airport. It will prevent property owners from erecting structures near the field that would be dangerous for the tenants and for every plane that uses the airport. The proposed law will be submitted to the council next Monday.

The new ordinance would affect the area within one-third of a mile of the airport tract that it bounded by 55th and 63d streets, Cicero and Central avenues.

WPA GROUP MAPS ITS OBJECTIVES IN 1938'S ELECTIONS

Cleveland, O., Sept. 22.—(AP)—The national executive board of the Workers' alliance declared today "The relief issue has become a national scandal," and emphasized its plan to make WPA wages a "political issue in the 1938 elections."

The board's report will be submitted to the alliance convention, opening here tomorrow.

The board outlined the following objectives for the alliance: 3,500,000 WPA public works jobs next year; liberalization of requirements for WPA employment; wage increases; federal unemployment assistance aid to the states; "establishment of an adequate and just system of labor relations on the works program"; "massing of the political power of the unemployed together with other progressive forces for the success of the progressive New Deal candidates in the 1938 election."

LEGION DEMANDS AMERICA BE KEPT FOR AMERICANS

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Adopting an all-embracing program designed to keep "America for Americans," the 20th annual convention of the American Legion adjourned today after electing Stephen J. Chadwick of Seattle, Wash., national commander by acclamation.

S. J. Chadwick.

Adequate national defense, stricter immigration laws, continuation of the child welfare program, deportation of aliens, opposition to all 'isms' but Americanism, and a reaffirmation of the Legion's policy of seeking a universal draft law in time of war which would draft money, labor, and man power. All were voted by acclamation except the universal draft law.

The draft law motion brought in by the legislative committee stipulated the method the Legion would employ to enforce such a law. In committee one dissenting vote was recorded and it resulted in a substitute motion which, after considerable discussion, carried. In it, congress was left to decide how to muster all the country's facilities.

Propose Humboldt Park as Site of New Armory

The new Illinois National Guard armory, to have been located in Garfield park, may be built instead in Humboldt park, George T. Donoghue, general superintendent of the park district, said yesterday. The shift will be considered by the park board next Tuesday. Engineers are now staking out a tentative location in Humboldt park on the southeast corner of North and Kedzie avenues.

A Door Closed Softly

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright, 1938. By Alice Ormond Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

David Beddoes, young American, accompanies his cousin, Alison, to a party at Lady Wibbe's. David's thoughts are mostly concerned about Betsy, his former love, now living in England, though he knows not where. By accident the two stumble into the wrong house. While they are talking to the spinsterish woman, who receives them, they hear a woman scream and a body fall. The spinster explains it is a parrot. But at the party next door young Penelope Wibbe says their strange next door neighbors have no parrot.

INSTALMENT V.
AN UNFORGOTTEN LOVE.

Alison looked at David as he sat hunched forward, chin moodily supported by his hands. He seemed to hug some secret, in a jealous, touch-me-not fashion quite foreign to him.

She sank into the armchair beside him. "Nice to be home, isn't it? Don't you adore this room in the firelight? So warm, so comforting . . . Not a bad party, was it? Quite a brilliant stroke getting in that psychic-person. Ever notice how every human soul from a typist to a mathematician falls heavily for having his fortune told? She was quite good, you know—dug out a number of things that are happening to me."

Alison rubbed the cheek she suspected of reddening, but she need not have bothered. David was not glancing her way.

"David," she resumed, "I don't know if you heard me talking to Cynthia Wibbe's secretary—Miss Dearling. I hadn't noticed her till tonight, which explains my mixing her up with the nondescript woman next door. Actually, of course, they aren't the least alike. Anyhow, I found out all she knew about the neighbors. The house till recently belonged to two old sisters. They died. Then a short time ago these three people moved in. Took it partly furnished, just as it was . . . David! Are you asleep?"

"No, carry on . . ."

"Well, Miss Dearling saw them arrive—in quite a good car. A youngish man and two women, one of them all muffled up and carried indoors. That one, it seems, never goes out at all, and every day or so a doctor calls. It was she, of course, who screamed, though what's wrong with her . . . Did you say anything?"

The sound David had made was not repeated. Alison continued.

"No one besides the doctor ever goes near the place. No friends, no servants except that doddering old man we saw—and no parrot. At least, if there is one it's funny never to have been seen or heard. The only thing they brought besides luggage was a grand piano. Came in a van, a big to do hauling it in. Miss Dearling says you can't think how odd it sounds in a house just like a tomb to hear some one upstairs playing most brilliantly, just like a professional. Whoever it is has a way of breaking off in the middle of a Bach fugue and plunging straight into one of the more incomprehensible moderns. Then again it just ends in a crash. Think it's the ill woman, part genius and part lunatic?"

David pondered sourly—or was he not listening at all?

"Not, anyhow, the one who jibbered at us," he muttered after a pause. "She's cuckoo if you like, but I'll swear she's no genius. What is she—some kind of housekeeper?"

Alison, considering, shook her head with conviction.

"Housekeeper or not, she's a lady. A sap, but well-bred. How do I know? Her voice, her accent—unmistakable, when you've got used to the English, as I have. As for the goofy way she acted—well, to begin with she was utterly at sea, just like us, and that put her at a disadvantage.

"There may, of course, have been another reason for her jitters. And she was slimy—you thought so, didn't you?—like some poor cringing slave. No joking, Dave," here Alison dropped her voice, "there was a perfectly horrid feeling about everything. Something wrong, evil!"

She controled a shudder—and unexpectedly laughed.

"I can't say the man, by his description, fits at all into the picture. Miss Dearling sees him going in and out quite frequently—tall, lithe, extremely good looking. When she spoke of his impatient stride and the cut of his clothes I could have sworn she was developing a romantic passion!"

"O? That was an item I missed." For the first time David betrayed interest, showing that he had taken in all the secretary had said.

Alison stifled a yawn. She was summoning energy to rise and rip off the divan cover so her guest could occupy his temporary bed. David, however, had reached his pipe from the mantel, and by the way he fingered it seemed meditating further remarks. "So what?" she asked idly, and then, as nothing came, "David, do get it out!"

"Just wondering. Since you landed this side have you had any news at all of . . . Elizabeth Greentree?"

Blankly she stared. What an utter tangent! She reshaped her thoughts.

"What, little Betsy Greentree?" She rubbed her nose. "No, why should I? I only knew her as a kid running round Woods Hole in the summer months, and that was ages ago. I'd nearly forgotten her, in fact. Let's see, though—didn't she marry?"

"Some Englishman—yes." It was an indistinct mumble. "Met him, I suppose, in the south of France where she went with Fanny Rush right after her father got killed. Neither she nor Fanny's been home since that time. I assumed Elizabeth, anyway, was in England."

"If so, I've not heard. Yes, I'm recalling it now—the big coming-out binge, on the very eve of the 'plane smash. Not that I got a bid. As I'm saying, I looked on Betsy as an infant in arms. Nice child, of course—and my, could she swim! In her little one-piece suit, those times when she asked us up to her private beach, streaking through the water like . . ."

"Like a dog-fish. O, I remember!"

"So shy, too. Not much like a millionaire's daughter, was she? Something very feminine and appealing about her—and more than a promise of good looks. I expect she's blossomed considerably when she made her formal bow. David! Unless I'm dreaming, you were asked to her debut. Did you turn up?"

"O, yes! The usual unholy mob," he said haltingly. "No air to breathe, rivers of champagne. The crash hadn't come—I'm referring to the financial one—or if old Greentree knew the position he hadn't let on."

"I suppose you didn't get a look in on her?"

"You're wrong. I snitched four dances."

"Well, well!" Alison pricked cousinly ears. "You seem to have pulled your stuff. Was that occasion hail and farewell?"

"Not quite." David tugged at his pipe. "Next morning I sneaked her off up Westchester way. She cut a luncheon party to go. We drove to . . ."

"Pilgrim's Haven," supplied Alison dryly. "I know, we were all going there then. You ate little-neck clams. So you mean to tell me you were the young Lochinvar to Nathan Greentree's one and only child and have kept mum about it? Next you'll be saying you proposed to her. Did you?"

He flinched. "Me? And what had I got to justify a proposal to any girl, let alone Elizabeth Greentree? I still thought she was an heiress—naturally."

"Then the love flight ended in midair."

Unmoved by the flippance David stated that he had not set eyes on Elizabeth again. "That same evening," he went on grimly, "the extras were out about her father's death— and on top of that came the appalling hullabaloo of the Greentree bankruptcy. The death wasn't suicide. Old Nathan had fight in him, and if he'd lived might have pulled things together.

"It broke Elizabeth, though—losing him, I mean, for I don't think she bothered an awful lot about the money. Probably, though I never heard, she'd enough left to be comfortable on. Be that as it may, before the press had stopped shouting she and her mad-hatter aunt had chased off to Europe, and that was that. Till Elizabeth got married."

"And since?"

"Not a word. If any person in New York has a notion what's become of Elizabeth I've yet to track him down."

He had been trying, evidently. With a covert glance Alison remarked that the matter was not so very strange.

"New life, new circle of friends. The aunt, though. Doesn't she write?"

HAROLD TEEN—THOSE OLD DOGS DO BARK

WHOLESALE FOOD CHEAPER; RETAIL BARGAINS ON WAY

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Central food market reports carry good news for consumers. Wholesale prices of fruits, vegetables and meats are going down for the second week. This is considered a forerunner to lower prices in retail groceries and meat markets.

Although these lower trends are not reflected fully yet on the various items in neighborhood shopping districts, price tags are being marked down on many retail items and more reductions are expected soon. Lower prices on the green grocers' counters are beginning to fall in line with the price cuts on the central markets.

Apples, Grapes Cheaper.

Cooking apples, tokay grapes, summer squashes, brussels sprouts, cranberries and bunch beets are among the vegetables marked down. [Cranberries went up in the wholesale market, however, following reports of storm damage in Massachusetts.] Housewives will have little trouble in finding head lettuce at 1 to 2 cents a head lower and green peas at 1 to 2 cents a pound less.

The big citrus fruit crop on the Pacific coast is holding down prices of lemons and oranges. Lemons are off 6 cents a dozen in many stores, and some are offering oranges at 2 cents a dozen under last week's prices.

How About a Steak?

Steaks are offered at bargain prices in one or more shops in almost every trading center in the city and suburbs for today and tomorrow. Where prices have been reduced, round steak is down 4 cents a pound, sirloin 7 cents a pound, and porterhouse 10 cents a pound. Pork loin roasts can be found at 2 cents a pound under prices asked a week ago. Some have cut their cured ham 4 cents a pound and leg of lamb 2 cents a pound.

Shops that had beef pot roasts on sale at greatly reduced prices last week-end have marked them up again, in some cases as much as 6 cents a pound.

Beef rib roasts are reduced 2 to 4 cents a pound in some shops and raised an equal amount in others. Frying chickens are 1 to 4 cents a pound cheaper in some and up 4 cents a pound in other shops.

Fish are higher. This advance is due in part to the increased demand for fish to be used during the Jewish New Year's holiday season, which begins Sunday night. Perch, pike, trout, and whitefish are 2 to 5 cents a pound higher in many shops.

Many of the foods marked up by retail merchants for today and tomorrow are in stores that held bargain sales last Friday and Saturday. For example, sugar has been marked up 3 cents for a 10 pound sack in stores that had sales. Where coffee of the lower grades was on the bargain counters last week prices have been raised 2 cents a pound. Stores that had flour on sale have raised their prices as much as 10 cents on a 24½ pound bag. Some have reduced their lower grades of flour 4 cents a sack.

Carrot Supply Runs Low.

Carrots are a little higher because the local supply is running low. Most shipments of carrots are now coming from California. Fresh tomatoes continue to go higher because the home grown crop is dwindling rapidly. Recent rains injured the local crop and boosted wholesale prices. Cucumbers are much higher than a week ago; some merchants have almost doubled their prices.

It is near the end of the peach harvesting season. Peaches still are available, but are higher. Cantaloupes and wax beans are higher.

Most live stock and wholesale meat prices are lower than last week. The biggest drop has been in pork loins, the lighter loins bringing $3 to $3.50 a hundred pounds less than a week ago.

RECTOR TELLS SUNDAY OF A VEGETABLE DISH WITH WHIPPED CREAM

Patrons of Rector's café were wont to marvel at one of the specialties of the famous restaurant which appeared on the menu as vegetable panache. In three of its ingredients—layers of fresh, green vegetables—it was common as grass. But only Rector's would have dared think of adding the transforming touch to a vegetable dish: a topping of whipped cream, just stiff enough to hold its shape and yet seep down through the vegetables.

You may have this delightful dish on your own table, for in the woman's section of next SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE George Rector will give the recipe in detail.

The celebrated chef will discuss amusing differences between English and French cuisines, and for good measure will make known recipes for other dishes of which he is particularly proud: Broiled halibut, maitre d'hotel, onion soup au gratin, and fillet of sole, dore.

SOY BEANS, OLD IN FAR EAST, ARE STILL NEW TO US

Those fuzzy green pods that look like short, over-grown beans, now coming into the market are fresh soy beans. They are a new vegetable to us, though they've been eaten in the orient for hundreds of years.

The beans when shelled look like tiny green lima beans, and have a rich nut-like flavor. Their crisp texture is retained even after cooking.

The beans are difficult to shell when raw, but after a short cooking period can be hulled easily. If the beans are to be baked or reheated with other vegetables, it is simplest to pre-cook them in the shell.

BUTTERED SOY BEANS.

Wash beans and cut off stem end of pods. Drop into boiling water and boil 5 minutes. Dip in cold water and shell. Drop into boiling salted water and cook until tender, 15 to 20 minutes. Serve hot, with butter, salt, and pepper.

BAKED SOY BEANS WITH TOMATO SAUCE.

3 cups pre-cooked soy beans
2 tablespoons butter, melted
1 tablespoon finely minced onion
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups canned tomatoes
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

To pre-cook soy beans, wash and cut off stem ends. Drop into boiling water and cook 15 minutes. Dip in cold water and hull. To prepare tomato sauce, cook the onion and green pepper in the melted butter for 3 minutes. Then blend in flour. Add tomatoes slowly, stirring in carefully to make a smooth sauce. Add seasonings, extra salt if desired, and cook until thickened. Combine sauce with soy beans and pour into greased casserole. Top with buttered crums and bake in a 400 degree oven for about 20 minutes or until crums are browned.

MACKEREL IS OFTEN OVERLOOKED, SO HERE IS A SPECIAL DISH

Canned mackerel, which is good to eat and inexpensive, is often overlooked in favor of the more widely known salmon. One especially good mackerel dish is this soufflé.

MACKEREL SOUFFLE.

[Serves 6.]

3 cups shredded canned mackerel
4 tablespoons butter
⅓ cup flour
2 cups milk
3 eggs, separated
Salt and pepper

Make a white sauce of the butter, flour, and milk, stirring constantly to prevent lumping, and cook until thick and creamy. Add seasonings to taste. Add the fish, egg yolks beaten until thick, and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Place mixture in hot buttered baking dish. Place in pan of water and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or until firm and browned.

Tasty Chicken and Fish Loaf Is Simple to Make

If you have a can of tuna fish and a can of chicken soup on the pantry shelf, hustle out to the kitchen and tie on your apron—you'll want to make this tasty fish and chicken loaf for lunch or supper.

TUNA FISH-CHICKEN LOAF.

[Serves 4 to 5.]

1 can condensed chicken soup
1 small can tuna fish
1½ cups soft bread crums
1 tablespoon pimiento, chopped
1 tablespoon parsley, chopped
2 eggs, unbeaten

Strain the rice, celery, and chicken from the condensed chicken soup. Combine them with tuna fish and put through food chopper. Mix with bread crums, soup liquid, pimiento, parsley, and unbeaten eggs. Put into a greased loaf pan and bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees] 45 to 60 minutes or until firm.

Girl Saves Two Babies When Farm Home Burns

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Helen Gibson, 11 years old, saved the lives of her brother, Martin, 2, and a sister, Rose Ann, 4 months old, when fire swept the Gibson farm home on Centerville road near here this morning. Helen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gibson, were in the barn milking when the fire started.

SMITTY—THE DETECTOR

VILLAGE OF 1,000 FEEDS 15,000 AT KRAUT FESTIVAL

Forreston, Ill., Sep. 22.—[Special.]—This village of less than 1,000 population was host today to 15,000 persons at its twenty-sixth annual sauerkraut festival. Seventeen kegs of kraut and hundreds of pounds of weiners were served free to the crowds by a crew of volunteer cooks. The first sauerkraut festival was held Oct. 2, 1913. The idea was originated by Justus Degraff, a Forreston resident.

PUT UP SOME PRESERVES NOW OR PINE LATER

All kinds of sandwiches, from party to hearty, have been compiled in Mary Meade's booklet, "The New Sandwich Maker." It will be mailed for 5 cents in stamps, or can be picked up for 3 cents at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Address mail requests to Mary Meade.

BY MARY MEADE.

Not many days are left in which to complete summer and fall preserving and pickling. It's a matter of turning the kitchen into a canning factory now or resigning ourselves to being without a goodly supply of homemade relishes and jams.

Today's recipes are a few of those which are most called for right now and which will be popular for several weeks to come.

Green Tomato Mincemeat

3 pounds green tomatoes, chopped
3 pounds apples, chopped
2 pounds raisins
1 cup suet
1 cup vinegar
4 pounds [8 cups] brown sugar
2 tablespoons salt
2 tablespoons ground cinnamon
2 teaspoons ground cloves
1 tablespoon ground nutmeg
Ground rind of 1 orange

Drain chopped tomatoes well. Measure the drained off juice and replace it with an equal amount of fresh water. Bring tomatoes to a boil, then drain. Repeat the process of adding water, scalding, and draining. Then add remaining ingredients and cook the mixture until thick and clear. Pour into clean, hot jars and seal.

October Special Relish

2 medium heads cabbage
8 medium carrots
8 green or sweet red peppers
12 medium onions
⅓ cup salt
1⅓ quarts vinegar
6 cups sugar
1 teaspoon mustard seed
1 teaspoon celery seed

Grind all vegetables, add salt, and let stand for two hours. Drain and add vinegar, sugar, mustard, and celery seed. Seal in clean jars.

GRAPE OR WILD GRAPE JELLY

Wash and stem Concord grapes. Place in a preserving kettle, crush, and add ½ cup water for each 2 cups grapes. Cook until pulpy and seeds are free. Extract juice through a jelly bag, letting it drip naturally. Do not squeeze the bag. Let the juice stand for a day so that sediment may settle out. This will prevent formation of tartaric acid crystals in the finished jelly. Pour the juice carefully from the sediment and bring to a boil in a kettle. Add ¾ cup sugar for each cup of grape juice and boil rapidly over high heat until the sirup sheets from the edge of a spoon. Skim and pour into sterilized glasses. Paraffin at once.

GRAPE AND CRABAPPLE JAM

Wash Concord grapes and discard poor ones. Place in a kettle and add water to about a third the depth of the grapes. Cook for about 30 minutes, gently, and strain through a jelly bag. Measure the juice and add an equal amount of diced crabapples. Bring the mixture to a boil and add two-thirds as much sugar as combined apples and juice. Boil rapidly until thick and clear. Pour into clean, hot jars and seal.

YUMMY! THAT'S JUST THE WORD FOR ALASKAS

No prettier or yummier party dessert could be imagined than individual pineapple alaskas. The alaskas are slices of pineapple topped with a dipper of ice cream and covered with meringue which is browned under the broiler.

INDIVIDUAL PINEAPPLE ALASKAS.
[Serves 4.]

4 slices canned or fresh pineapple
1 pint ice cream
3 egg whites
6 tablespoons sugar
Shredded coconut

Place pineapple slices on oven-proof platter or in glass baking dish. Top each slice with dipper of ice cream. Spread with meringue made of beaten egg white and sugar and sprinkle with shredded coconut. Put under hot broiler for 1 or 2 minutes or until delicately browned, and serve immediately.

SOMETHING NEW IS FOUND IN PIE; IT'S PRUNE WHIP!

Prune whip, that good old dessert standby, makes its new fall appearance in the form of a pie. It looks and tastes extra scrumptious served this way.

PRUNE WHIP PIE.

2 egg whites
¾ cup sugar
¾ cup nutmeats, chopped
1 pound prunes, cooked, pitted and chopped
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Baked pie shell
Whipped cream

Beat egg white until stiff. Beat in sugar gradually, and add nuts and prunes, folding all together lightly. Add lemon juice. Turn into baked pie shell and bake 30 minutes in a moderate [350 degree] oven. Chill and serve with whipped cream.

NOW IS THE TIME TO TAKE CARE OF LUSCIOUS GRAPES

Clusters of rich purple Concord grapes are now making their bow to Chicago housewives. Grapes are almost too pretty to eat but that probably won't stop any woman from using them in pies, desserts and salads now, and putting them up for future use.

Grapes are seldom canned because of the difficulty of removing seeds. It is much easier to put up grape juice or make the fruit into jelly. The grape juice may be made into pies later.

Grape juice may be canned uncooked. This method gives an exceptionally clear juice, but since it requires a great number of jars, many women prefer to extract the juice from the fruit by cooking. Juice made by either method will keep well if jars are properly sterilized and sealed.

GRAPE AND LIME COCKTAIL.
[Serves 4]

1 1-3 cups grape juice
1-3 cup lime juice
1-3 cup lemon juice

Mix fruit juices and pour over ice cubes in cocktail glasses.

GRAPE FRAPPE.

2 cups sugar
1 quart water
¼ cup lemon juice
¾ cup orange juice
2 cups grape juice

Combine sugar and water and boil five minutes. Add strained fruit juices and cool. Turn into refrigerator freezing trays and let chill until mushy, stirring occasionally to allow mixture to crystalize evenly. Serve in frappé glasses or punch cups.

GRAPE JUICE WALDORF SALAD.

1 package lemon flavored gelatin
1 pint grape juice
1 cup chopped unpeeled apple
¼ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped nut meats
½ cup orange segments

Heat one cup of grape juice to boiling point and dissolve gelatin in it. Add remaining grape juice and chill. When partially congealed add remaining ingredients. Chill until firm.

GRAPE JUICE PIE.

1 pint grape juice
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
1 tablespoon butter
1 baked pie shell

Place grape juice in top of double boiler and bring to scalding point. Blend cornstarch with the sugar and then mix with one whole egg and two yolks, beaten all together. Add this mixture and the butter to grape juice and when well blended and thick pour into a baked pastry shell. Make a meringue of the two remaining egg whites and ¼ cup sugar. Spread over top of pie and brown lightly in a 350 degree oven.

COOKED GRAPE JUICE.

Use well ripened grapes. Pick over and wash. Boil, barely covered with water, until seeds are free. Strain through cheesecloth bag without squeezing. Measure juice and heat to boiling point. Add ½ cup sugar to each quart juice. Boil for five minutes. Fill hot sterilized jars to top and seal immediately.

UNCOOKED GRAPE JUICE.

Wash and stem firm, ripe grapes. Measure and place 1 cup grapes into each sterilized jar. Add 1 cup sugar and fill jar to top with boiling water. Seal tightly, immediately. Cool thoroughly, then invert jars several hours before storing. Store for six weeks before using.

MACAROONS MADE OF PEANUT BUTTER, CORNFLAKES DELICIOUS

Have you tried macaroons made with peanut butter and corn flakes? They're delicious, easily made, and a little more on the substantial side than most macaroons.

PEANUT BUTTER MACAROONS.

2 egg whites
¾ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon almond extract
2 cups corn flakes
⅓ cup peanut butter

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold in sugar gradually. Add flavoring. Fold in corn flakes and peanut butter. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto a greased baking sheet. Bake in moderately hot [375 degrees] oven for about 20 minutes.

LARGEST MAKERS OF FINE SOAPS IN THIS COUNTRY NOW ANNOUNCE:

NOW ... a Startling Suds Improvement that Banishes Ugly, Color-dimming Soap Scum for good! Restores fine Silks, Rayons and Woolens to True Freshness!

HEAPS OF ACTIVE SUDS! In hardest water Dreft makes 5 times more suds than any fine fabric soap you ever used! That means economy. And, just as important, it also means heaps of suds to help you wash stockings and all fine washables without unnecessary rubbing.

HAVE you wondered why your fine fabrics get that "washed-out" look so quickly?

Why—after several washings—especially in hard water—stockings begin to look cottony, streaky? Why silk and rayon colors seem so dull and cloudy? Why fine woolens begin to feel coarse and stiff?

Blame it on filmy, color-dimming SCUM ... left by soap washings! Now—amazing as it sounds—washing these same garments in Dreft will remove every trace of soap scum ... bring back soap-dulled colors to their true brightness and help keep them that way! In hardest water Dreft forms absolutely no scum!

Soap scum only "buries" fabric colors. Actual fading is a far more serious menace ... and it's the alkalinity in all soapsuds that fades most colors. Dreft suds, however, are absolutely non-alkaline! So—"safe in water" means positively safe in Dreft!

In short, Dreft offers such remarkable advantages, it shouldn't be classed as "soap." We simply say—a new way to wash fine fabrics. And, the very first time you use Dreft—you'll say: "A far, far better way!" Procter & Gamble.

BETTER FOR ALL FINE WOOLENS! Baby's woolens, and yours, too, stay softer because Dreft forms or leaves no scum to coarsen and stiffen delicate wool fibers. And you always have plenty of suds at just the right water temperature to guard against shrinkage!

HOW YOUR DISHES WILL SPARKLE! By themselves—without toweling or polishing—Dreft-washed dishes and glasses dry sparkling clean! With never a trace of stubborn, filmy soap scum! And Dreft, being a fine fabric suds is, of course, safe for your hands.

L. D. COFFMAN, U. OF MINNESOTA PRESIDENT, DIES

Former Faculty Member at Urbana, Ill.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Lotus Delta Coffman, president of the University of Minnesota since 1921, died of a heart ailment at his home here tonight. He was 63 years old.

L. D. Coffman.

Dr. Coffman was professor of education at the University of Illinois when he was called to Minnesota as dean of the college of education. Six years later he became president.

A prolific author on educational subjects, he also found time for the presidency of numerous educators' organizations. During his régime at Minnesota, the university made great strides in enrollment and in its research work and building program.

Dr. Coffman leaves his widow, Mary Emma Farrell Coffman, and a son and daughter, William M. Coffman and Mrs. Catherine Farrell Kundtson.

A. W. SAVAGE DIES BY OWN BULLET; MAKER OF RIFLES

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Arthur W. Savage, 83 years old, inventor and founder of the Savage Arms company of Utica, N. Y., was found dead here today from a bullet wound. A pistol was at his side. A note said, "This act is due to the unbearable pain I have suffered from continued illness."

Savage placed on the market the first hammerless repeating rifle. He also designed the first smokeless sporting rifle, known as the Savage 303. Among his other inventions were firearms bought by the Hartley & Graham Co. and a variety of other guns.

Born in Jamaica, West Indies, in 1857, the son of John and Jane Henderson Savage, he went to England for his education. Savage then sailed for Australia, where he was engaged in cattle business for eleven years. There he was married to Anne Bryant.

He returned to Jamaica and was the owner of a coffee plantation for two years. In 1888 he came to New York City. Shortly thereafter Savage arrived in Utica, where he organized the Savage Arms company for the manufacture of his inventions.

MAIL OUT FIRST AAA CHECKS TO FARMERS OCT. 15

A light sprinkling of government checks may be sent to farmers in some counties in Illinois shortly after Oct. 15 for compliance with this year's federal farm program, an announcement from the Agricultural Adjustment administration headquarters at Champaign said yesterday. The first checks are likely to go to Ford county, where the work of inspecting compliance reports is proceeding faster than in other counties. Schuyler, Livingston, and Ogle counties are expected to be next, the report said. At least 25 per cent of the summaries on farms requesting inspection in any county must be completed before any can be forwarded to the state office for certification.

BERWYN REALTY DEALER SOUGHT ON FRAUD CHARGE

West suburban constables were searching yesterday for George Kotaska, a real estate dealer with offices at 6752 Cermak road, Berwyn. A warant charging him with embezzlement was obtained Monday by Mrs. Anna Vosmik, 2119 South 58th court, Cicero. She told Justice of the Peace David R. Mandell of Berwyn that she gave Kotaska $2,000 for use in a property deal. She alleged he did not complete the transaction and has now disappeared with her money.

$12,000 Drive to Remove 40 Boards on Church Doors

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Forty boards were nailed across windows and doors of the Broadway Methodist Episcopal church today as members of the congregation launched a drive to raise $12,000 to prevent closing of the church. The building will go under the auctioneer's hammer unless $12,000 is raised by midnight Sunday. A board will be removed for each $300 raised. A $20,000 mortgage was foreclosed last May, but the congregation has been given an opportunity to settle for $12,000.

RETIRED FARMER DIES.

N., and Mary Ann Ridgely Simpson, died this morning at her home here following a long illness. She was a musician. She was born in Newport, R. I., Jan. 7, 1862, and had made her home here since 1889.

Richard Kelly.

New York, Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Richard Kelly, former president of R. Hoe & Co., Inc., manufacturers of newspaper printing presses, died of a heart ailment today in his home, the Bronx. Mr. Kelly had been ill for about a month. He was 69 years old.

A 'BOO' JOSTLES BOOR IN SHORTS FROM A BOO-ERY

The bathing season is over, but for several days young women and girls promenading along the lake front near Waveland avenue have been frightened by a mysterious Tarzan, wearing bathing trunks, swinging in the trees, and yelling "Boo!" at them.

Three of them were so frightened last night that they complained to Lincoln Park Policeman William Montague. He stood under the trees where the Tarzan had last been seen and yelled "Boo!" loudly.

Down tumbled Robert Pastorel, 18 years old, 2122 Addison street, clad in shorts. He said he had been booing the girls for a laugh. "Boy, did I have fun!" he told Desk Sergeant Harold Jacob. The desk sergeant booked him for disorderly conduct.

ZOO ORDERS SIX GIBBONS, FITTED WITH BAGPIPES!

Six of the noisiest animals on earth will be at Brookfield zoo some time late in October. They are siamangs and they are really black gibbons with special equipment.

Their noise making ability results from a peculiar black appendage under their chins. This is connected with the larynx and expands as the siamang breathes in. When he breathes out with a yell the sac works like a bagpipe and gives him what the zoo press agent describes modestly as "great vocal power."

With the six siamangs will be twenty regular gibbons. They're all close relatives of the gorilla, the orang, and the chimpanzee and fly through the air with the greatest of ease.

How we pause and think of you
And think of how you died.
To think you could not say good-by
Before you closed your eyes.
No one knows the silent heartaches;
Only those who have loved can tell.
O the grief that is borne in silence
For our dear Theresa we loved so well.

1937 REALTY TAX PAYMENTS REACH MILLION A DAY

Payments on the final instalment of 1937 real estate taxes are now averaging $1,000,000 a day, County Treasurer Horace G. Lindheimer reported yesterday. The 1937 payments now aggregate $73,390,861, leaving a balance of $67,458,709 due. Final payments must be made by Oct. 1 to avoid the penalty.

Lindheimer urged taxpayers to make payments by mail if possible to avoid delay, but warned against sending currency in letters. A loudspeaker system has been installed in the cashier's office, that the taxpayers may be directed to the place to pay when they enter.

YOUNG MOTHER QUITS HUSBAND, THEN VANISHES

Hyde Park police began a search yesterday for Mrs. Florence Beiwer, 20 years old. She is the mother of an infant son. She disappeared from the home of her mother, Mrs. Josephine Durbin, 4065 Ellis avenue, five days ago.

Mrs. Beiwer left her husband, Jacques Beiwer, 39 years old, an optician, in Matteson, six weeks ago. She brought her son, John, eight months old, and came to live with her mother.

The police report says the young wife and mother left "in the company of George Wade, 21 years old, 1721 Thorndale avenue." Wade was described by Mrs. Durbin as her daughter's former sweetheart.

ABSURDITIES.

A new game "Absurdities" by the inventor Bill Keith. It consists in offering absurd answers to given questions. Thus:

Question: If you were a movie director and were casting for the rôle of a big, open-hearted, generous man, what public figure would you name for the rôle?

Answer: Neville Chamberlain. He has proved his generosity with other people's property.

FASHION NOTE.

The girls are using bear grease to keep the neat upsweep of their high coiffures—a new version of the kind another generation used to slick down the hair for churchgoing. Deodorized, faintly lemon scented, it comes in little bottles like smelling salts for purse toting. First b'ar grease user in town is Marge Kerr, radio publicity writer, who brought eight bottles back from a trip.

Links Forgan Nuptials to Pioneer Era

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE marriage tomorrow of Miss Margaret Louise Forgan and Robert Bradford Upham Jr. will be an occasion of especial sentiment and significance to the bride's family, and to old Chicagoans, for it was just eighty-two years ago tomorrow that the bride's great-grandparents were married in Chicago's first church wedding. The Upham-Forgan ceremony is not to be a church one. The service will be read in the gardens of the Lake Forest home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Berwick Forgan.

That first church wedding in Chicago was described delightfully by the bride herself, who was Miss Maria Louise Griggs before she was married to Arthur B. Meeker. The description appears in the late Miss Caroline Kirkland's book, "Chicago Yesterdays." Miss Kirkland called the book a sheaf of reminiscences garnered by the author, and many of the chapters were written by those whose lives were part of Chicago's early history.

Mrs. Meeker, who died in 1926, was the mother of Arthur Meeker, the late George Walker Meeker, Mrs. David Shields Cook, and Mrs. James Ransom Walker. In "Chicago Yesterdays" Mrs. Meeker wrote: "Until my marriage in 1856, the few social affairs we had were extremely simple. . . . While east at boarding school I met my future husband. Our marriage took place Sept. 24, 1856, in the La Salle Street Baptist church. This building, afterward taken down brick by brick, and carefully rebuilt, now stands on the west side.

Church Crowded for Occasion.

"The hour for the marriage service was set at 8 o'clock in the evening. Being the first church wedding in Chicago, I remember that it excited a good deal of interest and curiosity. The church was, in consequence, crowded with people. Preceding me up the aile, when the wedding procession entered, were my two bridesmaids, Miss Alice Meeker and Miss Clara Thomas, on the arms of our two ushers, George C. Walker and Frank Van Wyck.

"Miss Meeker was dressed in blue silk, while Miss Thomas was in yellow. Following them I came on my future husband's arm. I was dressed in white silk, with a white tulle veil. As we approached the altar our bridesmaids went to the left, while our ushers turned to the right. Behind us in a semicircle stood my entire family.

Kept at Home on Wedding Night.

"A supper was served afterwards at our home, only intimate friends, besides the family, being present. My uncle, Cyrus Bentley, objected so strongly to my going away the first night after I was married that I was obliged to stay at home, much to my annoyance. The next day my husband and I started for Clinton, Ia. This was as far west as the railroads were built at that time, and as we were going east to make our home we felt that it was our last chance to see the west for a long time. We took our bridesmaid from the east, Miss Meeker, with us, and also one of our ushers."

Bride to Wear Mother's Gown.

Tomorrow's bride, whose mother was Miss Margaret Louise Meeker, is to wear her mother's wedding gown, which also was worn by the younger daughter of the family, Nancy, when she was married to George Bronson Farnam last June.

Smart Tweed for Daytime

Soft yet rough textured tweed in a glorious golden tan tone is used for a smartly designed daytime suit. The short nipped-in-at-the-waistline jacket has dressmaker details in the unusual looped chest pockets, the welt sewed edges and the muffled ascot at the neckline. The skirt is flared in a circular fullness and fits smoothly over the hips.

Jewish Rites Herald a New Year Sunday

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

A blast from the ram's horn will sound in the Jewish year of 5699 Sunday night and call world Judaism to self examination, self criticism and self judgment. The New Year's holidays—or more truly, holy days—are the most solemn and significant of the entire year to the Jew. Temples will be thronged, while Maxwell street will be silent for two days—Monday and Tuesday.

The high holidays, which compare for the Jew with the Christian's Lent or Holy week in both solemnity and significance, continue a full day for liberal congregations and two days for the orthodox. They perpetuate the tradition that the world was created 3,761 years before the beginning of the Christian era. The English archbishop, Ussher, whose chronology is found in margins of the King James version of the Bible, set the creation of the world even earlier—at 6006 B. C., or 2,245 years before Judaism's traditional date. But for most Jews and Christians the variant creation dates have been given symbolic meanings instead of designating actual world beginnings.

Solemn days follow New Year's holy days, known as Rosh Hashanah, until Yom Kippur, or day of atonement when the famed but plaintive prayer, Kol Nidre is sung. Yom Kippur comes in at sundown on Oct. 4.

Rabbi Solomon Goldman, recently elected president of the American Zionist organization, who has just returned from a tour of European countries, will give his impressions of present happenings in Europe to his Rosh Hashanah congregation in Temple Anshe Emet, Pine Grove avenue and Grace street. Sunday's service will begin at 6 p. m. Morning services on Monday and Tuesday will begin at 9:30 o'clock.

Restaurant Owners Will Eat Out Tomorrow Night

Plans were completed yesterday by President D. L. Toffenetti for the annual dinner-dance of the Chicago Restaurant association. The party will be held in the Stevens hotel tomorrow evening. Fifteen hundred restaurant operators and leaders of allied industries are expected to attend.

Fabric Shows Claim a Place in Style Thrills

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Don't underestimate the fascination of a fabric showing, despite the faintly domestic sound of the show. Fabrics worth a king's fortune and a queen's fancy are on display all over town. See imported wools, thick and swanky, for stunning top coats; thin stuff for supersmooth town and country clothes that can double for smart street and office wear; chiffon thin wool for daytime dresses, as sheer as anything you wore last summer. And the colors rival a paint card for spectacular glory.

New finds are the striped soft jerseys, riotously colored. See jade green, cherry red and purple against a light gray; or two shades of vivid blue, red and yellow; or the copper rust and blue combine.

This is the stuff for effective dresses to wear the coldest days under short fur coats, for street dresses topped with a fetching little fitted jacket of dark toned velvet, or without a coat, with furs.

Flecked tweeds, heathery mixtures, gaudy big checks and striped effects are achieved with contrasting colored threads against a dull dark background. The sturdy, nubby tweeds look the part of a bit of English wool from a fog drenched moor.

Colors are so lovely it takes a bit of good shopping to decide the favorite combine. There's a slick sage green tone, for copper tops; some luscious muted tones of mauve, dregs of wine, claret, misty violet and some eye-blinding greens and russets that fairly sell you at first glance.

Among the black fabrics are the needlepoint woolens for coats and the clever slimming ridged weaves for costume suits and coats. Duvetyn for dress parade comes in black, smoke gray and high colors. Crush resistant velvets make cocktail outfits and luxurious velvets in every imaginable color can be used for ball gowns and evening wraps and capes. Velveteens will style smart daytime dresses in amber, ruby, sapphire blue, and sage green . . . the fabrics on parade are noteworthy eye openers for any bored or doubting shopper.

Fashion photograph. . . . Soft tweed daytime suit showing dressmaker details in the clever looped high chest pockets and the stitched front edges. Softly folded sleeves give a square cut shoulderline. The flared skirt is almost circular in cut but smooth over the hipline. A velvet ascot tucked in at the neckline and a narrow belt are color contrast ideas.

Bob Crosby and Chicago Girl Married at Spokane

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Bob Crosby, swing band leader and brother of Crooner Bing Crosby, and Miss Jane Audrey Kuhn of Chicago were married here today after an airplane trip from Chicago. The ceremony was performed by Superior Judge Fred Witt. The orchestra leader said he and his bride would have to return to Chicago by plane "to get back to the job."

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

A Columnist's Day.

[Written in Chicago.]

8:30 a. m.—The phone rings in room 511 at the Ambassador. Benny Rubin, from the adjoining twin bed, answers it cheerily. Never met a fellow like him. No matter what hour he wakes up he's chipper. I'm more of an old-fashioned beefer and grouser. "They expect you at W-G-N at 11:30 for that Quin Ryan interview," says Rubin, "so get up when I wake you. If you don't I'll nicely pull you right out of the sheets, Irish."

10:30 a. m.—Mister Rubin is a man of his word. I awake on the floor swathed in sheets. He had pulled me out of bed. There was no doubt of it. "What time is the first show?" I ask drowsily. "We are on stage at 12:54," says Rubin, "and at 12:55 the audience is on stage as a posse. At 12:56 they will have trapped you in the Chicago theater alley and taken you apart limb from limb for impersonating an actor. Drink your coffee and scram."

11:30 a. m.—Station W-G-N, the Tribune outlet. Quin Ryan asking questions about Hollywood.

12:54 p. m.—On stage at the Chicago theater. Benny Rubin is doing his slide trombone routine. At the end of it, where I'm supposed to walk on, Abe Lyman substitutes. "How did you like my solo, Abe?" Rubin asks. "That sort of music went out with the bustle," says Lyman, and exits hurriedly. Rubin looks at the audience: "Undoubtedly a low, plebeian fellow," is his dismissal of Lyman. "He is in the jitterbug realm, refuses to rise above it."

3:53 p. m.—On stage at the Chicago for the second show. Lathrop brothers and Lee, Jerry Adler and Ginger Harmon have stopped the show cold. Rubin comes on to do his comedy dance. This time, Sonja Henie interrupts him from the audience where she is sitting with her maw, her brother, and Bob Hickey. Sonja comes up on the stage and Benny goes into an ice skating routine. He starts again, and this time Sabu, the Elephant Boy, star of "Drums," acts as an unintentional heckler from the audience. Rubin waits for the applause to die down and then whips off his coat and does a sleeve impersonation of an elephant's trunk waving. Francis X. Bushman and May McAvoy lead the cheers. This town really loves Benny Rubin, and I don't blame 'em.

5 p. m.—Backstage in the dressing rooms. Fat Billy House, Dr. Deno O'Connor, Capt. Dan Gilbert, the Carl Bauers, Joe E. Lewis, the Jackie Hellers, Joey Jacobson, Sonja Henie, Sabu with Lynn Farnol and two bearded and turbaned Indian guides, Marvin Welt, Lou Lipstone, the Ashton Stevenses [he looks marvelously well], Clark Rodenbach, famous Eddie Guest, Gene Delmont, Hugh Wedlock and partner Snyder, Charlie Baron—an unusual combination representing every walk in life. Sabu introduces his lean Indian guides: "This one is Singh," he says. The bearded Indian bows stiffly. "This other one, he is Singh, too," says Sabu. Says comedian Rubin: "Singh-Singh, huh? I'll bet they live in Ossining."

The Indians regard him piercingly and gravely. Benny stutters, backs away from them, but Sabu grins. He translates the joke to the guards, explains that Sing-Sing is an American prison. They answer him rapidly. "They say," he tells Rubin, "that your wit stabs the atmosphere and illumines it with flashes of lightning—and that if you were in India the doves would murmur your praises and figs would drop from the trees and genuflect at your approach." Dazed, Rubin looks at them incredulously, completely speechless.

6 p. m.—Going through the day's mail. An amusing letter from C. P. Binner of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company. Not long ago I suggested that the movie magnates who sponsored the movie quiz contest as a goodwill idea should take some of the prize money and buy themselves a huge eight ball behind which they could hide to escape irate movie fans. "As one of your readers," writes Mr. Binner, "I want to keep you in FRONT of the eight ball instead of behind it. We have today made up a special eight ball for you in the factory with your initials on it, and are forwarding it with our wishes that you never miscue."

A pile of letters with the "Twelve Most Thrilling Movie Pictures." I'll run them tomorrow, so send 'em along, you movie fans. A stewardess from American Airlines arrives with an engraved certificate that testifies I'm an admiral of the flagship fleet. Fellow admirals are Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Gov. Horner, Mayor Kelly. All admirals, no sailors?

7 p. m.—Wires from Burns and Allen that they arrive Friday. A wire from George Raft that he gets in today. Virginia Peine is in town, which may explain his trip here. A wire from Clark Gable saying he has to detrain at Kansas City, but that he'll shoot a moose for me in Manitoba. That's C. Lombard's nickname for Gable, "The Moose." Les [MGM] Petersen and his Northwestern U. bride drop backstage for the last show.

8 p. m.—Still wading through mail. A reproach from a reader because I didn't answer a letter she sent. My sincere apologies, but it is almost impossible to answer all of them, honestly. Helen Kenney, who teaches seventh and eighth grades, explodes because I rated Jack Benny above Gen. Pershing. "I know what thought you were trying to convey," she adds, "but why did you have to use the Pershing name?" Well, Helen, if you know what I was trying to convey then I'm glad I used Pershing's name.

9:15 p. m.—"Fifteen minutes—fifteen minutes." Walter, stage doorman, is calling out the age old warning of the theater. Your reporter combs his hair, dons a white jacket, prepares to be an actor.

For Misses and Matrons

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Misses and matrons alike will appreciate the simple and distinctive styling of this street dress. It molds the streamline and flatters the figure. Another thing in its favor is its versatility. It makes up well in almost any fabric that tailors easily. Even tweedy silks and rough weave woolens work up effectively. You may use buttons on the surplice, or applique motifs with concealed hooks. The applique is included with the pattern at no extra cost.

There is no belt to cut the long, slim lines of this dress. Perpendicular darts fit the dress to the waistline, defining and emphasizing it. The V neckline is collarless and may be left plain or be trimmed with piping. Shirring at the shoulder seams imparts softness to the waist, and the puffed sleeves lend breadth.

Style No. 3439 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅛ yard of contrasting for applique.

Ideal Shampoo Still Is Rub, Scrub, Rinse

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

A correspondent asks about dry shampoos. She wants to know if hair would not be better were it given fewer soap and water or liquid shampoos; if several dry shampoos in between the usual washings wouldn't contribute to better hair and greater beauty.

Our judgment is that you cannot ruin hair by frequent shampoos after the regular soap-and-water or liquid manner. If you shampoo correctly, that is, if you rinse copiously. If you get all of the soap out. And if you dry the hair thoroughly, using the moment for vigorous brushing and scalp stimulation.

There are a number of dry shampoos. The liquid ones consist mainly of substances such as are used to dry-clean clothes. They are effective, we'll grant, where hair is excessively oily and satisfactory where one is removed from her hairdressing salon. But they are inflammable and dangerous to use.

There are powder shampoos which are dusted over the hair and brushed out. Their difficulty, however, is in the brushing out of every particle of powder. For emergency use, they are all right. If you have to clean the hair for an emergency date, say, you save time with the dry shampoo.

But for developing real hair beauty and health the good old-fashioned rub, scrub of the scalp, good suds, and loads of rinse water cannot be beaten. The whole movement of a good shampoo results in scalp massage. You feel the scalp tingle. You know the blood is coursing through underneath and that the hair will benefit by this blood supply.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

We saw, a few days ago, a small collection of the newest and nicest hair ornaments.

These were combs and clips in all shapes, sizes, and varieties of jewel ornamentation. One of our favorites was the small comb [all of shell and with the kind of teeth that hold perfectly] trimmed with blown glass flowers, very tiny, in pearly pink or blue. They're unbelievably delicate looking and a truly dressy and romantic ornament when tucked into a high hairdress.

Another comb, which sounds rococo but looks like a million tucked into the hair, has a wrought gilt band at the top. Suspended from either end are two strands of small pearls that swish about a bit with every movement of the head. This is a little giddy, but with plenty of grandeur to give it distinction.

We found one set we decided was THE favorite. Combs, ornamented with three delicate little hand painted miniatures, each miniature circled in bright colored stones—bright green or ruby red. This looks exactly like the kind of trinket your grandmother treasured. And you'll be very smart to tuck one or two in your hair when you wear the new, old fashioned gowns.

These combs have earrings to match, each earring a miniature studded just as those on the combs are.

Even Teen Age Boy Can't Make All Decisions

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

"Billy just made up his mind he wanted to run his own show," said a mother of a teen age son to me the other day. "He wanted to be let alone about everything. He was getting old enough to manage his hours and know when to wear a sweater, or a raincoat and tuck in his homework, and so on and on. So I thought, 'Okay—let him try it—the time has come,' and I did.

"After about a month he came to me grinning—well, a little sheepishly. 'You win, mom,' he announced. 'I wish you'd plan things for me for a while. Just rule me with an iron hand.'"

There are some ways in which children need routine, even at 13, as a comfortable, steadying background for their lives. We rather impose it on our babies, and little children as a matter of course, but some of us get a little confused and leave too much of this regulating to the children themselves as they get older.

We have a way of talking about giving our children freedom and letting them make their own decision[s]. But we must do these things with [a] great deal of judgment.

A child can't plan and manage h[is] own time, even at 13. There are som[e] ways in which children need routin[e], especially physical routine. It save[s] everybody in the family a lot of los[t] motion, energy, discussion, and i[n]convenience. It oils the wheels.

Of course you can and sometime[s] should break routine with older chi[l]dren and come back to it refreshe[d]. That doesn't mean, however, tha[t] they don't need routine as a bac[k]ground for living. And when I spea[k] of routine I don't mean a cast-iro[n] schedule, but a reasonable amount o[f] order and regularity in the everyda[y] living processes.

For the person who likes to read in bed, late at night, nothing could be nicer than a clever little electric lamp that is attached to the headboard, for it is so made that it casts a beam of light on the book only, leaving the rest of the room in darkness.

This lamp is adapted from a similar one brought out some months ago, and is less expensive. It is shaped a little like a bullet, the light coming out from the end. You can cock it at almost any angle you wish. You have your choice of finishes: ivory or bronze.

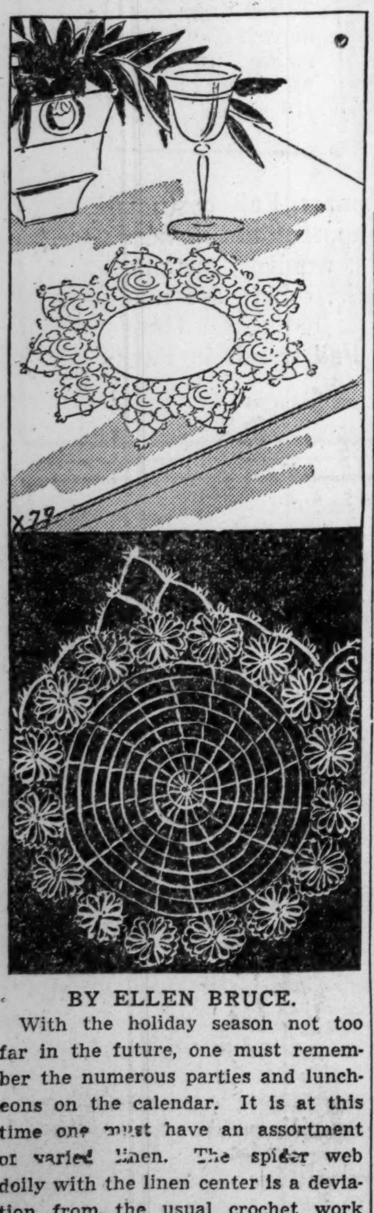
Crochet Edging in Floral Design Trims Tray Cloth



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

With the holiday season not too far in the future, one must remember the numerous parties and luncheons on the calendar. It is at this time one must have an assortment of varied linen. The spider web doily with the linen center is a deviation from the usual crochet work which has been so popular, but it is one of the simplest of all the crochet patterns.

For instructions for crocheting the spider web lace on the linen doily, No. X-79, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

That wedding took place at the Forgans' farm in Pleasant Valley, Vt. Mrs. George W. Meeker is the maternal grandmother of tomorrow's and last June's brides.

The Donald Forgans have come from their home in Rye, N. Y., and Mrs. James Cox is here from Dayton, O., for the wedding and the bridal dinner tonight.

Foster-Bersbach Nuptials Today.

The wedding of Miss Joan Bersbach and Archibald McGhee Foster in Bedford, N. Y., this afternoon will reunite all of Mrs. Frank J. Bersbach's family under one roof for the first time since she sold the family home in Indian Hill road, Winnetka, a year or two ago. The ceremony will take place in St. Matthew's church, with a reception following at the Bedford Golf and Tennis club.

Mrs. Bersbach's address still is Winnetka, but she and the bride and young Robert Bersbach have been spending the summer in Mount Kisco, near Bedford. For her attendants this afternoon Miss Bersbach will have Miss Elsie Sturgis of New York as maid of honor, and Mrs. Kevin Rafferty of New York, Miss Alice Burrage of Boston, and Miss Judy Butler, Miss Mary Alice Bacon, and Miss Nancy Faurot Reed of Chicago as bridesmaids.

Mr. Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Volney Foster of Lake Forest, will have his twin brother, Volney W. Foster, as best man. Ushering will be another brother, George Foster; Edward Farley, Marshall Field Jr., Donald McKellar, and Joseph Richard Dillworth of New York, Davis Gardner of Ardsley, N. Y.; Percifor Oliver of Colburg, Ont., and Reginald Boardman of Boston.

Miss Bersbach's other brother is F. John Bersbach Jr., and their sisters are Mrs. Robert Hall McCormick III. of Chicago and Mrs. William B. M. Hutchinson of New York. Mr. Foster and his bride are going to make their home in New York at 513 East 86th street.

To the surprise of his Chicago friends, Francis William Dinsmore Jr. returned from a trip to Italy without a bride. He and Miss Sallie Merrick Kite of Chestnut Hill, Pa., were to have been married in Pistoia on the last day of August, but owing to Italian legal complications the ceremony did not take place. Instead, Mr. Dinsmore, his fiancée, and her mother, Mrs. Edwin M. Finletter, and brother, Clement C. Kite, spent a week traveling and then returned to the United States.

According to the latest plans, the wedding will take place on Oct. 1 in St. Paul's church, Chestnut Hill, in the presence of the immediate families only. Young Mr. Dinsmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Dinsmore of Morrisville, Pa., will bring his bride to Chicago to make their home.

Miss Kite, who will be a transfer to the Chicago Junior league, is a close friend of Miss Bacon, who is a bridesmaid in the Foster-Bersbach wedding and has visited here frequently.

The wedding in Italy was to have taken place at the home of Miss Kite's cousin, Miss Mary Merrick, sister of J. Vaughan Merrick III., headmaster of St. George's school, Newport, R. I.

Mrs. Emmons Bryant Given Cocktail Party.

An attractive eastern visitor is Mrs. Emmons Bryant Jr. of New York, who came west for the Ingersoll-Reid wedding last Saturday and is remaining in Chicago until Tuesday, when she will go to Minneapolis for the wedding of another Smith classmate. Mrs. Bryant is staying at the Ambassador hotel, where her uncle, Abner Stilwell, gave a cocktail party for her yesterday. Mrs. Bryant, who was Miss Mary Esther Stilwell of New York before her marriage, lived in Oak Park as a child.

Mrs. James Simpson Jr. of Wadsworth, Ill., is in New York. She will return home the first of next week.

The senior Simpsons have taken the Stanley Field apartment in State parkway for the winter and will move about the first of October.

Mrs. Eugene Howard of Winnetka has as a guest Mrs. Charles Scribner of Honolulu, who came to this country to put her daughter in the Marlborough school in Los Angeles and her sons in the Culver Military academy in Indiana.

Church Women.

The woman's department of the Chicago Church federation will hold its first meeting of the season at 1:45 o'clock today at 17 North State street. Irwin E. Deer, a member of the production code administration of the film producers, will speak on "The Church and Motion Pictures."

Usher for Dahlia Show

Miss Virginia Ballard is a debutante although she looks as if she were a schoolgirl. She is that, too, for on Sept. 27 she and Miss Natalie DeClerque, who made a joint debut on Sept. 16, will leave to resume their studies at Pine Manor. Miss Ballard, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger K. Ballard of Winnetka, will act as a guide at the fourth annual dahlia show to be held tomorrow and Sunday at the Winnetka Community house.

Romeo in This Big Romance May Be Gigolo

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Linda is 21 and a rare species these days, we'll say. Until her twenty-first birthday she never went on a "date" with a boy as other girls do. Not because she wasn't asked. Not because her parents objected, but for the simple reason, she confides, that she never liked any one enough to accept.

But she has fallen head over heels in love. He is the grandest, the handsomest, the best. They have attended the same plays, movies, dances, but not always together. Linda thinks they were born for each other because their opinions coincide on everything.

"The point I want to bring out," the girl confides, "is that he has never extended me an invitation. If we have gone out together, it is because I have suggested it and made it possible in a financial way. Or, else we have gone to friends' homes where there was no expense attached. We work in the same organization and see each other constantly.

"He often tells me he never will settle down. I know he does go around with other girls. I am considered a smart dresser but am overweight. I've often wondered if being heavy is the reason he does not ask me out. Please don't tell me to try to forget him. I cannot ever forget him."

All right, we won't tell you to forget the young man, even though we do not think you are dealing yourself an ace card in one who takes your entertainment without a return of any kind. However, we have not all the facts.

The chap may not have any money to spend, and if you're willing to foot the bills, he figures that's one way he can get around. Before spending any more on him, however, you ought to find out if the other girls that he takes around are paying as you are.

If you find this to be the case, then you know you have a gigolo on your hands who, by his very nature, could not promise you any joy. But if he is saving on you to spend on the other girls and you still want him anyway, that's your concern, regardless of how we might feel about it.

Yes, you'd better get the silhouette trimmed down. It might very well be the reason why you are not asked out. There are so many svelte ones who promises to be lighter dancing partners.

When you get rid of the extra pounds, we would suggest that you set out to interest other young men if for no other reason than to suggest to the "grandest, handsomest and best one" that other young men like you, too.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

Few defensive problems are more baffling than the question of what card should be led from an incomplete sequence. Of course, as a blind opening lead, the top of sequences such as Q J 9 7, J 10 8 6, 10 9 7 5 is always the proper selection. This, however, does not necessarily apply to a situation such as is described in the following hand:

North, dealer.

♥ K Q J 9
♦ A K 5

WEST
♥ 8 6
♦ Q 10 9 8 4 3

EAST
♠ J 10 8 7
♥ A 7 3 2
♦ 7
♣ A 7 3 2

SOUTH
♠ K Q 9
♥ 10 5 4
♣ K Q J 10

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the ten of diamonds [the top of an interior sequence], declarer played low from dummy and won in his own hand with the jack. He then laid down the club king. East won with the ace and, since he had no more of his partner's suit, did not have to consider the virtue of that return. Obviously, a spade lead was called for and, on the superficial thought that the top of an incomplete sequence was the correct lead, East selected the jack. Declarer covered, West won with the ace and, since his own diamond suit was hopeless, returned a spade. Declarer's remaining K 9 overlay East's 10 8 7 and, of course, East could take no more tricks in the spade suit. Declarer, at his leisure, knocked out the heart ace and claimed the balance.

Admittedly, the lead of the spade jack is enticing, but analysis shows that it is unsound. In this situation, it is the spade nine which assumes enormous importance, that is, if the situation is such that the defenders have any chance to defeat the contract, the nine spot is sure to be the crucial card. If declarer holds that card along with whatever top spade strength he may have, there is no point in East's leading the jack. If West holds the spade nine, there is no need for East to lead the jack. Thus, in either case, it will be seen that East's proper return is not the spade jack, but the spade seven or eight. Admittedly, declarer could circumvent this play by putting in the nine, but how could he possibly be so clairvoyant? Declarer could not know that his nine spot would force the ace. It would be much more normal for the nine to lose to the jack or ten in West's hand. Hence, from declarer's point of view, the play of an honor would be mandatory. Note what a difference this would make. West would smother the honor and now East still would have his jack and ten with which to shut out declarer's nine. In all, the defenders could take three spade tricks and two aces instead of the one spade trick and two aces actually won.

WEST SUBURBS DEMAND ACTION ON 'L' HIGHWAY

BY HAL FOUST.

West suburban civic leaders yesterday addressed a petition to Gov. Horner and to President Clayton F. Smith of the Cook county board asking their road engineers to prepare plans for an elevated highway from the central business district to the western city limits. The meeting, in the Oak Park club, was sponsored by the Chicago Motor club.

Three of the twenty men in the conference spoke favorably of the proposed $24,000,000 Congress street development.

Favor Two Projects.

"The west side needs both an elevated highway and a Congress street parkway," said Thomas M. Filas of Cicero, a member of Gov. Horner's state safety commission. "The Congress street project, with abutting realty paying special assessments in proportion to the increase in values, is needed to rescue neighborhoods from the slums. The elevated highway, with the benefited motorists paying the costs through their gasoline taxes, is needed to rescue through trafic from the delays and hazards of surface streets."

A. L. Hall, River Forest editor, expressed similar sentiments.

"Our organization," said James E. Bulger, a director of the Chicago Motor club, "likewise appreciates the merits of the Congress street plans as a slum removal project. Our objections lie solely in the proposal to spend $24,000,000 of road funds for a realty development. All available gasoline tax revenues are needed to reduce the massacre on the city streets.

Tells Safety Advantage.

"Experience has shown that there is fifty times as great a likelihood of an accident on a surface street as there is on an elevated highway. The rush hour driving time between the loop and western suburbs would be reduced between twelve and thirteen minutes by an elevated highway."

Roy F. Nix of River Forest, a member of the governor's safety commission, said the elevated highway proposal was bucking mercenary interests on Chicago's west side. C. H. Bullen of the Franklin Park Kiwanis club, Randall H. Cooper of the Oak Park chamber of commerce, and Emile Bloche of the Oak Park Optimists also spoke.

Moves for Petitions.

Erwin Thoendel of the Forest Park Safety council moved that appropriate petitions be addressed to the state and the county. His motion was seconded by Henry C. Rieck of the Forest Park Chamber of Commerce. There was no dissenting vote.

Frank E. Svoboda, president of the West Towns Chamber of Commerce, yesterday issued a statement answering part of a questionnaire being mailed to west side business men by the Chicago Motor club. He said he favored the Congress street development for neighborhood rehabilitation.

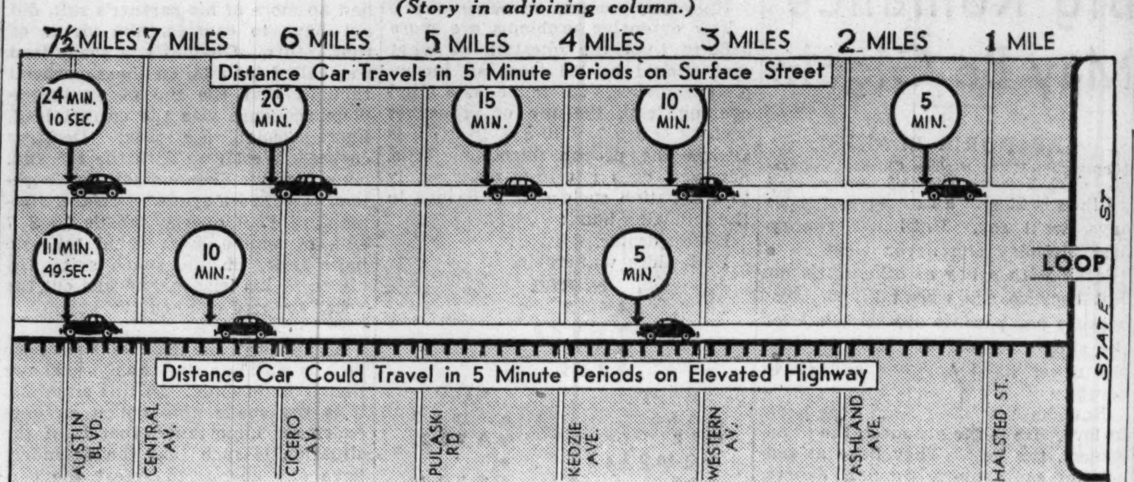
Leslie J. Sorenson, city trafic engineer, spoke before the Chicago Danish club luncheon in the Bismarck hotel yesterday. He pointed out that 75 per cent of the persons killed in Chicago trafic accidents are pedestrians. There are no pedestrians on elevated highways.

Wisconsin Autos Crash; Woman Dies of Injury

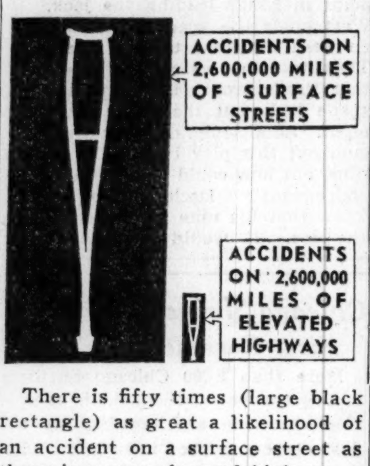
Appleton, Wis., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ed. Jansen, 32 years old, of Hilbert, died of a skull fracture today. An auto driven by Al Schmidt with whom she rode, collided with a car driven by Ernie Glassman, also of Hilbert, at a town road intersection.

How Elevated Highway Would Reduce Driving Time

(Story in adjoining column.)



The rush hour driving time between Chicago's loop and western suburbs would be reduced between twelve and thirteen minutes by an elevated highway, motor club officials maintain. This diagram compares the driving time on surface streets with the time for the same distance on an elevated highway.



There is fifty times (large black rectangle) as great a likelihood of an accident on a surface street as there is on an elevated highway.

2 AUTOISTS GET 10 DAY TERMS AS DRUNK DRIVERS

Two motorists were sentenced yesterday in Safety court to ten days each in county jail for drunken driving. They are Arnold Andrews, 2424 North Campbell avenue, and Joseph Dembicki, 1823 Augusta boulevard. Dembicki was ordered by Judge Stephen Adamowski not to drive his car until April 30, 1939. George Karan, 8929 Green Bay avenue, was fined $25 for reckless driving and ordered not to drive any more this year.

10 MASKED MEN AMBUSH A TRAIN, TAKE GOLD CARGO

MARSEILLES, France, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Ten masked bandits ambushed a freight train between Marseilles and Avignon today and made off with gold ore weighing 395 pounds after wounding a member of the train crew.

Officials said the ore, being shipped from the Belgian Congo to a smelting plant in Belgium, probably was worth several hundred thousand francs [100,000 francs is $2,700].

The train was stopped when a member of the gang, hidden aboard, applied the brakes. The gang fired a fusillade at the train, wounding a guard when the crew descended to see what was wrong. The robbers loaded the two crates of ore into an automobile and sped away.

Judge Bows Before Rules of N. U. Girls' Dormitory

There are strict rules that freshman co-eds of Northwestern university must be in Willard hall by 8:30 each night. So Judge James M. Corcoran in Evanston Municipal court changed his mind yesterday about ordering Miss Mary Jane Todd, a freshman student, to attend night trafic school. Instead he directed that she not drive her car for thirty days. Miss Todd, 18 years old, of Palatine, had been arrested for speeding.

Walter Doull, 32 years old, was revived by a fire inhalator squad last night after he had been found unconscious from gas in his room at 717 North Dearborn street.

RAIL EXECUTIVE KILLED, 3 HURT IN AUTO COLLISION

William L. Donaldson, assistant western trafic manager of the Lehigh Valley railroad, was killed and his wife and two other men were injured early today in a collision of two automobiles at Higgins road and Cumberland avenue in Park Ridge. Donaldson was 57 years old and lived at 2322 Central Park avenue, Evanston.

He and his wife, Mrs. Grace Donaldson, 53, and Charles D. Miller, 48, 647 Park drive, Kenilworth, trafic manager of the American Maize Products company, were driving home in the Donaldson car at the time of the accident. Mrs. Donaldson was at the wheel. They were northbound in Cumberland avenue when their car collided with a westbound car driven by John Szimozak, 48, of Elk Grove. He, Mrs. Donaldson, and Miller suffered slight injuries. Miller was taken, however, to Evanston hospital.

William Renner, 5 years old, was killed yesterday by a truck while he was crossing the street at 416 South Pulaski road. The driver, William Kaitschuk, 1260 Marion court, said the boy ran from behind a parked car against the side of his truck. The boy lived at 4100 Congress street.

A coroner's jury yesterday ordered George Besser, 116 West Ontario street, held on a charge of manslaughter. He admitted he was the hit and run driver whose car killed a pedestrian on Aug. 14 at La Salle and Division streets. The victim was Mervine Loper, 1250 North La Salle street.

Louis Kolber, 70 years old, 2912 Cottage Grove avenue, a tailor, died in Mercy hospital early today of a skull fracture suffered when he was struck by an automobile at Garfield boulevard and State street last Monday. The driver, Robert Prigmire, 52, of 71 East 79th street, was charged with reckless driving.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 580 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 445 were killed in Chicago. In the same period 14,216 were injured in trafic accidents within the city.

More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

BODY FOUND IN LAKE.

The body of an unidentified man was taken yesterday from Lake Michigan at Balbo street. It had been in the water about two weeks.

MISS BERG WINS, 5 AND 3, IN U. S. WOMEN'S GOLF

Mrs. Page Also Goes to Semi-Finals.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The amazing Patricia Berg of Minneapolis stole the show for the third straight day yesterday as the field in the forty-second national women's golf tournament at the Westmoreland Country club was reduced to the four semi-finalists.

The Minnesota red head scampered away with a 5 and 3 victory over Dorothy Traung of San Francisco, 1934 runnerup, with another sample of the most fantastic scoring in the history of the tournament. Meanwhile Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N. C., the defending champion, was wending her competent way into the final foursome with a 1 up decision over Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth, Tex.

They Must Wait.

Being in opposite brackets, the two ladies who met in last year's final in Memphis must wait to win their matches this afternoon if they would meet again in tomorrow's 36 hole championship match. At 2 o'clock Mrs. Page will tee off in the first 18 hole semi-final against Peggy Graham of Hollywood, Cal., last of the dark horse entries, who lost a 19 hole first round match in the 1937 tournament. Fifteen minutes later Miss Berg will encounter a worthy foe in able Marion Miley, the Lexington, Ky., professional's daughter.

Miss Graham, competing in her third national tournament, gained the semi-finals yesterday by eliminating another surprise contender, Mrs. E. R. Hury of Dallas, Tex., 5 and 3. Miss Miley, semi-finalist in 1936 and a partner of Mrs. Page and Miss Berg on the Curtis cup team, won her way into today's pen-ultimate argument with a 4 and 3 triumph over Marion McDougall, 1934 western open champion from Portland, Ore.

Wants Her Tenth Title.

The red headed Berg kid, now a student at the University of Minnesota, proved yesterday that she still is intent on making this championship her tenth in thirteen 1938 competitions. In Tuesday's first round, the determined Minnesotan won ten consecutive holes for one of the most crushing victories in the game's archives. In Wednesday's third round, she found herself four down to Eva Shorb of Canton, O., then came out fighting on the back nine for a one up verdict. Yesterday she was three down to Miss Traung after six holes, took the next three to square the match, and then captured five out of the final six holes. All in all, Patty has been six under par for the last seventy-four holes she has played. Yesterday she licked Westmoreland's par by four shots.

Mrs. Page, still playing the kind of golf needed in the pinches, was two down after the fifth, even at the turn, one down after the eleventh, and only one up after the sixteenth. Her card, however, proved that she is capable of matching Miss Berg's golf. After scoring poorly on the first six holes, the champion put together six pars and three birdies.

Miss Graham Leads at 9 Holes.

Miss Graham, playing one over par golf for the front nine of 39, was two up on Mrs. Hury at that point, then dashed through the last six holes in two under par, pitching birdies at the twelfth, thirteenth, and fourteenth. Miss Miley contented herself with a 41, two over par going out, for a two up edge at the turn, her opponent visiting several bunkers in the meantime. She finished the last six holes one under par, dropping a 15 foot putt for an eagle two at the thirteenth.

Trapped seconds by Miss McDougall at the second, fourth, and sixth, sent Miss Miley three up, but the latter had an unplayable lie at the seventh. The Oregon golfer then collected a birdie at the eighth, but Miss Miley matched that with a fine 30 foot putt on the ninth. Miss McDougall pushed her drive at the twelfth, and Miss Miley holed a 35 foot putt for an eagle at the 205 yard, par four thirteenth. They halved the last two holes. Quarter-final cards:

Eighth and Main.

Every town has its Eighth and Main—
East or north or west,
Where dates are made in its pleasant shade
At man's or at maid's behest.

Eddie phones: "I'm working late,
I can't get out—that's plain,
Tell you what, hon, grab a bus
And I'll meetcha at Eighth and Main."

Friends from different ends of town
Planning on seeing a show,
Agree to meet at Eighth and Main—
"Same as last time—you know."

Glancing up at the old town clock,
Wondering why they don't come,
But the wise old clock says nary a word
But keeps right on playing dumb.

Good old corner, keeping mum
About many a rendezvous,
What a tasty item you could dish
If you ever told all you knew.

So here's to all the Eighth and Mains,
North and east and west,
Where we tempt the fates and make our dates
With the people we like the best!

For the smiling lips that long ago were mine;
O, the hands that I'll be taking
Will dispel this acrid aching,
And will lift my heavy heart like purple wine.

I am longing for the silence and the shadows,
O, you lovers of the noontide pity me!
I am going home nor grieving
For the hearts that I am leaving
In the rapture of the loved ones I shall see. —T. E. B.

PIRATES SCORE DOUBLE VICTORY OVER DODGERS

Protect 3½ Game Lead; Win, 6-0, 11-6.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 22.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, back in action after a four day layoff, marched nearer the National league pennant today with a double victory over the Dodgers, 6 to 0 and 11 to 6.

The twin triumph left the Pirates 3½ games in front of the second place Chicago Cubs. The Pirates put two kinds of baseball on display in trampling the Dodgers. In the opener they relied largely on the four hit pitching of Jim Tobin. In the second game they pounded half a dozen pitchers for fourteen hits, with Arky Vaughan doing the most damage, getting four safeties.

If — —

If Pittsburgh, with only ten games left to play, maintains a .500 pace for the remainder of the National league race, the Cubs would have to win ten of their remaining eleven games to win the pennant. The standing then would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Chicago	90	62	.592
Pittsburgh	88	62	.586

Because the Cubs will have played more games than the Pirates it would be impossible for the two teams to tie for the pennant. If the Cubs should win only nine of their eleven games while the Pirates were winning five and losing five the Pirates still would be ahead in percentage, although there would be a tie in games won and lost. The standing would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Pittsburgh	88	62	.5866
Chicago	89	63	.5855

If the Pirates win six of their ten and the Cubs ten of their eleven the standing would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Pittsburgh	89	61	.593
Chicago	90	62	.592

If the Cubs win all eleven games the Pirates still could lose three and finish in first place, thus:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Pittsburgh	90	60	.600
Chicago	91	61	.597

If the Cubs win all eleven and the Pirates lose four the Cubs would win the pennant with this standing:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Chicago	91	61	.598
Pittsburgh	89	61	.593

Bears Battle Colored Star Eleven Tonight

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

A novel variation of All-Star football will be introduced in Chicago tonight. Thirty-seven of the outstanding colored players in the United States will meet the Chicago Bears, champions of the western division in the National league, in Soldiers' field. This is the first contest of its kind ever played. The kickoff has been set for 8:30 o'clock. Chicago's three major charities, which are sponsoring the game, expect a crowd of 30,000.

The All-Stars, who have been practicing twice daily for the last two weeks, were selected in a nationwide poll modeled after that originated by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE five years ago. One hundred Negro newspapers conducted the voting, in which 3,000,000 ballots were cast.

Several of the All-Stars are nationally known. Dwight Reed, rangy end from Minnesota; Oze Simmons and his brother, Don, of Iowa, and Doc Kelker, Western Reserve end, are among this group. A majority of the players, however, are known only to the people of their race through their exploits on teams representing colored institutions.

Highlight of Season.

Negro colleges and fans look upon the contest as the highlight of the season, and arrangements have been made to embellish the occasion with all the trimmings necessary to make it a great spectacle.

Competitively, the All-Stars do not have the numerical advantage of other All-Star teams. In fact, graduates of ability are so few that it has been necessary to include on the squad several men of established ability who have not been on a campus for a number of years. One of these is Joe Lillard, a former Chicago Cardinal, who on several occasions has given the Bears a most unpleasant afternoon. The outstanding lineman on the squad is Coach Ray Kemp, a former Duquesne tackle, who in three years has become the best known colored coach in the country. The scarcity of capable linemen will make it necessary for Kemp to play some of the time tonight.

Bears Not Misled.

The Bears, however, are not permitting the apparent lack of All-Americans on the Negro squad to mislead them. With such runners as

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 22.—Because the University of Minnesota is the defending champion in the Western conference, the Gophers have been made one of the favorites in this year's race. Northwestern last year was given similar consideration and, as final results testified, was overrated. This may be the case again.

The public's inclination to back a champion is natural and needs no explanation. But on the basis of present material it would not be at all surprising if Minnesota slips a notch in the conference standings this year.

The opening game Saturday with the University of Washington, whose team arrived this morning from Seattle, will test this Gopher squad. From that exhibition Western conference coaches quickly will estimate Minnesota's possibilities.

Slow to Develop.

Minnesota's teams generally develop slowly. Two weeks conditioning probably is insufficient to bring the Gophers to their best playing form, so even if Minnesota loses to Washington Saturday, and even if Nebraska whips the Gophers the following week, Minnesota still might have sufficient power to win its games with Purdue, Michigan, Iowa, Northwestern, and Wisconsin.

Incidentally, Minneapolis fans are willing to lay 9 to 5 on Minnesota to beat Washington. There is an undercurrent of optimism and Minneapolis generally believes that the Gophers will get away to a victorious season. Minnesota has a difficult schedule. While its conference program might be made a bit more strenuous by the addition of Ohio State or Indiana, the nonconference schedule, which includes Notre Dame as well as Washington and Nebraska, is not matched in the Big Ten.

Back Field Is Slow.

Minnesota's line, particularly at tackle and end, cannot be expected to stand up under this eight game schedule. The starting back field will be superior as a unit to the Gopher back field immediately after Andy Uram was injured last season, but these backs, particularly Harold Van Every, triple threat half back, are slow.

Replacement material, generally speaking, is inexperienced at all spots except guard, center, and full back. And to make Minnesota's championship path as rocky as the road to

Yanks Regain Homer Habit; Beat Sox, 7-4

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

After submitting unwillingly to six trimmings in a row, the world champion New York Yankees fell back on their home run technique yesterday. It worked perfectly for them, but not for John Rigney and his White Sox associates. Only two Yankee drives cleared the barriers but the net on these two alone was five runs, an important contribution to the 7 to 4 count by which the titleholders triumphed in their season's final in Comiskey park.

Joe Gordon, the kid who made the Yankees release old Tony Lazzeri, hit one of the homers in the sixth with two mates on base. The Sox erased the effect of this clout by getting back into a tie in the seventh with the help of Rookie Merv Connors' bat. But in the ninth, Robert [Red] Rolfe got the home run idea. He shattered the tie with his season's tenth homer after Frankie Crosetti had singled. To widen the final margin, Joe Di Maggio singled and scored on a two bagger by Lou Gehrig.

Connors Is a Pest.

Connors was the chief disturber of Steve Sundra, who managed to struggle through the afternoon without being relieved of the Yankee pitching chores. Connors started forging a chain of three hits when he opened the second inning with a double. The inning netted nothing, three men being stranded when Rigney fanned. Connors launched another effort in the fourth by singling and this time three runs resulted, giving the Sox a two run lead which was jolted by Gordon's homer in the sixth. Then Connors singled again in the seventh, driving in the tying run.

Sundra had the pleasure of starting the Yankees toward a momentary one run lead in the third. After Glenn had fanned for the first out, Sundra helped himself to a two base drive into right center. Crosetti singled to left and Radcliff, who isn't much on throwing, made a perfect peg to the plate, but Sundra had stopped at third. Rolfe sent a deep fly to Rosenthal and Sundra scampered home on the play. Henrich grounded to Connors for the third out.

The Sox Fight Back.

Sundra's one run lead didn't do him much good in the fourth when the Sox plastered him with four hits, three scoring. Connors opened this drive with a single to left and Appling helped it along with a single to center. Rosenthal drilled a two bagger past Gehrig, Connors scoring. Appling registered while Crosetti was engaged in tossing out Berger. Rensa also was thrown out by Crosetti, but there were no scoring developments. Rigney, however, came through with a single over second and Rosenthal scored.

The Yanks' sixth was so strenuous

LEE HURLS 4TH SHUTOUT IN ROW TO TIE RECORD

Bryant Tames Phils in Second Game.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 22.—The Cubs this afternoon celebrated the return of long absent fair weather by whipping the Phillies, 4 to 0 and 2 to 1, thanks to stellar pitching rather than the offense, which was ludicrously meek most of the time.

Bill Lee was the victor in the first game and triumphantly left the arena loaded with statistics. It was his fourth straight shutout and his ninth of the year. It was his twentieth victory of the campaign, the second time in his major league career he has reached that golden total. He won 20 and lost 6 in 1935, but that year he was working with a team that knew the purpose for which baseball bats are manufactured. It was the seventeenth shutout of the season by the Cubs, who really have to hold the opposition to no runs to have reasonable assurance of victory.

Bryant Costs Self Shutout.

Clay Bryant, who now is rated by Manager Gabby Hartnett as the other half of his pitching staf, presided nicely at the second conquest. He, too, would have had a shutout if he had not made a goofy error in the first inning.

Bill Herman, with a single and a triple, was the batting factor in the first game. Bill Jurges' triple was the main element of the run with which the Cubs tied the score in the second game. The second and winning run was put on base by a fluke, but was driven home by Jurges' second hit, a single.

Despite the double victory, the Cubs failed to gain on the Pirates, who bowled over the Dodgers in two engagements.

Eleven Games to Play.

The Cubs now have only eleven contests in which to overcome the three and one-half game lead the Pirates enjoy. Two of these will be played here against the Phillies tomorrow. The Cubs then will go home for three with the Cardinals and three with the Pirates before going to St. Louis to wind up the season with three games against the Cards.

The Pirates have ten games remaining. They will go home tonight to open a three game series with the Reds, starting tomorrow. Then will come the three with the Cubs and four in Cincinnati to conclude their season.

While running his scoreless string to 37 1-3 innings, Lee equalled a National league record for consecutive shutouts. Others who pitched four in a row were Grover Alexander for the Phillies in 1911 and Ed Reulbach for the 1908 Cubs. The major league record is five shutouts in a row by Harris White of the 1904 White Sox.

Today's shutout had points of similarity with the 4 to 0 whitewashing given the Giants Lee's last time out. Against the Giants Lee gave 13 hits as compared to seven by the Cubs. Today the Phillies couldn't score on 10 hits, while the Cubs made only six hits off Max Butcher.

FIRST GAME

The Cubs' first run of the first game was acquired in a hurry. Hack walked, went to third on Herman's single, and scored on Cavarretta's fly.

SECOND GAME

The Phillies scored an unearned run before the Cubs accomplished the first out in the second game. Brack walked. Bryant plunked on the seat of his bloomers after picking up Scharein's sacrifice, and threw the ball into center field. Brack reached third and Scharein second on the rather silly error. Pitko singled off Jurges' glove, Brack scoring. Weintraub popped to Hack, Arnovich fouled to Collins and Jordan lined to Reynolds.

The Cubs tied the score in the third and would have done better except for some bum base running by Collins, excusable base running, perhaps, because of Rip's recent lack of familiarity with the base paths. Collins opened with a single to left and fancied he had the speed to reach second. He was tossed out by a wide margin. Jurges followed with a triple and scored on Bryant's single to center. Hack and Herman flied out.

Break Tie in Seventh.

The Cubs got a break at the start of the seventh and seized the opportunity to take the lead. Davis and Jordan became confused and allowed Reynolds' high fly to plunk to earth fifteen feet in front of the plate. O'Dea sacrificed and Collins was

GIANTS' PITCHING TOO GOOD; REDS LOSE 2 GAMES

Schumacher, Gumbert Win, 6-1, 2-1.

New York, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The Giants climbed into third place in the National league today by beating the Cincinnati Reds in both games of a double-header, 6 to 1 and 2 to 1, behind the fine pitching of Hal Schumacher and Harry Gumbert. The Reds fell to fourth place by half a game.

Schumacher pitched a six hitter in the opener. In the second game Gumbert allowed only three hits to beat Paul Derringer. Mickey Haslin hit home runs for both the Giants' runs.

SAINTS DEFEAT BREWERS, 9-1; IN FINAL PLAYOFF

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—St. Paul, American association pennant winner, won its way to the final playoff by beating Milwaukee, 9 to 1, tonight in the deciding contest of their seven game series.

Gullic hit a homer for the Brewers in the first half of the fourth, but Bejma and McCulloch put the Saints ahead with circuit drives in the home half of the inning.

The victory qualified St. Paul to meet Kansas City in the final playoff, which opens here tonight. Score:

for Rigney that three runs scored before an out was recorded. Gehrig walked and Selkirk singled to left. Gordon then banged his twenty-fourth homer into the left field pavilion, putting the champions ahead, 4 to 3. Glenn singled but outs came quickly in the shape of a force play at second on Sundra's grounder and a double killing on Crosetti's tap to Owen. Appling opened the home half with a two bagger, but the possibilities of a tying run received no attention from the next three batters.

Rigney opened the seventh by striking out but presently there were maneuvers which led to a 4 to 4 tie. Radcliff singled to right and moved to second on Owen's tap to Sundra. Radcliff went to third on a wild pitch, which was the fourth ball to Steinbacher. Then Connors singled through short for his third hit, Radcliff scoring and Steinbacher going to third. Appling closed the inning with a fly to Di Maggio.

MISS KING SETS 440 YARD RECORD AT SKATE DERBY

Ivy King, of Toronto, Ont., smashed the world's quarter-mile roller skating record last night in the roller derby in the Coliseum. She covered the distance in 43.2 seconds, followed closely by Mary Youpelle, Hazel Love and Jane Cummings. Only two seconds separated the first three skaters. Gertie Scholl and Kitty Nehls finished in a tie for fourth.

Tonight men skaters will compete in quarter mile trials.

Simmons, one of the country's best two years ago; Lillard, who can drop kick consistently from 40 yards, run, and pass, and Joe Kendall of Kentucky State, one of football's outstanding forward passers, the All-Stars have sufficient dynamite to score once or twice before they wilt under the pace late in the game.

Coach George Halas has been driving the Bears daily since the Green Bay game last week in an effort to snap them into their stride. The champions have not yet begun to play good football, despite the fact that they have scored league victories over the Cardinals and Packers. Tonight's game is one of three in the next week Coach Halas has scheduled solely for the purpose of playing the Bears into shape. The Bears leave after tonight's game for Cincinnati for an exhibition on Sunday, then move on to Charleston, W. Va., for one on Wednesday.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 22.—Gabby Hartnett, having employed his two reliable Cub pitchers today, was in somewhat of a quandary about the talent he will risk tomorrow in the last two games against the Phillies. He says it probably will be Rookie Kirby Higbe and Rookie Vance Page.

The Cubs will leave North Philadelphia tomorrow afternoon as soon as all hands are on board. Their special will be attached to a regular train in Harrisburg at 8:13 o'clock. The troupe will arrive in Chicago at 9:45 o'clock Saturday morning.

After 11 days of record rainfall the sun broke out in earnest early today. This happy weather development, combined with a lot of excellent ground tending, had Shibe park in surprisingly good shape by game time. And things got better as the sun stayed out.

Because the floods have made surface transportation impossible, the St. Louis Cardinals took two United Air Lines planes from Boston to New York after today's games. It was the first time that an entire major league club has traveled by air. The Cardinals were anxious to get to New York so they could make connections for a train to Chicago, where they meet the Cubs on Saturday.

NEWARK EVENS INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE PLAYOFF

Newark, N. J., Sept. 22.—(AP)—The Newark Bears tied the International league playoff series at three victories apiece by whipping the Rochester Red Wings, 7 to 1, tonight behind the five hit pitching of Atley Donald. The Bears landed on Si Johnson, ex-St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, and three relief hurlers for a dozen hits.

The seventh and deciding game will be played here tomorrow night. The winner will meet the Buffalo Bisons, who survived in the other semi-final playoff, in another four out of seven series for the Governor's cup, a $4,000 prize pot, and the right to meet the American association survivor in the little world series. The Bears won the little world series from Columbus last year.

1000 MEN AGREE

F. J. Muller, Washington, D. C., rates Old Quaker Whiskey in the $4.00 class.

One thousand men—from twenty-two states—were asked to try 3-year Old Quaker and rate its worth. Their answers will cause the biggest surprise of the month in the whiskey business—will astonish whiskey experts—bring joy to whiskey buyers.

Why We Made This Trial

We make the claim: Old Quaker at 3 years has reached its Golden Age. Mature on every count—due to our special methods—which include ageing under scientifically controlled summer temperature and checking 51 times from grain to glass. For the straight enjoyment you get from Old Quaker, we believe you would gladly pay more than the unusually low price asked for this 3-year-old whiskey.

We Invite You To Try It

If what 1,000 men have said is true, we predict every man who loves good whiskey will want to try Old Quaker—3 years old. For in the opinion of these men it offers you a clear-cut saving of at least a dollar a quart.

Try it today—then we'll be grateful to hear your frank opinion.

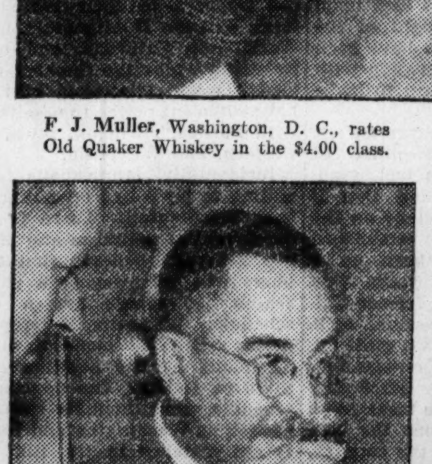
NOTE: These Trials were Conducted by the Market Research Corporation of America.

J.T. Raiford, engineer, says he'll buy Old Quaker in the future—and save about $1.50 a quart.



F. R. Marsh, salesman, thinks 3-year Old Quaker is priced $1.30 a quart below its value.

George W. Clark, accountant, says: "I'm paying $3.95 a quart for whiskey that's not as good as this".

John A. Irwine of Ventnor, N. J., has tasted his drink of Old Quaker. Inquiring Reporter Anderson records his "guess" at close to "$4.00 a quart."

IOWA OPENS ITS SEASON AGAINST U. C. L. A. TONIGHT

Hawkeyes' Pass Defense to Get Severe Test.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—The University of Iowa and U. C. L. A. will open their football seasons in the Coliseum tomorrow night before 40,000.

The game, first major one in the country this season, has several interesting aspects. The quality of Iowa's attack and defense will be tested severely, and the team's importance in the forthcoming Big Ten race may be adjudged on the basis of its performance against the Bruins.

The Hawkeyes have an abundance of weight in the line. The tackles, Henry Luebecke and Jim Kelley, weigh 270 and 225 pounds, respectively. The guards, Bob Allen, and Chuck Brady, weigh 200 and 210 pounds each.

Iowa isn't alone, however, in the possession of bulk in the line. The Bruins, too, have a number of heavy tackles and guards, so superiority of the lines probably will be determined not by weight but by speed.

Both squads have backs considered among the best in their two conferences. Nile Kinnick, playing his second season for Iowa, kicks and passes besides propelling his 180 pounds with considerable speed on running plays.

U. C. L. A.'s most potent offensive threat is Kenneth Washington, colored half back who weighs 199 pounds. He, too, is an excellent passer and runner.

The Californians are expected to harass Iowa with passes. Iowa wasn't especially strong in this element of defense last season. And every man in the present U. C. L. A. back field is a competent passer.

INDIANA WORKS ON PASSES.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—The Indiana university football team took to the air in practice today, engaging in long offensive and defensive forward pass scrimmage.

Most of the passing was done by five sophomores, Ray Bringle and Floyd Tipmore of Elkhart; Joe Nicholson of Evansville, Harold Hursh of Middletown, O., and Harold Zimmer of Springfield, O.

IRISH VARSITY WINS.

ILLINI READY FOR OHIO.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 22. — [Special.]—Coach Bob Zuppke spent today putting finishing touches on the Illinois football attack in preparation for the opening game with Ohio university Saturday.

There was no scrimmage, but all around work and especially pass defense occupied the men. Ohio is expected to rely heavily on its aerial attack, for Johnny Montgomery, 148 pound Bobcat quarter, is a gifted passer.

Ralph Bennett, full back; Cliff Peterson and Tony Mazeika, half backs, and Mel Brewer, quarter back, will comprise the starting back field. Zuppke indicated. In the line probable starters are Ken Zimmerman and Bob Castelo, ends; Jim Reeder and Tom Riggs, tackles; Bob Ingle and Jim Hodges, guards, and Capt. Jim McDonald, center.

DE CORREVONT IS READY.

Although Northwestern's football team will not open its official season until Oct. 1, tomorrow's game with the freshmen rapidly is assuming the proportions of a regular contest. The reason for the unusual interest is the presence in the yearling lineup of Bill De Correvont, who led Austin High school to the Chicago prep school championship last fall.

De Correvont will appear at left half for the freshmen, according to the lineup announced yesterday by Coach Maury Kent. His running mate at right half will be Ike Kepford of Muskegon, Mich., former team mate of Paul Soper, one of the promising varsity sophomore backs. Don Clawson, 215 pound full back from Kankakee, and George Pappas, quarter back from Crystal Lake, Mo., complete the freshman back field.

MICHIGAN SCRIMMAGES.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—The Michigan football squad resumed heavy workouts this afternoon with an offensive scrimmage with emphasis on passing.

Paul Kromer, sophomore half back, starred with his short passes as Norman Purucker, a veteran half back, was at his best on pass receptions. Fred Trosko, junior letter man, shifted to right half back this week, also passed well.

This May Be Year Gophers Tumble from Big 10 Heights

Last year Minnesota defeated Northwestern, Wisconsin, and Indiana by one touchdown each. And the Badgers' exhibition against the 1937 Minnesota team, although the Gophers won that final game, 13 to 6, is evidence that Minnesota must improve to retain the conference title.

Bernie Bierman, who is starting his seventh season as coach, and under whom the Gophers have compiled the fine record of thirty-seven victories, six defeats, and four tied games, calls this eleven "green seniors." He also insists that Minnesota has not been getting freshmen material of the caliber that matriculated four and five years ago.

With the possible exception of an end, where Ray King and Dwight Reed were lost by graduation, Minnesota's problem this week, and for all season, is generalship. Many attributed the defeat by Nebraska last year to indifferent quarterbacking.

No Worries Until 1937.

Until 1937 the Gophers had no worries over this job with Glenn Seidel, Babe Levoir and Bud Wilkinson performing brilliantly. Last year Vic Spadaccini was shifted from full back to quarter back. He divided the assignment with George Faust, who now is a senior and No. 1 choice for the position.

While Faust is regarded as satisfactory and his substitute's rôle last season is explained by internal friction on the squad, he still must prove his leadership under game conditions. Phil Belfiori, another senior, who also can be used at full back, is running Faust a race for the right to direct the Gophers.

John Mariucci, junior, Eveleth, Minn., and George Nash, senior, Minneapolis, are the starting ends. Nash only has been kept from a varsity position for two years by such great ends as Reed and King. Mariucci is a hard tackler, impervious to head on contacts. But substitutes for these men are sophomores, Bob Bjorcklund and Bill Johnson, and Bierman hopes he doesn't have to use either. However, Bierman admits that Bjorcklund is one of two sophomores who may see service against Washington.

The other is Ed Steinbauer from Owatonna, a full back. Full back spells the type of attack to which the Gophers have accustomed their opponents. In Larry Buhler, 200 pound senior, Minnesota still has a powerful plunger who perhaps is better than in 1937.

Last year Bierman continually shifted men seeking strength at the tackles. Now, with Lou Midler gone, he still has the same problem and fewer men. Allen Rork, senior, has been moved from guard to tackle. Warren Kilbourne, Win Pederson, Marvin Levoir, and Charles Schultz [a guard early last fall] complete the list. Bob Johnson, who served as a tackle, has been moved to guard where Minnesota has strength in Capt. Francis Twedell, Horace Bell, the place kicker, and Ken Filbert.

Van Every and Wilbur Moore, fast, hard blocking right half, give Minnesota two good men to line up with Buhler and Faust. Van Every also can be shifted to the right half and George Franck, from Davenport, Ia., who didn't play last year but who appears to be ready for action now, will be the left half.

BADGERS SCRIMMAGE.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Favored by excellent weather, Coach Harry Stuhldreher this afternoon drove Wisconsin's varsity football squad through its third hard scrimmage in as many days in preparation for a game with the freshmen Saturday.

Five players are suffering from minor injuries, but all are expected to be ready for the battle with the freshmen. Lynn Hovland, veteran guard, has a gash in his forehead, Roy Bellin and Bill Garrott have shoulder injuries, and both Bob Wiegandt and Jimmy Martin are nursing leg injuries.

MAROONS' LINE GREEN.

Six sophomores and one senior compose Chicago's line. Sidelines comment about each of the newcomers yesterday, was, "Well, he looks pretty good, but he's green,"

Latest of the sophomore linemen to attract favorable comment, although with the usual "but," is Willis Littleford, left end. Littleford, six feet two inches tall, but little for his height, has been handling himself with poise and precision, making clean and frequent tackles and blocks, and above all, catching passes like an outfielder. He snagged three in quick succession for long gains in yesterday's short scrimmage. Littleford is from Downers Grove.

Varsity jerseys, with the new maroon and white striped shoulder marks, were issued yesterday.

PURDUE TAPERS OFF.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Purdue today started tapering off preparations for the visit of the University of Detroit eleven Saturday. A considerable part of the drill was devoted to kickoffs and receiving kickoffs. Lou Brock, Paul Humphrey, and Augie Morningstar were the most consistent kickers.

All indications point to a record opening day crowd. Saturday's game will be preceded by a contest between the Purdue and the Illinois B teams. Between 6,000 and 7,000 boy scouts will be guests of the athletic department for the afternoon. More than 1,000 rooters will follow the Detroit team to Lafayette.

DE PAUL IS WORRIED.

The De Paul line which will face Ripon tomorrow remained a puzzle to Coach Ben Connor after the regulars failed to stop the frosh, using Ripon plays, yesterday.

Capt. Tom Roberts, tackle probability, will be out of the Ripon game with an injured side. Clem Naughton, regular end, has not recovered from an attack of flu, and with Nick Delich, sophomore, who has a weak knee, also will rest tomorrow.

OHIO STUDIES INDIANA PLAYS.

Austin's football team sets out in quest of its third consecutive Chicago Public High School league championship tonight. The west siders, with only one member of their 1937 cast in the lineup, oppose Crane Tech in Mills stadium in one of the two opening league games on the program. It will start at 8 o'clock.

The other game will bring together Hyde Park and Kelly at St. Rita field, 63d street and Claremont avenue. The kickoff is scheduled for 4 o'clock. All other teams will make their debuts tomorrow, eleven games being scheduled in the four sections of the league.

Casey Piefer, slender half back, will be the only regular from last year's powerful team in the Austin lineup against Crane Tech. Piefer played full back during the 1937 campaign, but has been shifted to left half back, the spot left vacant by Bill De Correvont. Piefer scored a touchdown against Fenwick in a practice game last Friday night, but the Catholic leaguers won the game, 19 to 13, in the final minutes.

Piefer's companions in the back field will be three players who saw little action in the 1937 drive to the championship. Tony Di Andrea, who weighs only 130 pounds, will be at right half; Bill Van Ness will be at full back, and Ed Novak will play quarter back.

Proviso Meets Duluth Eleven.

Proviso High of Maywood, a member of the Suburban league, entertains Denfield High of Duluth, Minn., in Maywood tonight. A capacity crowd is expected to watch the game, opening sports event of Maywood's Festival of Progress. Proviso defeated Duluth, 13 to 6, on the latter's field last year.

C. K. MORRIS' 75 WINS IN BOND CLUB TOURNEY

C. K. Morris of Charles K. Morris & Co. shot 36—39—75 for low gross at the second annual outing of the Municipal bond club yesterday at Kildeer. Joseph D. Murphy of Stifel, Nicolaus & Co. won low net for members with 86—16—70. Donald W. Green, with Investors Syndicate of Minneapolis, won low net for guests with 79—11—68.

Among sensible people the trend's to G&W Five Star. Try it next time you step out and see why. Skillful blending is the secret of Five Star's delightful flavor. And only G&W's 106 years of experience could give you a whiskey that's so completely satisfying. Remember to ask for G&W Five Star when you feel sociable!

The Regal Reproduction, with every style detail and the same fine quality Norwegian Grain, costs you $5.85

• Mr. Peterson, of Wylie & Peterson, New York's leading Custom Bootmakers, comparing his hand-made Original with the Regal Custom Reproduction.

It is a triumph in fine shoe making to use the Lasts, Leathers and Patterns selected by this great Custom Bootmaker, and reproduce in the Regal Factory, at our low price, every style detail of the hand-made original models, designed by this recognized authority.

You may remember when we made an actual test in thirty-three different cities and showed eight famous Custom Bootmaker's shoes in our windows, side by side with the Regal Reproductions. We offered to give any one a pair of Regal Shoes if they could pick the Originals from the Reproductions, and when the sealed ballot box was opened it proved that nine out of ten couldn't tell the difference.

But of course there is a difference. Our shoes are sewed by machine in our Factory. Wylie & Peterson's shoes are sewed by hand in their shop,—and this costs more than ten times as much. They turn out 3 or 4 pairs a day. We make 3,000 a day. It's the Volume that makes this Value possible.

And the reasons why we can give this outstanding Value at our Low Price are because we buy the finest Leathers from the world's best Tanners—make our shoes in our own Factory with the most skilled craftsmen in old New England—ship direct to our own stores, located in the principal cities from Coast to Coast—with only One Profit—between the Regal Factory and You.

RESUME PLAY IN U. S. TENNIS TOURNEY TODAY

New York, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Competition in the men's and women's national singles tennis tournament is to be resumed tomorrow afternoon on the courts of the West Side Tennis club in Forest Hills. After four and a half days of rain, bright sunshine today dried the turf courts, and the forecast was for continued fair weather.

Alice Marble of Los Angeles, 1936 champion, and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Cambridge, Mass., will lead off the program, with the winner going into the final against Nancye Wynne of Australia. Then Gene Mako will play Australia's John Bromwich and, finally, Defending Champion Don Budge will tackle Sidney B. Wood Jr. in the other men's semi-final.

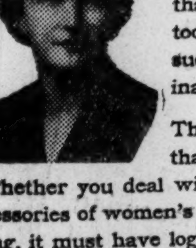
Thinks Time Is Ripe For New Automobile Style Cycle

Noted Viennese Designer Points Out That Better Cars Should Soon Bring Smarter Styles

BY MME. IDA JOLLES



All of us appreciate the constant change that is the rule in the world of fashion; too few, perhaps, realize what is behind such change, or what change marks the inauguration of a true style departure.

The fact is that the best style is the style that best expresses purpose. This is true whether you deal with automobiles or the important accessories of women's dress. Whether it's a car or a handbag, it must have logic as well as loveliness if it hopes to start a style.

Personally, I expect automobile design to embark upon a new road in the very near future. Too much attention, of late, has been going to the detail of decoration and too little to expressing the constant improvement that has been marked in automobile construction.

From all I hear, the car most likely to establish such a new style cycle appears to be the new Buick which will soon be announced. Reports that reach me point it out as something that derives its smartness from its improvement in functional design. That will be sufficient to make it a car that at last starts us on a new style cycle.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of loose false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wabbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds loose false teeth firmer, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks plate odor (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

When mouth tissues change, see your dentist.

Kane Whips Jack Jurich to Take Flyweight Title

LIVERPOOL, England, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Peter Kane, British flyweight, outpointed Jack Jurich, American contender, from California, to win the British flyweight title before a crowd of 40,000 today.

CARDINALS AIM TO PROVE ABILITY TO BLOCK, TACKLE

Since Milan Creighton was promoted from an end position to that of head coach four seasons ago, the Chicago Cardinals have been known as one of the finest blocking and tackling teams in the National Football league. Proud of this reputation, even in years of frequent defeats, the Cardinals work steadily to excel in these two important phases of the game.

Another long session of taking out and bringing down moving targets occupied the squad again yesterday in Mills stadium, where the Cardinals are preparing for their annual trip to Milwaukee for an engagement with Green Bay on Sunday. It was the second drill o its type this week. At least one and sometimes two practices will be devoted to rough work the rest of the season, Creighton said.

Punting also has been stressed this week. It was poor kicking that kept the Cardinals backed up against their own goal line most of Saturday night in Cleveland and finally brought the sturdy Chicago defense to its knees late in the game. Only the blocking of the attempt at extra point prevented the Rams from tying Cardinals.

Douglas Russell, Frank Patrick, Dwight Sloan and Buddy Parker have been doing most of the kicking. Most of their ineptness at Cleveland was attributed to the weather which prevented kickers from working out last week. The sunny afternoons of the last two days have given them ample opportunity to exercise their talents, however, and Creighton looks for another performance such as characterized their work against the Bears in the opening game, when Russell capped a night of good kicking with a tremendous boot that measured 80 yards from the line of scrimmage.

American Automobile Wins 6th Straight, 17-12

American Automobile, defending champions, defeated London and Lancashire, 17 to 12, last night in Grant park in the Insurance Softball league playoffs. It was the champions sixth straight victory and assures them of a tie for the title. They have one more game to play. In the other game Great American beat Miller's National, 5 to 2, to move into a tie for second place. Two more games will be played this evening in Grant park.

Jocky Ashcroft Wins Four Races at Hawthorne Track

BY FRENCH LANE.

All any one had to do to beat the races at Hawthorne yesterday afternoon was to back the horses Jocky Jimmy Ashcroft was astride. To make it all the more profitable for the Ashcroft followers it was long shot day at Hawthorne.

The track was slow, just in between being heavy and good. Trainers were in a quandary. Handicappers were completely baffled. The horses that were figured to run fast stepped along like tortoises. The slow ones ran like Man O'War.

He roused Oh Dolly with his whip and made her come from behind to win the second race at a mutuel payoff of $19.80. It was Oh Dolly's second victory in a row. She beat the heavily backed Calculator and Grey Ethel in a close finish.

Escolee Returns $12.

Along came the Plaza claiming purse. It was Ashcroft again. He was in the saddle on Peter F., owned by A. R. Born of Chicago.

Home dashed Peter F. Katherine G. finished second and Lamonte was third. Peter F., paid off his backers at $21.40 for a $2 ticket.

Ashcroft wasn't finished by any means. He rode Sly Gal in the Victory purse. After the quarter mile champion, Foxy Maude, made a dizzy early pace closely followed by Larry S., Ashcroft rallied Sly Girl. She got up to win by one length. For the first time this year one jocky had ridden four winners in an afternoon at Hawthorne.

Gets Eight in Second Week.

He has galloped into the charmed circle twelve times during the first four days of this week. It is a record not equalled in Chicago this year.

Hawthorne's first fast track since Sept. 6 is a possibility for tomorrow's double stake card. The result should be large fields. The Schank Memorial, in particular, seems an open race, with Leading Article, Mar Le, Mad Money, Mr. Blaze, Dora May, Sumatra III., Grey Streak, Chance Ray, Cardinalis, and Kings Blue all accepting the issue in the six furlong sprint.

The companion feature, the Autumn handicap for 2 year olds, may attract most of the fifteen nominated for the race. The probable starters include Mordecai, Smart Trick, Maetown, Bala Ormont, Montsin, Caddie Cay, Matchup, Cotime, Miss Baker, Viscounty and American Byrd. The Autumn handicap is also at six furlongs.

Jocky Joe Marinelli received a ten day suspension from the stewards yesterday. His offense was crowding while riding Carbon Copy, which ran second to Escolee in the fourth race.

Mrs. John P. Cralley of 8134 Loomis street, Chicago, and Henry Segnitz of 446 Walker street, Michigan City, Ind., finished in a dead heat in Hawthorne's rating contest yesterday. Each picked five winners and two seconds and each won $500.

G. T. DONOGHUE IS RE-ELECTED A. A. U. PRESIDENT

WESTERN TENNIS PROS DRILL FOR TITLE TOURNEY

Richard Skeen and Johnny Faunce, leading California tennis professionals, were among the players who practiced yesterday on the Chicago arena courts for the national professional singles and doubles tournament starting next Wednesday.

Last night the two California professionals played singles and doubles matches with Bobby Riggs and Wayne Sabin, ranking amateurs. George Lott Jr., George O'Connell, George Jennings and Lloyd Budge also were on the courts. Fred Perry, English star, will start practice Monday.

Lewis Returns to Stadium as Matchmaker

Nate Lewis, Chicago Stadium matchmaker from 1929 to 1936, will return to his old job in anticipation of renewed boxing activity in the west side arena this winter, it was learned last night.

James Norris Jr., Stadium vice president, will be the formal promoter. At Monday's meeting of the Illinois athletic commission the Stadium is expected to ask for Nov. 18 for its first show. This will be one of six shows to be conducted in the building with the coöperation of Mike Jacobs, New York promoter.

Others are to be held in December, January and March. A match involving Al Hostak, middleweight champion, and John Henry Lewis for the latter's light heavyweight title, and another between Henry Armstrong, lightweight and welterweight champion, and Davey Day may be arranged.

Covelli Tests Joyce Tonight in 10 Round Bout

Joyce is undefeated since he turned pro by beating Battling Raymond in Gary last Nov. 10. He now has a record of twelve victories and one draw in thirteen appearances. His best achievement is a technical knockout of Young Billy Miller of Pittsburgh July 25.

George Mack vs. Pat Murphy [wrestling].

Her Lips Will Tell You

Smokers' Test showed Vintage Tobacco was easier on your breath

WHITE OWLS are definitely easier on your breath—scientific tests proved it. And there's always a good reason why, too. Every White Owl always has a Vintage-quality filler. Nature—not artificial factory processing—made this tobacco exceptionally mild, mellow.

We maintain a vast crop-inspection system—the only known organization of its kind—to locate Vintage tobacco. Even in Vintage years we classify all filler tobaccos into at least seven grades—and use only tobacco of the quality of the top three grades for the filler of our Vintage WHITE OWL cigars.

Have you tried a White Owl lately? It's refreshing to find a cigar that tastes so good . . . and to have it approved by the ladies, too. Light up a Vintage cigar . . . taste the difference.

Vintage WHITE OWL 5¢

THE METALLIC NOSE KNOWS
Scientists use a sensitive osmoscope to measure odor . . . to record its intensity and lasting power. Ten popular brands of 5¢ cigars were tested by this machine. White Owl was easier on the breath than all the others. After 30 minutes, all trace of tobacco odor disappeared from the breath of White Owl smokers.

SEVERAL EDISON UNITS TO RETIRE BONDS AND STOCK

Issues Will Be Redeemed by Debenture Sale.

Bonds and preferred stocks of several subsidiaries of the Commonwealth Edison company were called for redemption yesterday. They will be retired Oct. 22 out of proceeds from the sale of 3½ per cent convertible debentures.

Revised figures showed that 97 per cent of the debentures were subscribed by Commonwealth Edison stockholders, leaving only about a million dollars worth to be taken by eighty-eight underwriters.

Issues to Be Redeemed.

Public Service Company of Northern Illinois: $8,250,000 of first and refunding mortgage 5 per cent bonds, series C, due May 1, 1966, at 104 and accrued interest; $2,284,000 of first and refunding mortgage 4½ per cent bonds, series I, due July 1, 1960, at 104 and accrued interest.

Chicago District Electric Generating corporation: $2,250,000 of first mortgage 6 per cent bonds, series B, due Nov. 1, 1961, at 104 and accrued interest; 33,388 shares of $6 cumulative preferred stock at $107.50 and unpaid accrued dividends to Oct. 22, 1938.

Will Retire Preferred Stock.

Illinois Northern Utilities company: 41,383 shares of 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock and 6,176 shares of $7 junior cumulative preferred stock, both at $110 and unpaid accrued dividends to Oct. 22.

Stockholders of the American Agricultural Chemical company approved an increase in the authorized capital stock to provide for a 3 for 1 split-up.

The S. R. Dresser Manufacturing company called a special meeting of stockholders for Dec. 1. They will be asked to approve a plan of recapitalization providing for only one class of stock instead of the class A and class B shares now outstanding.

BANK CLEARINGS ARE INCREASED BY SETTLEMENTS

New York, Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Midmonth settlements in the week ended yesterday lifted bank clearings to the highest total since the week ended Dec. 23, 1937, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

Total transactions for the period in twenty-two leading cities of the country were $5,987,079,000. This figure was sharply higher than in the preceding week, but it was 7.9 per cent under the $6,500,527,000 reported in the corresponding week a year ago. In the preceding week clearings were 11.6 under 1937 figures.

New York clearings were $3,791,077,000, against $4,074,753,000 last year, a decrease of 7 per cent. Outside cities aggregated $2,196,202,000, or 9.5 per cent under last year. Chicago volume of $295,400,000 was 14.4 per cent below the 1937 week total of $345,200,000.

Richman Brothers.

Investors' Guide: I have been told that the stock of the Richman Brothers company is a good investment. May I have a copy of your report on this company?—D. A.

Answer: The Richman Brothers company makes and distributes men's clothing. Distribution is handled through sixty-two of the company's own stores in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Indiana, Nebraska, Missouri, West Virginia, Massachusetts, and Wisconsin. Mail order and custom tailoring departments also are operated. The largest Richman manufacturing plant is in Cleveland and a smaller establishment is operated at Lorain, O.

The company has no funded debt. The only stock outstanding is an issue of 603,807 no par capital shares. The stock has been paying $3 a year, a little more than was earned last year.

Net income was $1,603,649, or $2.66 a share, last year, compared with $2,227,043, or $3.74 a share, in 1936; $2,100,339, or $3.52 a share, in 1935; $1,820,574, or $3.06 a share, in 1934; $1,719,551, or $2.89 a share, in 1933; $1,460,379, or $2.45 a share, in 1932; and $4,208,037, or $7.08 a share, in 1929.

Aero Supply.

Investors' Guide: Please tell me something about Aero Supply Manufacturing Company, Inc.—R. B.

Answer: The Aero Supply Manufacturing company manufactures screw machine products, including screws, bolts, nuts, washers, rivets, shackles, and various other hardware and equipment parts. Among other products are fuel pumps, precision instruments, and plating machines of the rotary type. Most of the company's products are sold to the airplane and automobile industries.

Outstanding stock includes 14,293 shares of no par $1.50 cumulative convertible class A stock and 412,461 shares of no par class B stock. Dividends are being paid on the class A stock but nothing has been paid this year on the class B shares. A 12½ cent payment last year was the only dividend paid on the class B stock since the company was organized in 1925.

Net income was $236,059, or 52 cents a class B share, in 1937, compared with $59,508, or 9 cents a class B share, in 1936, and $20,870 in 1935. Losses were incurred in the five years ended with 1934. Total assets were $1,098,538 at the end of last year. Current assets were $583,099 and current liabilities were $94,694.

BUICK DIVISION OF GEN. MOTORS BOOSTS OUTPUT

Curtice Regards Business as Improving.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Flint, Mich., Sept. 22.—Encouraged by the improved business outlook, the Buick division of the General Motors corporation is increasing production of its 1939 models beyond its original intention, Harlow H. Curtice, president and general manager of Buick, stated here today. Production currently has been at the rate of 700 cars a day, with the peak to date 812 reached on Wednesday. Output next week will be stepped up to between 900 and 1,000 cars a day.

Harlow H. Curtice.

Starting next Monday the assembly lines will go on a two shift basis, boosting employment at the Flint plants to more than 12,000. Since Aug. 1 about 8,000 workers in Flint have been returned to work.

Fisher Plant Employs More.

In addition, 7,000 persons have been employed in the Fisher body plant here, which builds bodies exclusively. This brings the total employed in Buick manufacturing operations to 19,000.

Increasing production at the Buick plants will be reflected to some extent in the Chicago district because of the increased demand for steel and other products.

Curtice said the new cars would be shown publicly Oct. 5. He said that he is optimistic over conditions for the next few months. He expects the entire automobile market to expand.

"All indices support that view," Curtice said. "I haven't any convenient solutions for the national economic riddle, except that I feel the best thing we can do for every one concerned, is to haul off his coat, pull up his sleeves, and go to work."

Dealers Have More Orders.

W. F. Hufstader, general sales manager of Buick, said that in almost all instances Buick dealers throughout the country have reported that they now have more orders on their books for the 1939 models than they had orders for 1938 models at this time last year.

"Production has been going forward in volume, with the result that dealers will have a good stock of 1939 models on hand when the new cars are announced on Oct. 5," he said.

Hufstader said that by the end of November the output will total more than 55,000 cars. He expects the October output to be about 22,000.

OLDS TO START HEAVY OUTPUT NEXT MONDAY

C. L. McCuen, general manager of the Olds Motor division of General Motors corporation, said yesterday that the Olds plant in Lansing, Mich., will go on a quantity production basis next Monday. He spoke at a luncheon of company dealers at the Palmer house where models of the company's 1939 line of cars were exhibited here for the first time.

For the first time in three years, McCuen said, he is thoroughly optimistic about the business outlook. He said the company is prepared for an excellent year.

AUTO OUTPUT ABOVE 1937 FIRST TIME THIS YEAR

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 22.—For the first time this year factory activity of the automobile industry is above that of a year ago, Automotive News reported today. It placed production this week at 25,254 units, compared with 21,116 last week and 23,222 this week a year ago.

Further advances in car and truck production are looked for next week, with indications that all makers are likely to be operating final assembly lines on new models by Oct. 3.

Puts and Calls—II.

A "call" was explained yesterday as an option to buy stock. A "put," on the other hand, is an option to sell a certain amount of stock at a given price within a specified time.

Suppose that a person owns 100 shares of United States Steel and he thinks that now is a favorable time to sell. He is not sure enough of this, however, to want to part with his stck. The stock may go up in price shortly, in which case he could make a further profit. But he would like to assure himself of getting at least as much as the current price.

He buys a "put" from a "put and call dealer." If he takes a thirty day "put" on 100 shares of United States Steel at the current market price. It gives him the right to deliver the stock to the dealer any time within thirty days at that price, whatever the market may do. If the market goes up, his "put" is worthless because he can sell for more than the price guaranteed by it.

If the market price goes down, he can still deliver his stock and receive approximately the market price at the time he bought the "put."

REJECTS BIDS ON BONDS.

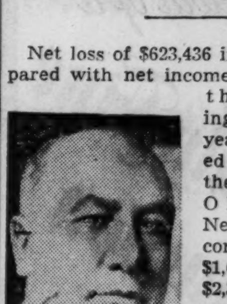
Officials of Woodbury, La., have rejected all bids submitted recently for a new issue of $150,000 of funding bonds. The issue was to be dated Sept. 1 and mature on April 1, Oct. 1, and Dec. 1, 1938.

WAR DEPARTMENT. Office of the Constructing Quartermaster, Chanute Field, Rantoul, Ill. Sealed proposals will be received at this office until 12:00 Noon, Central Standard Time, October 19, 1938, and then publicly opened, for the construction of Foundations Only for A. C. Barracks (2200 men) at Chanute Field, Rantoul, Illinois. Plans and Specifications will be furnished upon the receipt of a Certified Check for Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00), made payable to the Treasurer of The United States.

B. & O. RAILROAD LOSES $623,436 DURING AUGUST

Deficit Also Reported by Pere Marquette.

Net loss of $623,436 in August, compared with net income of $229,528 in the corresponding month last year, was reported yesterday by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. Net operating income declined to $1,636,581, from $2,358,034 in August, 1937. Gross income was $11,512,055, compared with $14,412,947.



W. M. Jeffers expects gain in rail business.

For the first eight months of 1938 the road showed a net loss of $12,864,962. In the similar period last year net income was $123,949. Gross revenue for the period declined to $84,449,509 from $116,845,107, and net operating income dropped to $6,001,043 from $18,055,332.

Pere Marquette Has Deficit.

Pere Marquette's deficit for August, after charges, was $189,202, compared with $39,709 surplus in August, 1937. For the first eight months this year the road's deficit was $2,740,978, against surplus of $1,321,721.

Union Pacific railroad is expecting its business for the remainder of the year to run above 1937 levels, according to W. M. Jeffers, president. The road's August revenues reached the highest level for that month in eight years. Good crops and a satisfactory east bound movement were the reasons for the showing, Jeffers said. He said the west bound movement will pick up in the final quarter.

CUT IN RAILWAY MATERIAL IS MET BY INLAND STEEL

The Inland Steel company yesterday met the reductions in railroad track materials announced earlier in the week by the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation. Prices of other products will continue unchanged for fourth quarter delivery, with the exception of rounds for seamless tubing. The new price on this article is $45 per gross ton, reduced from $50.

The company announced that all its prices will be quoted hereafter "free on board" freight cars, Chicago base, with the exception of rails and joint bars. Sheets and tin mill products have previously been announced "free on board" at Gary, Ind. Rails and joint bars are still based from the Indiana Harbor plant.

ROPER UPHOLDS U. S. SYSTEM OF FREE INDUSTRY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper tonight joined a list of distinguished world business men in upholding the American system of free enterprise. He spoke at a banquet session of the seventh International Management congress.

Earlier today a comparison was drawn between the American economic system and the way of dictatorships. The free enterprise policy of democracies was vigorously defended by Charles R. Hook, president of the National Association of Manufacturers and of the American Rolling Mill company.

He was supported by an address of Dr. A. Basch of Czechoslovakia, general manager of the United Chemical and Metallurgical Works of Prague, who decried dictatorial methods. Dr. Basch was unable to attend the congress because of the Czechoslovakian crisis. His address was read by Clarence E. Davis, secretary of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Roper tonight shared speaking honors with Viscount Leverhulme of London, president of the International Committee of Scientific Management, sponsor of the congress attended by approximately 2,000 delegates from twenty-one nations. Lord Leverhulme lashed at policies that create artificial scarcity and pleaded for international economic coöperation as against nationalism.

Would Promote Good Will.

Roper also asked for international exchange of goods and services to promote good will. He hailed the conference as an example for nations to follow in settling international problems through the "conference method." Speaking of free enterprise, he said:

"It is fundamental to success under a system of free enterprise that equal opportunity for all be maintained in the economic sphere. This is possible only where there is a free field for competition and where freedom to choose what is preferred establishes the relative value of goods and services.

"Business problems under any system are solved soundly only when solved in the interest of all, including the consumer. One of the significant advantages of a freely operating competitive system lies in protecting the consumer."

New Industries Needed.

Roper said that new industries must be created to keep profitably employed the displaced workers, but this does not mean that mechanization must be discouraged.

"It has resulted in the production of needed goods at lower prices," said Roper, "which, in turn gives the consumer the additional capacity to support new industries.

"Mass consumption was made possible through mass production. This was the sustaining force of national prosperity until maladjustments in our economic order caused a log jam of perplexing proportions. The trend of today, while retaining the best of the past, places especial emphasis on human adjustments."

He said that business is now "on the threshold of its most colorful and romantic era." The tendency is for industrial leadership of the future to come through apprenticeship in the ranks.

"Under the urge of the profit motive," he said, "management cannot hope for a Utopian state in which problems will be dissolved by altruistic thinking. Yet only as you strive toward that ideal can imperfections be overcome."

Predicts Less Interference.

Roper predicted less government interference as business heeds social obligations. He said that it is gratifying that enlightened management of corporations is recognizing its social responsibilities in advance of legislative requirements.

"This is as it should be, and as it becomes the general policy of business it will reduce the necessity of government activity and safeguard against what is popularly called 'regimentation,'" he said.

Viscount Leverhulme said that the world has shrunk to the point where the economic inefficiencies of any one country affect the economy of all. He declared that factors of "nationalism" and "territorial sovereignty" must yield to an international point of view in economic affairs if the economic problems now confronting various countries are to be solved in the best interests of all.

"While productive efficiency has in-

Stocks Slide on New Fear of War Abroad

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 22.—Stock market prices closed fractions to around two points lower today. Most of the losses were incurred in the early trading as the market again aped the weaker London and continental exchanges. For the rest of the session the list marked time, although sporadic support lifted some of the leaders from their lows.

Of 600 issues traded 414 closed lower, 85 higher, and 101 unchanged. Industrials, measured by the Dow-Jones averages, lost 1.94 to 137.35. The rail and utility group lost small percentages.

Fear New Chance of War.

The heaviness on European exchanges and the resultant lower prices here were ascribed to fear in financial circles that the Sudeten issue would be expanded in the Godesberg conference to include other minorities. This would further aggravate the situation, it was contended, and reopen the possibility of war in central Europe.

Activity also was curbed to some extent, it was reported, by the collapse of ticker services to the New England area as a result of yesterday's severe storm. The stock exchange reported that the wire quotation service operated by Western Union east of the Connecticut river was silent.

Key industrial stocks were the targets of the selling. Several large blocks changed hands, but the decline was orderly.

Standard Oil of New Jersey was a weak spot in the oils, dropping 1½ points. Aviations were fractionally lower, as were mail order stocks.

Several Issues Freely Offered.

General Motors was in relatively large supply, as also were Chrysler, United States Rubber, United States Steel, Anaconda, and Kennecott Copper. After pressure on these issues was relaxed prices moved slightly higher. At the close they showed net losses of 1 to about 2 points. Kindred issues, notably American Smelting, Bethlehem, Goodyear, Yellow Truck, and B. F. Goodrich, declined in sympathy.

Railway stocks followed the industrials lower. Public utility issues were lightly traded and changes were minor but lower.

Some of the high priced stocks dipped sharply on few trades. Westinghouse lost 2¼; J. I. Case, 3; Allied Chemical, 2⅞; Coca Cola, 2⅝; Union Carbide, 1⅞, and Philip Morris common, 1⅝.

FRANCE TAKES ANOTHER LOAN OF 81 MILLIONS

Financial effects of the European political crisis were disclosed in a statement by the Bank of France yesterday that the French government had borrowed three billion francs [about $81,000,000] under provisions for loans to the state without interest. This increased the total of the government's borrowing within recent weeks to more than 21 billions francs [$568,000,000].

On the heels of the French bank's announcement declines in leading European currencies, including the French franc, were registered in foreign exchange dealings in New York.

The British pound sterling closed 1½ cents lower in terms of the dollar, ending at $4.81½. The French franc dropped .01⅛ cent to 2.69¾.

In Washington Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said that the flood of approximately $500,000,000 of gold from Europe to the United States appeared to be drying up. He did not say why the flow had apparently abated. The gold was shipped here to pay for dollar credits, which apparently went almost entirely into deposits in American banks, Morgenthau said.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York announced the engagement of $5,700,000 of gold in England and $500,000 in Holland.

NEW BUILDING IN ILLINOIS FAR BELOW YEAR AGO

The estimated value of building permits issued during August in Illinois cities was $5,534,141 the state department of labor announced today. This was 27.8 per cent less than the total of August, 1937, which was $7,661,294. It was 9.6 per cent below the July, 1938 total of $6,122,727.

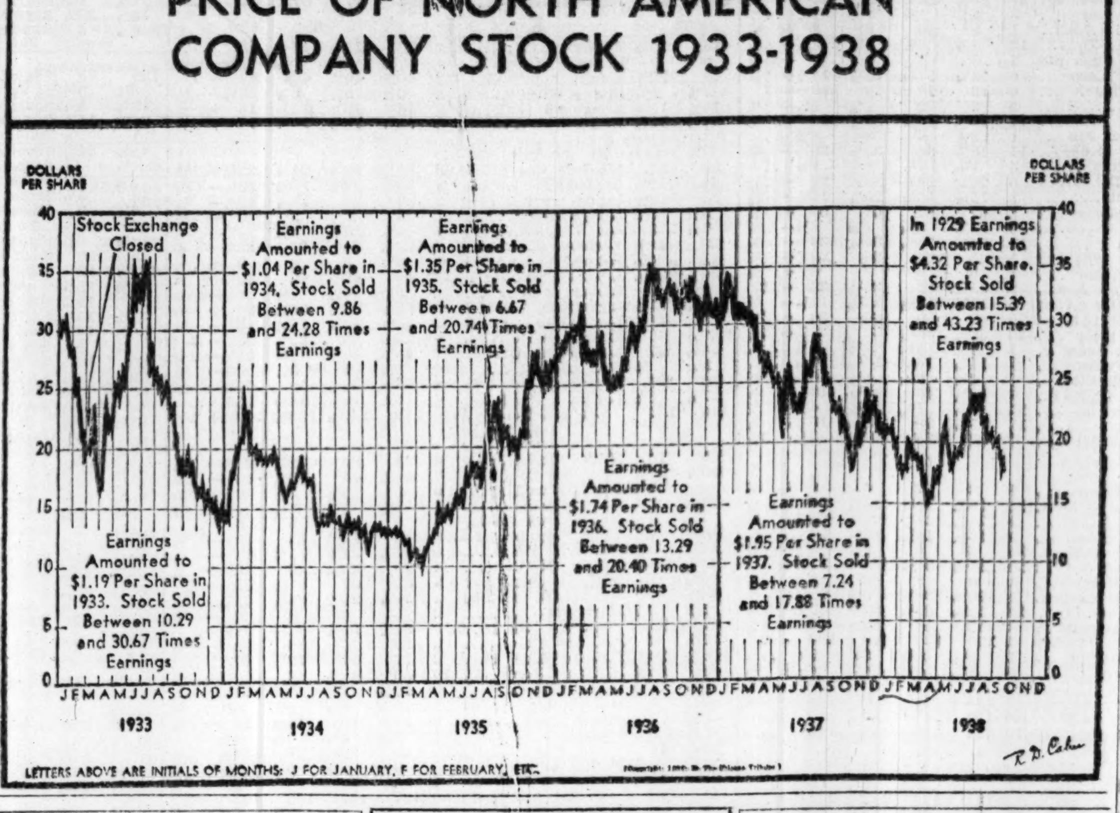
Residential building, however, showed an increase in both number of projects and cost over August of last year. These permits numbered 509 valued at $2,656,598. Last year the August permits for homes totaled 416 valued at $2,319,438. In July of this year permits were issued for 497 homes valued at $2,871,253.

BUSINESS BITS

Dean H. Mitchell, once a night shift worker in the Gary steel mills, yesterday was elected president of the Northern Indiana Public Service company. He succeeds John N. Shanahan, who died last month. Mitchell started to work in the steel mills upon his graduation from the University of Chicago shortly before the world war. The board of directors of the public service company also named David L. Bement and E. D. Anderson as vice presidents.

The election of Fred D. Fagg Jr. as chairman of the aviation committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce has been announced. Fagg, dean of the Northwestern university school of commerce, succeeds George B. Foster.

Allan Sproul, first vice president of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, has been named manager of the open market account of the federal reserve system.



Omit Dividend of Copper Firm Hit by Mexico

Directors of the Greene Cananea Copper company yesterday took no action on the capital stock dividend due at this time. In preceding quarters the corporation paid 75 cents on its stock.

Greene Cananea Copper is a holding company for the Cananea Consolidated Copper company, which holds mining claims covering 9,200 acres in the state of Sonora, Mexico. The Anaconda Copper Mining company, which owns most of the capital stock, controls the two corporations.

Late last week 4,000 workers in the company's Mexican mines went on strike.

Seeks to Socialize Industry.

The strike apparently is in line with the Mexican government's attempt to socialize the mining industry. As in the controversy which led to the expropriation of foreign owned oil lands, the Mexican labor board has begun negotiations with Greene Cananea Copper and other mining corporations. The government seeks to turn over most of the administrative control and all but a small margin of profits to workers in the industry.

A reduced interim dividend of 20 cents on the common stock was ordered yesterday by directors of the McLellan Stores company. The payment will be made Nov. 1 to stockholders of record Oct. 11. In January the company paid 40 cents and on Nov. 1 last year 20 cents was disbursed.

ORDERS ILLINOIS COAL FIRM AVOID UNION FACTIONS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—(AP)—The Mine B Coal company of Springfield, Ill., was ordered by the national Labor Relations board yesterday to cease encouraging its employés to join the C. I. O.'s United Mine Workers or discouraging membership in the Progressive Miners of America, an A. F. of L. affiliate.

The board said its order was based on an agreement entered into on Aug. 11 by the coal company, the United Mine Workers, the Progressives, and representatives of the board. The order provides that the company shall withdraw recognition from contracts entered into with the C. I. O. union in August and September, 1937, and reëmploy all workers who were on the regular pay roll on May 12, 1937, when a strike halted operations.

The Progressive miners had complained that the company entered into closed shop agreements at a time when the C. I. O. union did not represent a majority of the employés.

Wholesale Prices Rise in Week Ended Sept. 17

Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—The general level of wholesale prices rose in the week ended Sept. 17, the bureau of labor statistics announced today. The bureau's index, based on the 1926 average, was 78.3, compared with 77.9 on Sept. 10 and 87.4 on Sept. 14, 1937. Continued advances in market prices of farm products and foods again largely accounted for the rise.

GOLD INFLUX LAST WEEK PUTS U. S. STOCK ABOVE 13½ BILLIONS

Imports last week raised the stock of monetary gold in the United States to more than 13 billion 588 million dollars, the federal reserve board reported yesterday.

The increase in the week ended last Wednesday was 167 million dollars. This was somewhat smaller than the 184 millions of gold received in the preceding week. Most of the gold has been shipped to this country from England. A large part of it represents transfers of capital caused by fear of a European war.

Despite the heavy gold inflow last week the idle reserve funds in the banking system fell sharply. This resulted from sale of 700 million dollars of new government securities and the payment into the treasury of third quarter income tax instalment. The general account of the treasury was 571 millions larger than a week earlier.

Bank loans fell in Chicago and New York, the board said. Chicago banks were lending 3 millions less to commercial borrowers on Wednesday. Loans of New York banks to commercial borrowers were off 18 millions from the preceding week. Loans to brokers and dealers in New York dropped 60 millions.

REFUSES SEC PARTICIPATION IN POSTAL CASE

New York, Sept. 22.—(AP)—A plea to invite the Securities and Exchange commission to take part in the reorganization of Postal Telegraph and Cable corporation was denied today by Judge Alfred C. Coxe in the federal court.

The request for SEC participation was made by Percival E. Jackson, an attorney representing minority bondholders' interests. He sought the action under the Chandler act, a revision of the federal bankruptcy law, which provides that the SEC become a party to all reorganizations when the estate amounts to more than $3,000,000. The act became effective today.

Judge Coxe said he saw no necessity for SEC participation at this time. Because the Postal's reorganization was started long before the Chandler act became effective, the SEC could enter the case only at the invitation of Judge Coxe.

A reorganization plan for Postal was submitted to Judge Coxe yesterday, bearing the indorsement of the Lehman and Stewart bondholders' committees.

Electrical Firm Restores Pay Cut Imposed in April

A 5 per cent reduction made on April 1 in the wages of lower income employés of the Apex Electrical Manufacturing company of Cleveland, O., was restored yesterday, the company announced. Accelerated production doubled the factory pay roll in August over that of July, officials reported.

TRUST OFFICERS WILL MEET IN CHICAGO ON INVESTMENT PROBLEM

Problems confronting trust officers in the management of investments will be discussed at the Ninth Mid-Continent Trust conference to be held Sept. 29 and 30 at the Stevens hotel.

Frank F. Taylor.

Seven hundred officers of trust companies in fifteen states are expected to attend the meeting. Frank F. Taylor, vice president of the Continental Illinois National bank; Roy C. Osgood, vice president of the First National bank, and Harold Eckhart, vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, will preside at forums on taxes, real estate, and trust regulations.

F. Cyril James, professor of economics of the Wharton School of Commerce and Finance of the University of Pennsylvania, will speak on "Investment Problems in a Changing World," at the banquet Sept. 29.

Wheat Firmer on Revival of War Scare

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Wed.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$0.64⅛	$0.62⅞	$1.07⅞
Corn	.49½	.48⅞	.65½
Oats	.25¾	.25	.31⅛
Rye	.43⅜	.42⅝	.80½
Soy beans	.75¾	.75⅛	.93¾

Increased apprehension regarding possible political developments in Europe resulted yesterday in a moderate upturn in wheat prices. Trading in American markets, however, was almost at a standstill. Speculators were reported to be afraid to take a decided stand one way or the other.

Strength in the Liverpool market and firmness in prices at Winnipeg had some effect on sentiment. Closing prices on wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade were at net gains of 1 to 1⅜ cents a bushel. Liverpool advanced ¾ to 1⅜ cents a bushel.

Wheat Active in Winnipeg.

A big trade in wheat futures was reported in Winnipeg. The Canadian market closed 1⅛ to 1¼ cent a bushel higher. Export and milling sales of Canadian cash wheat were estimated as high as 4,000,000 bushels, the largest day's business so far this season.

Selling of cash wheat and futures attributed to the Canadian wheat board was a factor in limiting advances in Winnipeg. Farmers were reported to have delivered 9,029,000 bushels of cash wheat on Sept. 21 at the country elevators in the three western Canadian provinces. This was the largest quantity on record, and compared with 1,932,000 bushels a year ago.

Trading in September delivery of wheat, corn, oats, and rye ceased at the close of the market yesterday. Deliveries of cash grain on September contracts will continue until Sept. 30.

December Wheat Prices Narrow.

The bulk of the trading in December wheat on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday was within a small fraction of a cent a bushel of the 64 cent level.

Corn was somewhat firmer in sympathy with wheat and reports that 150,000 bushels had been sold for export, largely to the continent. September corn closed unchanged. The deferred futures were ⅝ cent higher.

The grain tested 23 per cent moisture and weighed 52 pounds per measured bushel. It was sold at auction at 46½ cents a bushel.

U. S. COAL BUREAU JOINS IN FIGHT ON GAS PIPELINE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—(AP)—The bituminous coal commission backed coal interests of nearly a dozen states today in the fight on a proposed pipeline from southwestern Kansas to Minnesota, newest focal point in the economic struggle between natural gas and coal.

The coal commission filed a petition with the federal power commission in opposition to the pipeline application of the Kansas Pipeline and Gas company, pointing out that Minnesota consumed about 8,000,000 tons of bituminous a year.

"Displacement of coal from these areas," said the coal commission, "which would follow expansion of natural gas consumption, would deprive railroads of revenue and divert coal to other markets which are already congested."

The coal commission has filed a similar petition with the Reconstruction Finance corporation, opposing the company's application for a loan of $20,000,000.

SEC to Subpena Former Head of Associated Gas

Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Lewis M. Dabney Jr. counsel for the Securities and Exchange commission, said today the commission had a subpena for Howard C. Hopson in proceedings to determine the relationship between Utilities Employés Securities company and various companies in the Associated Gas and Electric company. Hopson formerly was head of Associated Gas.

CRUCIBLE STEEL HAS $1,540,360 HALF YEAR LOSS

Trend Upward Now, Says President.

The Crucible Steel Company of America yesterday reported a consolidated net loss of $1,540,360 for the first six months of 1938. F. B. Hufnagel, chairman and president, said, however, that the trend of business is now upward. The company had a net profit of $3,099,797, or $5.03 a common share, in the first half of 1937.

"Improvement in orders thus far in the second half," Hufnagel said, "has encouraged the management to believe the trend of business has changed and is definitly upward."

American Ship Building company, Cleveland, showed a moderate decline in profits for the fiscal year ended June 30. Mandel Brothers, Inc., reported a loss for the six months to July 31, in contrast to a profit in the corresponding 1937 period. For the same period a New York department store, R. H. Macy & Co., showed a loss this year against a profit in 1937.

Nets $427,674 in Year.

American Ship Building's net income of $427,674 for the fiscal year compared with net income of $452,518 in the preceding year. W. H. Gerhauser, president, said that the volume of business increased during the year, but that the amount of repair work declined. The company completed two 12,000 ton bulk freight ships for use on the Great Lakes.

Net loss by Mandel Brothers in the six months amounted to $57,203, before federal taxes. In the like 1937 period, the company's net profit before federal taxes was $101,987.

Sales declined to $7,942,834, from $8,990,185. For the twelve months ended July 31, sales slipped to $18,330,371 from $19,682,713 in the preceding twelve months, and net profit declined to $354,735 from $526,603, before federal taxes.

R. H. Macy and affiliated stores reported for the six months to July 31 a net loss of $601,039, against net profit of $787,212 in the like period last year. Sales slipped to $54,953,504 from $60,944,329.

Silver Mine's Profits Fall.

Sunshine Mining company, operating silver properties in Idaho, reported for the first six months net income of $1,958,091 against $2,798,183 in the 1937 first half.

320,000 Get Factory Jobs During August

Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Approximately 320,000 factory wage earners were added to employment rolls in August, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins announced today. It was the largest August gain in recent years with the exception of 1933 and 1935.

Secretary Perkins.

Miss Perkins explained that the August increase of 4.9 per cent in factory employment was much larger than the usual seasonal increase of 1.5 per cent. She also reported that the 8.9 per cent rise in factory pay rolls was more marked, especially when compared to the normal gain for August of about 3 per cent. Pay rolls rose nearly $12,000,000 in weekly wage disbursements, she said.

Gains Are Widespread.

"Gains were widespread in manufacturing industries," the secretary said. "Wholesale trade firms hired more employés, while in retail trade reductions in employment were smaller than usual for the season. Bituminous coal mines reported a small seasonal gain of approximately 9,000 men. Employment in anthracite mines declined about 10,000. Railroads took on 10,000 more men in August, the third consecutive expansion this summer. In other lines of industry there were no marked changes in employment.

"As compared with August of last year, factory employment was 21 per cent lower, and factory pay rolls were down 29 per cent, as measured by the revised indexes. The nondurable goods industries again accounted for most of the gain in factory forces during the month, with an increase of 7 per cent.

First Gain in Ten Months.

"Employment in the durable goods group of manufacturing industries increased for the first time in ten months, by about 2 per cent. Steel mills expanded their forces by 6,500. Electrical machinery plants expanded by 3,700 workers, and there were substantial gains in foundries and machine shops, furniture factories and sawmills. In the automobile industry employment was reduced by about 18,000, primarily because of shutdowns for model changes."

In Illinois workers increased 2.2 per cent and pay rolls 4.7 per cent.

WEEK'S BUILDING AWARDS HIGHEST SINCE JUNE, 1937

New York, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Engineering construction awards in the week ended Sept. 20 were the highest since the week ended June 24, 1937, and exceeded the corresponding 1937 week for the tenth successive period, Engineering News-Record reported today.

Public construction was at its highest level since the week ended Jan. 9, 1936, gaining 58 per cent over the preceding week and was 117 per cent over 1937. Details follow:

UNIONS WARNED RUST MAY END N. SHORE FIGHT

Line to Be Worthless Soon, Judge Hints.

With a warning to warring unions that unless operation of the North Shore railroad is resumed soon there will be nothing left to fight over, Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday opened the way for a new series of negotiations to settle the strike. The road has been idle and its 1,300 workers without pay since Aug. 16.

Judge Wilkerson approved the recommendation of the receiver, Col. A. A. Sprague, that he be allowed to try to make a short term contract with division 900 of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway, and Motor Coach Employés. Two railroad brotherhoods are disputing the jurisdiction of the Amalgamated. They indicated they would not interfere with such a contract if their members were not required to leave the brotherhoods and join the Amalgamated.

Calls for Quick Action.

"If this jurisdictional row continues," Judge Wilkerson said during a hearing on a report of the receiver, "there may be nothing left for employés, bondholders, the public, or any one else.

"The road, it seems, is hopelessly bankrupt. If it cannot be operated peacefully then the only thing to do is to come in and get an order of foreclosure and sale.

"The tracks are rusting, the equipment is idle, and the trafic is being diverted. If the road cannot be continued as a carrier it should be sold for scrap."

Although the strike was precipitated by an order for a 15 per cent wage cut, the jurisdictional fight has been the big obstacle to a settlement.

Closed Shop Demanded.

It is still the big issue to be settled, parties to the negotiations said yesterday. The Amalgamated is demanding a closed shop. Division 308 of the Amalgamated, representing workers of the Chicago elevated lines, backs this demand with a threat that the North Shore trains will not be allowed to operate over the elevated tracks unless they are manned by Amalgamated operators.

Two brotherhoods—the trainmen and firemen—still oppose the closed shop for the Amalgamated. According to Leo J. Hassenauer, attorney for the brotherhoods, 278 of 300 operating employés eligible for membership belong to the brotherhoods.

Suggests U. S. Take Hand.

Hassenauer said in court that the threat of the elevated union is interference with interstate commerce and suggested that the court inform the department of justice.

The court's action on Sprague's request was brought to the attention of federal and state conciliators working on the case and they are expected to arrange new conferences today between the management and the unions. Judge Wilkerson gave Sprague until Oct. 5 to work out a settlement.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, Sept. 22.—[Special.]—Czechoslovakian bonds tumbled again today. The 8s of '52 dropped 15 points to 60. They fell 8½ points yesterday. Czech 8s of '51 finished 8¾ lower at 65¼, compared with a drop of 7½ points yesterday. City of Prague 7½s lost 4 points after a drop of 6 points yesterday.

Most other European loans improved. Domestic bonds were under some pressure most of the day.

Boston & Maine 5s of '67 slumped 3⅛ points, reflecting fears of extensive flood damage. Delaware and Hudson refunding 4s lost 2 points, Atlantic and Birmingham 4s fell 3¼, and Southern Pacific refunding 4s of '55 slipped 1½.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks drifted fractionally lower yesterday on a turnover of only 12,000 shares. This compared with Wednesday's volume of 23,800, aside from Commonwealth Edison rights. Trading in the rights stopped Wednesday.

The Tribune average of twenty stocks closed off 0.21 at 10.42. Thirty-six of the seventy-two issues traded declined, fifteen advanced, and twenty-one held unchanged.

Bank Stocks.

Three leading Chicago bank stocks lost ground yesterday in light trading. Shares of the Chicago Title and Trust company dropped $2 to close at $130 bid, $134 asked. Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust stock was off $1 at $63 bid, $65 asked. First National stock closed $3 lower at $210 bid, $215 asked. The only gain of the day among the leaders was registered by City National Bank and Trust shares, which closed $1 higher at $113 bid, $117 asked.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Markets for live stock and meats were uneven yesterday. Some kinds declined further to the lowest levels for recent weeks, but others rallied. Wholesale prices for beef, veal, and lamb meat were steady to weak.

Live stock commission men at the Chicago stockyards managed to halt the demoralizing declines of steer prices yesterday when farmers reduced shipments to the market. Most steers and yearlings brought fully steady rates, with some in the better grades strong to slightly higher.

Uncertainty prevailed in the hog trade. Some buyers bid sows up 5 to 10 cents on opening sales and paid fully steady prices for the best for the 210 pounds up. Advances were erased later, with the market steady to 10 cents lower on final sales.

Lambs recovered from the season's lowest prices prevailing the preceding session, the top price rising 20 cents to $7.95.

COTTON

American cotton markets opened slightly higher yesterday in sympathy with Liverpool. They eased later, however, on selling attributed to the south and on pressure from speculators. Closing trades were at net losses of .01 to .06 cent a pound.

Spot cotton closed .05 to .06 cent lower, with New Orleans, 7.95 cents, and Galveston and Houston, 7.95 cents a pound. Prices follow:

MILK SALES DECREASE.

Decrease of 5.41 per cent in daily average sales of fluid milk for August compared with August, 1937, was reported by the Milk Industry foundation. Reports from 136 leading markets showed August daily average sales were 5,894,307 quarts, compared with 6,231,169 quarts in August, 1937. Milk company pay rolls in August showed a decrease of 7.47 per cent, and employment decreased 8.96 per cent, compared with the same month last year.

Commodities

The price of export copper slumped sharply yesterday in the spot metals market as the temporary easing of political tension in Europe lessened "war" demands for the metal. Export quotations fell to 10.31 cents a pound, compared with 10.52 to 10.55 cents on the preceding day. The crop wiped out the gains of a week, and brought the export price below the domestic quotation of 10.37½ cents.

No. 1 scrap copper was cut ¼c a pound to 8⅝ cents, following the reduced export quotation. Copper futures lost 0.16 to 0.18 cent a pound. Other nonferrous metals contracts were a little weaker. Tin was off 0.20 cent a pound.

Futures, other than metals, were irregularly lower. Coffee, cocoa and hides declined. Rubber, silk, cottonseed oil, and wool tops moved unevenly.

Stocks of lead at domestic refineries on Aug. 31 were reduced to 140,737 tons, compared with 154,231 at the end of July the American Bureau of Metal Statistics reported yesterday. The stocks were still much higher than the 103,518 on Aug. 31, 1937, however.

Cocoa contracts yesterday slipped 0.04 to 0.08 cent a pound. Santos coffee finished 0.05 to 0.10 a pound lower, and Rio contracts were uneven, closing 0.10 cent higher to 0.05 cent lower.

Sugar futures advanced against the trend of most commodities. Domestic contracts finished unchanged to 0.02 cent higher, and world futures were up 0.01 to 0.01½ cent.

The Associated Press index of thirty-five weighted wholesale cash staples declined to 66.93 from 67.04 on Wednesday. 1926 averages equals 100.]

ROPER UPHOLDS U. S. SYSTEM OF FREE INDUSTRY

American Plan Defended by World Leaders.

creased and continues to advance with bewildering rapidity, Lord Leverhulme said, we destroy much of the possible advantage to be derived from this progress by the methods we adopt in our distributive machinery and in our dealings with our fellow men.

"As long as we continue to believe that the problem must be solved by the artificial creation of scarcity through restricting production, so long will the situation continue to grow worse," he said.

This was interpreted as a criticism of the Roosevelt administration's crop control and surplus destruction policy in an effort to raise prices.

Hook declared that the social and economic advancement of man under the free enterprise system has been unequaled in history.

"If we in America stand at the head of the nations of the world in our standard of living," said Hook, "it is because of the development of free enterprise in this country. A recent international survey revealed what to my way of thinking is conclusive evidence of the superiority of free enterprise operating in a democracy over all other systems, using the general welfare of the people as a criterion."

Provides Most Necessities.

This survey, he said, made last spring among eight European nations, showed that in democratic countries where enterprise is allowed to function with the greatest amount of freedom and the least amount of governmental control, that an hour's work will buy more of the commonplace necessities—beef, bread, butter, potatoes, shoes, dresses, overalls, etc. —that are a part of the standard of living.

"Our people are the highest paid workers in the world in terms of what their wages will buy," Hook declared. "About 50 per cent of our families own their own homes.

"Agricultural machinery raised the farmer from the status of peasant to that of a free man. Industrial machinery made possible mass production with steadily better products and at lower cost. Time and space have been reduced and travel put in the range of all.

Due to "Incentive System."

"These wonders have been achieved by no one man. They have been the result of no one group of men. No government is responsible for them. No cencentration of wealth has brought them about. The motivating force is the free enterprise system, that is commonly called capitalistic system. I like to call it the incentive system."

Things that must be done to safeguard the continuance of free enterprise, he said, are the following:

1. Eliminate existing and threatened government competition with private enterprise.
2. Limit government expenditures to those needed for economical administration of government, together with adequate relief appropriations for the unemployed.
3. Give the public an understanding of the facts about free enterprise.

The rank and file of people, e said, will not rise to defend the free enterprise system unless they can see the relation between its continuance and their well being.

Basis for Progress.

Dr. Basch did not directly refer to the crisis in his country, but asked how long the divergent economies of the dictatorial and democratic nations can function side by side.

"Free enterprise economy," he said, "means creating forces on which all technical progress is based. Further regulation, further systematization of economy will only bring further difficulties, tensions, waste of capital, danger of war, whereas a return to the economic sense, to private initiative, will bring about a situation tending toward peace, will be instrumental in in reëstablishing a balance in world trade, a rise in the standard of living."

He assailed redistribution of income. A government that pushes such a policy rather than increased production is preventing attainment of its own chief objective—a higher standard of living—and actually is causing a lowering of living standards, he declared.

Southern Pacific Engineers Vote 99 Per Cent for Strike

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Two thousand Southern Pacific system engineers have voted 99 per cent in favor of striking, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers announced here today. The strike vote is part of the poll conducted by railroad brotherhoods among 900,000 employés of the major roads of the country in an answer to an impending 15 per cent pay cut. National tabulations will be made in Chicago Sept. 26.

Graham-Paige Cuts Price of New 4 Door Sedan $122

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—A price reduction of $122 on its 1939 four door sedan was announced today by the Graham-Paige Motors corporation. The company will offer a coupé and a two door sedan that will be delivered at Detroit fully equipped for $940. Its four door sedan will be delivered with full equipment for $965. Prices include federal tax.

BALTIMORE-OHIO PLAN TO REDUCE INTEREST MEETS NO OPPOSITION

Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—[Special.]—The Baltimore and Ohio railroad's plan for clipping $11,367,000 annually from its fixed interest bill and obtaining extensions for some of its indebtedness, soon to mature, met no opposition today at the interstate commerce commission's public hearing on the plan.

Representatives of the holders of the road's securities and other forms of indebtedness were present. All of the eastern large security block holders indicated approval of the plan.

The plan, dated Aug. 15, was filed with the I. C. C. on Sept. 2. It provides for modification of interest charges and maturities with respect to the indebtedness of the parent carrier and its operated subsidiaries.

"With return to conditions of even moderate prosperity which the history of the country gives us a right to anticipate, there should be no difficulty on the part of the company in earning not only its fixed and contingent interest charges, but a substantial surplus in addition to be applied as provided in this plan."

EGG PRICES RISE ON WITHDRAWAL FROM STORAGE

Egg contracts rallied yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange to close with gains of ¼ cent a dozen, after early selling had brought declines of ⅛ to ¼ cent. Octobers finished at 24⅛ cents a dozen and Novembers at 24⅜.

Traders stepped into the buying side, impelled by more favorable storage statistics. Withdrawals of eggs from storage have been showing a gain over last week, though still lighter than a year ago.

November butter closed ⅛ cent a pound higher at 24⅞ cents, after ranging up ¼ cent during the day. Purchases by the Dairy Products Marketing association, federally financed agency, were 794,115 pounds. This was only about 46 per cent of receipts at principal markets, compared with 62 per cent of receipts taken by the DPMA a week earlier.

24-Hour Service

Tribune Want Ad-Visers are on duty 24 hours a day, every day of the year, to receive Want Ads by telephone or at the Want Ad Store, 1 South Dearborn. The Want Ad Store in Tribune Tower is open daily until 10 p. m., Sunday until 5 p. m.

Convenience

A Want Ad-Viser is as near to you as your telephone. If you have a telephone, your ad will be charged to you. If not, or if you prefer, a Tribune man will call at your home or office.

Ad Writing Assistance

The Tribune maintains an expert ad writing department to help you word your Want Ad to secure the best results. There is no charge for this service.

$100.00 Reward

will be paid by the Tribune for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any one obtaining money fraudulently through Want Ads published in its columns.

Test Your Facts

1. [c] Hartford, Conn. [Connecticut colonists were reputed to have hidden the colony's charter in the hollow of the tree to prevent its return to King James II. of England on his demand in 1687. The tree was blown down in 1856. A white marble monument now marks the site.]
2. [b] A prince.
3. [c] Big Ben.
4. [c] Thomas A. Edison [1877].
